

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

TEUNIS SLINGERLAND HAMLIN, D.D.

Teunis Slingerland Hamlin, clergyman, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, Washington, D. C., one of the most earnest and eloquent pulpit orators, and one of the most devoted and conscientious spiritual leaders of the Christian Church in America, left the halls of "Old Union" with class honors almost forty years ago, and by his later life and work has repaid more than fourfold the honors which accompanied his degree. On "Memorial Day" of the centennial celebration in 1895 he was one of the principal speakers, the subject of his address being "Union College in the Ministry."

Dr. Hamlin was born at Glenville, Schenectady county, New York, May 31, 1847. His father, Solomon Curtis Hamlin, was a farmer, and his grandfather, Caleb Jewett Hamlin, was born in Sharon, Connecticut, and came of the same ancestors as the Hamlins of Maine; all of them being of French Huguenot descent. Christiana Slingerland, Dr. Hamlin's mother, was a daughter of Teunis Slingerland of Albany, a prominent business man, and a descendant of pure Holland Dutch ancestors, for many years resident in the Hudson river valley in New York state. It is mentioned in Albany county history that Teunis Cornelise Slingerland came from Amsterdam, Holland, about 1650 and settled at Beverwyck (Albany) and purchased ten thousand acres of land from the Indians; that he was a man of influence and substance, and of good report in the community in which he lived.

Dr. Hamlin acquired his earlier education at the district school and at the academy in Charlton, Saratoga county, and his higher education at Union College, where he took the classical course, and was graduated, artium baccalaureus, in 1867, with honors, and Phi Beta Kappa; his honorary degree of divinitatis doctor was conferred by alma mater in 1886. In 1867-8 he was principal of the high school at Ypsilanti, Michigan. He was educated for the ministry in the (Dutch) Reformed Theological Seminary at New Brunswick for one year, and in Union Theological Seminary, New York city, for two years; and on April 5, 1871, was licensed to preach by the Congregational Association of New York and Brooklyn. His first pastorate was over the Woodside Presbyterian Church in Troy, New York, which began September 28, 1871, and continued exactly thirteen years. In 1884 he was called to the Mount Auburn Presbyterian Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, and was installed in the pastorate there on the 11th of November of that year. In March, 1886, he accepted a unanimous call to the Church of the Covenant in Washington, D. C., and was installed its first pastor November 9th following. This is his present charge, the church in which he has found full scope for all his powers, and in which he has attained a standing of eminence in the work of the ministry; and under the stimulus of his guidance the church itself has grown in strength, influence and usefulness. It has had in its congregation many of the strongest men of the nation, such as President Benjamin Harrison; Vice-President Hobart; Supreme Court Justices Strong, Matthews and Brown; Secretaries of State, James G. Blaine, John Hay and John W. Foster; Secretary of the Treasury William Windom; Postmasters General J. A. J. Cresswell, John Wanamaker, and James A. Gary; Secretary of Agriculture Wilson; Treasurer Ellis H. Roberts; Judges Chas. C. Nott, Stanton J. Peelle, Charles B. Howry, Charles H. Duell, J. R. Richards, Andrew J. Bradley; Generals Chas. Bird, Samuel Breck, Danl. W. Flagler, Anson J. McCook, Charles Sutherland; Rear Admirals Samuel P. Carter, Edmund K. Colhoun, Montgomery Sicard, Wm. T. Sampson, Edwin Stewart, Geo. A. Lyon, John C. Watson, Willard H. Brownson, Colby M. Chester, W. H. H. Southerland; U. S. Senators Dawes, Dixon, Davis, Cullom, Bard, Flint, Farwell, Proctor, Dryden, etc. Also many representatives in congress, journalists, scientists, clergyman, and eminent citizens in private life, such as William Walter Phelps, Gardiner Greene Hubbard and George Westinghouse.

Dr. Hamlin was one of the organizers of the Memorial Association of the District of Columbia, of which Chief Justice Fuller is the President, and which has secured the preservation of the house in which President Lincoln died, and the placing therein of a notable collection of relics. He is president of the Board of Trustees of Howard University, and was at one time acting president of the University, and has for years been a lecturer in the theological department. He is a member of the Board of Visitors at the Government Hospital for the Insane, having been appointed by President McKinley and reappointed by President Roosevelt. He has been for some eighteen years a trustee of the United Society of Christian Endeavor. He was president for several years of "The Open-Air Workers Association of America." He is a member of the Chevy-Chase and University clubs of Washington, and of the University Club of New York city. He has been university preacher at Amherst, Vassar, Princeton, Cornell, Yale, etc. He is a frequent contributor to journals, magazines and reviews; and has published a small volume "Denominationalism versus Christian Union" (1892). He has delivered many notable addresses at funerals of public men, and on academic and like occasions.

On the 4th of February, 1873, Dr. Hamlin married

Frances E. Bacon of Ypsilanti, Michigan. They have two sons, Elbert Bacon, Yale, 1896, New York Law School, 1898; and now an attorney in New York city. Francis Bacon, now (1906) a freshman at Yale. Mr. Hamlin is very active in religious, social and philanthropic matters.

WARD EVANS HUNT, M.D.

Ward Evans Hunt, a practicing physician in Little Falls, New York, was born in the city of Little Falls, October 12, 1868, son of Theodore E. Hunt and Mary E. Pierce, his wife. He was educated in the public and high schools of Little Falls, and in Fairfield Seminary located in Fairfield, Herkimer county, from which he was graduated in 1888 as president in his class. He then taught school two years, and in 1890 entered the Albany Medical College, from which he was graduated in 1893 with the degree of M.D. Previous to his matriculation at Albany Medical College he had studied medicine under the preceptorship of Dr. K. A. Bushnell, of Little Falls who also was a graduate of that college.

Dr. Hunt located for practice in his native city in 1893 and has continued there to the present time. He has served as physician on the Board of Charities and health officer for the city of Little Falls, and is a member of the staff of Little Falls City Hospital. He is a member and ex-president of the Herkimer County Medical Society, member of the F. & A. M., the Little Falls Lodge No. 26, K. T., the Knights of the Maccabees, the Royal Arcanum, the City Club, Exempt Firemen's Club and the Grangers. In politics he is a Republican.

On June 2, 1897, Dr. Hunt married Annie Belle Barlow of Frankfort, New York.

GEORGE WILLIAM FEATHERSTONHAUGH, A.B., A.M., LL.B.

George William Featherstonhaugh, engaged in legal practice in Schenectady, New York, was born in Havre, France, in January, 1850, son of James Duane Featherstonhaugh, who also was a graduate of Union College, class of 1834, and Emily Chapman, his wife, daughter of Sidney F. Chapman of Virginia.

The paternal grandfather, George William Featherstonhaugh, author and traveller, a fellow of the Royal Society of London, the Geological Society of London and also of nearly all the scientific societies of his time in America, was a man of the highest position and attainments. He was the first United States geologist, and was commissioner for Great Britain in the north-east boundary dispute, consul for Great Britain for the Lower Seine and Calvados of France. The honorary degree Phi Beta Kappa was conferred to him by Union College in 1825.

The education of George William Featherstonhaugh, subject of this sketch, was begun with a private tutor and continued with two years at Walnut Hill School of Geneva, New York, one year's study at the Union Classical School of Schenectady and a course in Union College, whence he graduated in 1871, with the degrees A.B., A.M., and the honorary Phi Beta Kappa. His legal training was acquired in the Albany Law School, where he received the degree of LL.B. in 1873.

He began law practice in Schenectady in 1875 and has practiced in that city continuously since, with the exception of two years which he spent in Albany as a specialist in the law patents. He was elected police justice of Schenectady for the years from 1875 until 1882, and then resigned. Politically he is a Democrat.

Mr. Featherstonhaugh was united in marriage in November, 1875, with Lucy Eliot, daughter of John D. Eliot, formerly of Albany. Two children were born to them, George William Featherstonhaugh, who also is a graduate of Union College, and Emily Featherstonhaugh.

IRVING W. COLE, LL.B.

Irving W. Cole, Buffalo, New York, who has been engaged in law practice in Buffalo since 1893, is a native of Covert, Seneca county, New York, born September 21, 1859. Mr. Cole is of old New England stock, tracing his ancestry back to Elder Brewster, Stephen Hopkins and John Howland of the "Mayflower," to William Leet, first colonial governor of Connecticut, and to Governor Jordan of the same state, also to Governors Dudley, Bradstreet and Hubbard of Massachusetts, and Captain George Denison of Connecticut.

He acquired his earlier education in the district schools of his native town, the Farmer Village Union School and Cook's Academy, Havanna, New York. He then took up the study of law in the office of his brother, Fremont Cole, at Watkins, the county seat of Schuyler county, reading there for a period of two years, then completing his studies with a year at the Albany Law School; whence he was graduated in May, 1883, with the degree of LL.B., being admitted to practice in the same year.

In September of that year he returned to Watkins and entered the profession as a partner to his brother, under the firm style of Cole Brothers. They continued thus until January, 1889, when E. O. Boylen was taken into partnership and the title was changed to Cole, Cole & Boylen. In the fall of the year 1890 Fremont Cole withdrew, but Irving W. Cole and Mr. Boylen continued together until January 1, 1892, when Mr. Cole formed a partnership with a younger brother, Elbert Cole, which lasted about two years.

In 1893 Mr. Cole removed to Buffalo. During his ten years of practice at Watkins he had a more than ordinary amount of professional experience, his brother, Fremont Cole, during most of the period of their professional association having been in the legislature, most of the work of the firm falling on the younger brother, and later his partner, Mr. Boylen, was elected district attorney and Mr. Cole took a leading part in the prosecution in the principal criminal trials in Schuyler county. For a short time after removing to Buffalo he practiced alone, but on May 1, 1894, formed a partnership with E. J. Plumley, under the firm name of Plumley & Cole. This firm was dissolved by mutual consent in February, 1898, since which time Mr. Cole has been practicing alone.

In politics Mr. Cole is a Republican, and he has been actively interested in political affairs since his law student days, when he was clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Schuyler county for nearly three years. During the last two years of his residence in Watkins he was chairman of the Republican county committee and also did service for his party on the stump and as the writer of political editorials for one of the local papers. However, since locating at Buffalo he has devoted himself closely to his profession. His brother, Fremont Cole, represented his district in the assembly for five consecutive years, and was speaker of that body for two years.

Mr. Cole married, June 27, 1893, Mrs. Nelle E. Ingham of Elmira, New York. They have one son, Elmer H. Cole, who was born March 7, 1900.

HOWARD NOTT POTTER, A.B.

Howard Nott Potter, New York city, architect, is a native of the city just mentioned, born May 6, 1859, son of Clarkson Nott Potter and Virginia Mitchell, his wife. His earlier education was acquired in private schools in New York city and under the instruction of private tutors. He was fitted for college under Dean Oliver, and later entered Union College, taking the scientific course, and was graduated from that institution in 1881, with the degree of A.B. In the next year he went abroad for an extended period, and on returning in 1890 entered Columbia College, taking a special course in architecture and supplementing it with a year of further study in Europe; and on his return began his active professional career, partner with Glenville Snelling under the firm style of Snelling & Potter.

Mr. Potter is a member of the Kappa Alpha, the Racquet Club, Westchester Country Club, the City Club of New York, and in politics is an independent Democrat.

He married, May 9, 1884, his cousin, Ethel Potter, of New York city, by whom he has two children—John Howard and Ethel Julia Potter.

ELIJAH WARNER GREENE, A.B., A.M., PH.D.

Elijah Warner Greene, Mitchell, South Dakota, rector of St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, is a native of New York state, born at New Lebanon, March 8, 1856, son of Benjamin Greene and Ellen M. Warner, his wife. His ancestors on both sides settled in New England in the early colonial days; the paternal ancestors came from England and the maternal from Scotland.

He prepared for college in the Island Grove School (which now is out of existence) at Fort Edward, New York, then entered Union College, whence he was graduated in 1882, with the A.B. degree; A.M. 1889. Upon graduation from Union he entered the Hartford Theological Seminary and there was graduated with the class of 1885, since when he has been in the active work of the ministry.

For three years, 1890-93, Dr. Greene was superintendent of public schools in northern Utah. Politically he is a member of the Prohibition party. In his social relations he belongs to the Masons. He married, June 17, 1885, Mary Dailey, and has four children—Mabel Frances, Donald Warner, William Thompson and Arthur Dailey Greene.

FRANK BEEBE, M.D.

Frank Beebe, physician and surgeon of Johnstown, New York, is a native of Fonda, Montgomery county, New York, born August 4, 1854, son of Thomas M. Beebe and Elizabeth Jones, his wife, and is of English extraction. His paternal ancestor emigrated from England and settled in Connecticut in the early colonial days; and on the maternal side also he is of old colonial stock.

His early education was acquired in the public and high schools of his native place, and after leaving school he was engaged in mercantile pursuits in New York city four years. He then matriculated at Albany Medical College, attending that institution from 1877 to 1881, and received his doctor degree March 4th of the latter year.

After graduation Dr. Beebe located in Johnstown, where he has continued in the practice of his profession without interruption to the present time. He is medical examiner for the following life insurance companies: Mutual Benefit of Newark, New Jersey; New England Mutual, the Commercial Travelers, the Aetna, the Phoenix, the Manhattan, Bankers' Life of New York, Minnesota Mutual, and the Metropolitan of New York.

He is a member of the Fulton County Medical Society, the New York State Medical Society, the Masonic chapter, the Lotus Club of Johnstown, and in 1888 served as president of the county medical society. In politics Dr. Beebe is a Democrat, and in 1902 he received the Democratic nomination for congress in opposition to Latour, of glove notoriety. On March 20, 1877, he married Laura M. Smith, and they have two children—Jennie E. Beebe and George Warren Beebe.

THOMAS CATLIN WASHBURN, M.D.

Thomas Catlin Washburn, Spencer, Tioga county, New York, engaged in general medical practice, is a native of Spencer, born October 4, 1861, son of Willard Washburn and Sarah Decker, his wife. On the paternal side his ancestors were Massachusetts colonists who came originally from England, and his maternal ancestors were settlers from Holland.

His elementary education was acquired in the common schools of his native place, his secondary education in the Albany Normal School, where he graduated January 23, 1885, and his higher and professional education in the Albany Medical College, where he was graduated March 21, 1889.

Since graduation he has been in practice at Spencer and has filled the following offices: Coroner for Tioga county, 1895-1898; president of the village of Spencer, 1898-1903; school trustee since 1902. Politically he is a Republican. He is a Mason and from 1892 until 1895 was master of his lodge; he also is an Odd Fellow, in 1900 being a noble grand, and a Knight of the Maccabees, in which organization he is at present tent physician. Dr. Washburn married, October 20, 1891, Nettie S. Seely, by whom he has two children—Grace Frances and Willard Seymour Washburn.

EDWARD SLAVEN COYLE, M.D.

Edward Slaven Coyle, Schenectady, New York, physician, was born in Athol, Warren county, New York, March 7, 1860, son of Patrick and Catherine Slaven Coyle. He is of Irish blood, his father having come from Ireland and settled in Athol about 1838.

After attending the Warrenburgh Academy, and the Christian Brothers' Academy of Albany Dr. Coyle entered the Albany Medical College, whence he was graduated in 1882. During his course in college he was associated with Dr. Swineburne, doing dispensary work the last three years of that period. In the fall of the year 1882 he took up practice in Chestertown, Warren county, New York, continuing there for two and one-half years, and then located at Ballston Spa in Saratoga county, where he remained until 1899. During his residence there he served as health officer.

In 1899 he took a post-graduate course in New York in diseases of the eye and ear, studying for eight months. He next located at Glens Falls, New York, where he was engaged in eye and ear practice and finally, in 1891, settled in Schenectady, where also he devoted himself to special practice. Since 1899 he has made a specialty of disease of the eye and ear.

Dr. Coyle married, December 30, 1885, Catherine E. Kiley of Chestertown, New York. Two children have been born to them; Bertha Agnes Coyle and Francis Bernard Coyle.

JAMES NEWELL VANDER VEER, A.M., M.D.

James Newell Vander Veer, Albany, New York, physician and surgeon, was born in Albany December 12, 1877, and is a son of Dr. Albert Vander Veer and Margaret

Snow, his wife. His earlier education was acquired in Albany Academy, where he was graduated in 1895, and where during his last year he was major of the cadet battalion. His higher education was acquired in Union College, from which he graduated A.B. in 1899; A.M., 1903. He was educated in medicine at Albany Medical College and came to the degree M.D. in 1903, honor man.

After graduating from the medical college and until the following year Dr. Vander Veer was interne at Albany Hospital, then went abroad for post-graduate study in Berlin, where he remained from June to November, 1904. On his return home he engaged in active practice until September, 1905, and then again visited Europe for further special study.

Since graduating from the medical college Dr. Vander Veer has written several short monographs on subjects pertaining to his profession. He is a delegate to the Medical Society of the State of New York, member of the Albany County Medical Society, Holland Society of America, Albany Country Club, University Club of Albany, the Union College fraternities Alpha Delta Phi, Theta Delta Gamma, Theta Nu Epsilon and the Albany Medical College society Nu Sigma Nu. While a student in Union he was active in social and political life, serving on all the important class and college committees, chairman of the committee of the class of '99 for remodeling "Old South" College, assistant manager in his junior year and manager in his senior year of the musical association.

WILLIAM EVARTS BENJAMIN.

William Evarts Benjamin, a resident of New York city and president of the Atlantic Coast Electric Railroad Company, is a native of New York, born February 19, 1859, son of Park Benjamin and Mary Brower Western, his wife.

His education was acquired in the public schools of Schenectady, New York, after which he took a course in Union Classical Institute. He entered Union College in 1876 and remained one year, leaving to practice surveying in the field, preparatory to taking up the study of civil engineering. In 1878 Mr. Benjamin entered the employ of the publishers, John Wiley & Sons. He remained in the employ of this firm for some time, and in 1881 took a position with the publishing house, Dodd, Mead & Co., where he remained until 1884, when he started in business for himself, becoming a dealer in rare books and other literary property. He was engaged in this business successfully until 1900 and then sold out. In addition to his dealing in rare books, etc., Mr. Benjamin was a publisher, and in 1893 published by subscription the standard work on American Literature, compiled by the well-known author, Edmund Clarence Stedman, entitled the "Library of American Literature."

In 1900 Mr. Benjamin was elected president of the Atlantic Coast Electric Railroad Company, which office

he still holds. He also has been a director of several industrial corporations. While still identified with the publishing business he has devoted the larger portion of his time in recent years to the management of financial operations, in which he has been very successful. He holds membership in the Union League, the Ardsley Country and the City Midday clubs, also in the New England Society. Politically he is a Republican.

On November 17, 1886, Mr. Benjamin married Anne Engel Rogers, of New York city. Two children have been born to them—Beatrice May and Henry Rogers Benjamin.

He is of English descent, his ancestors on the paternal side having emigrated from England in the early part of the seventeenth century. On the maternal side he is descended from the Tifts, who fled to England with the French Huguenots and who came to America about the year 1638.

Mr. Turner's literary education was acquired in the district schools of his native place, in Whitesboro Seminary, Alfred University, and in Union College, which he entered in the fall of 1859, junior class, and from which he was graduated, in 1861, with the degree of A.B., after completing the scientific course. He studied law in the office of Diven, Hathaway & Woods, of Elmira, a firm of high standing in the legal profession, and one of whose members, Colonel S. G. Hathaway, was a graduate of "Old Union," class of '31.

In 1864 Mr. Turner was admitted to the bar and immediately opened for practice in Elmira, which city has been the scene of his entire professional career. In 1900 his son, S. G. Hathaway Turner, a graduate of Union, class of 1900, became associated with him in practice under the firm name of Turner & Turner, which partnership still continues. He has taken an active interest in the political and educational life of Elmira and has been a school commissioner at large for some time. In politics he is a Democrat, having been alderman of his ward and in 1876-77 mayor of the city of Elmira.

Mr. Turner has been closely identified with various manufacturing enterprises for many years; he is a member of the Elmira Board of Trade and was its first president. He also was instrumental in the organization and completion of three railroads and at the present time is attorney for the same. He is vice-president of the Second National Bank of Elmira, and holds membership in the Century Club and the Trinity Episcopal Church, of which he is senior warden.

On October 14, 1868, Mr. Turner married Helen E.

Boyd, of Buffalo. They have five children: Sara (Turner) Bickford, Welthea Hathaway, Elizabeth Ulissa, S. G. Hathaway and Robert Tift Turner, Jr.

He attended public schools and the Elmira Free Academy, then entered Union College, whence he was graduated in 1898. He then took up the study of the law in the Albany Law School, graduating thence in 1900. In the same year he was admitted to practice at the bar of New York state and immediately opened practice in Elmira with his father, under the firm style of Turner & Turner. He is a member of the college societies Psi Upsilon and Phi Beta Kappa, the legal society Phi Delta Phi, the Chemung County Bar Association, the Elmira City Club and is a Mason.

NORMAN EDWARD WEBSTER, JR., LL.B., LL.M.

Norman Edward Webster, Jr., accountant in the United States Reclamation Service of the Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C., is a native of Decatur, Van Buren county, Michigan, born March 26, 1869, son of Norman Earl Webster, who emigrated from Elba, Genesee county, New York, in 1835, and Jennie L. Chevalier, his wife, who came to Michigan in 1847, from Hamilton county, Ohio. His earlier literary education was acquired in Decatur High School, and his higher education in Union College, where he was a student for one year, 1892-3, being a member of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity and the Philomathean Society. During his freshman year he was chosen a reporter upon the "Concordiensis," and was selected by his class for the position of toast-master for the class banquet. He has been secretary of the Union University Alumni Association of Washington, D. C., from its organization on May 1, 1905. He studied law at National University Law School, Washington, D. C., from which institution he was graduated LL.B. 1897; LL.M. 1898. In 1899 he was admitted to practice in the courts of the District of Columbia. He is a charter member of the University Club of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Webster began his active business career in office work in 1885, when he was sixteen years old, and since has been continuously employed in some line of accounting, except during the year of his studentship in Union College. For six years he was with the Michigan Buggy Company of Kalamazoo, Michigan; later was division superintendent in the Department of Collections of the World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago in 1893, and for eleven years following was in the office of the auditor for the Post Office Department in Washington. He has made a study of theoretical phases of accounting and office organization, and was selected for appointment to his present position after receiving the highest markings upon a special examination held for the position, for which there were about three hundred and fifty contestants. He is employed in the capacity of consulting accountant, has often served upon departmental committees, and is now (1906) chairman of a committee on cost-keeping with instructions to investigate the methods of all the executive departments.

On December 17, 1895, he married in Denver, Colorado, Miss Ella Rosabell Rezeau, who was born at Avalon, Missouri. They reside at 1443 Monroe street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

ROBERT A. McDUFFIE, A.B., LL.B.

Robert A. McDuffie, practicing law in New York city, is a native of Montgomery county, New York, born May 25, 1847, son of William McDuffie and Catherine Becker, his wife. He is of Scotch descent on the paternal side, his grandfather having emigrated from Scotland and settled in New Jersey. On the maternal side he is of Holland Dutch descent.

Mr. McDuffie's early education was obtained in the district schools of Montgomery county and in Fort Edward Institute. He was a student in Union College and was graduated therefrom in 1874 with the degree of A.B., after which he entered Albany Law School and upon completing the course, in 1875, received the degree of LL.B. He then read law for some time in the office of Judge Westbrook of Amsterdam, New York, and April

1, 1876, opened an office in Amsterdam, practicing law there until 1889, leaving there to go to Omaha, Nebraska, where he practiced about three years, removing from thence to New York city, where he has since been practicing continuously. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon college fraternity, and in politics is a Republican.

On October 17, 1877, Mr. McDuffie married Lutitia P. Faulknor, of Glen, New York. She died in May, 1896, leaving three children, Maude S., Lulu C. and Walter S. McDuffie.

ARCHIE IRVING CULLEN, M.D.

Archie Irving Cullen, Watervliet, New York, physician and surgeon, is a native of Watervliet, born June 22, 1880, son of Archie Cullen, M.D., and Augusta Hinman, his wife. He is a grandson of James Cullen, an expert mathematician and an authority on business methods, who had emigrated from Dublin, Ireland. His father, Dr. Archie Cullen, was located in Watervliet for many years, where he practiced medicine until the time of his death, which occurred in 1885.

Archie Irving Cullen was educated in the public and high schools of Troy, New York, and studied for his profession in Albany Medical College, from which he was graduated in 1903 with the degree of M.D. During the latter part of his college course he served as interne at the Samaritan Hospital, Troy, and immediately after graduation commenced practice in Watervliet, where he is alternate medical examiner for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Dr. Cullen is a member of the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society, the Phi Beta Kappa society of Union College, and of the Knights of Malta, and is physician and surgeon for the last named organization. In his political affiliation he favors the Republican party. In September, 1905, he married Gertrude Loraine Dyer of Watervliet.

LESTER W. BLOCH, P.H.B., LL.B.

Lester W. Bloch, lawyer, with an office at No. 57 State street, Albany, New York, was born in Albany, June 19, 1880, son of Emanuel Bloch and Helen Wolfheimer, his wife. His father is of French parentage and his mother of German parentage.

Mr. Bloch was educated in the public schools of the city of Albany, from which he was graduated in 1894; he then entered the Albany high school, and was graduated therefrom in 1898. In the fall of 1898 he entered Union College, from which institution he was graduated in June, 1902, receiving the degree of bachelor of philosophy. Immediately after graduation, he commenced reading law with the law firm of Nussbaum & Coughlin, and in the fall of that year entered Albany Law School, from which institution he was graduated in May, 1904, receiving the degree of bachelor of laws. In June, 1904, he was admitted to practice in the New York state courts. He also has been admitted to practice in the United States District and United States Circuit courts.

He is a member of numerous societies and clubs, among which are: Beta Theta Pi fraternity, Gamma Eta Gamma National Legal fraternity, the Press Club of Albany, Adelphi Club of Albany, Unconditional Republican Club of Albany, the Young Men's Republican Club of Albany, Union University Alumni Association, Union College Alumni Association, Albany Law School Alumni Association and the Albany High School Alumni Association; he also is a member of the Masonic order.

HOWARD MILLER WEST, B.E.

Howard Miller West, Albany, New York, associated with the New York state architect as structural engineer, was born in Glens Falls, New York, October 25, 1875, son of Henry Emerson West and Elma Goodman, his wife. Both his father and mother came of Puritan stock, their ancestors having arrived in Massachusetts in 1632. After the Revolution they removed to the shores of Lake George, from which they came to Glens Falls. He is a direct descendant of John Webster, governor of the colony of Connecticut in 1656, who was an ancestor also of Daniel and Noah Webster.

His early education was acquired in the public schools of Glens Falls and in Glens Falls Academy, where he graduated in 1892, under the instruction of Professor D. C. Farr. His collegiate training was obtained in Union College, where he came to the B.E. degree in 1896.

Immediately upon graduation Mr. West began professional work and has since filled various positions in his line; assistant engineer for the Glens Falls Paper Company—one year; engineer for McCaghey & Linnehan of Sandy Hill, New York, being located at Dolgeville—three months; with the National Contracting Company in the construction of an electric power plant at Mechanicsville, New York—six months; with the Mack Paving Company of New York city, constructing macadam roads in Queens county, New York—eight months; two years in railroad work for the Hudson Valley Railroad Company, and two and one-half years in charge of United States hydrographic party on Hudson River improvement. He then took the position he fills at the present time, that of structural engineer with the state architect.

Mr. West is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity of Union College and of Senate Lodge No. 456, F. & A. M., of Glens Falls. In politics he is a Republican. On October 25, 1904, he married Edith W. Goodman of Glens Falls, New York.

M. ARTHUR WHEELER, M.D.

M. Arthur Wheeler, physician and surgeon of Troy, New York, is a native of Sand Lake, Rensselaer county, New York, born June 18, 1861, son of Michael Wheeler, who was born September 19, 1813, and died June 18, 1871, and Hannah C. Snyder, his wife, who died in September, 1873. He is of German ancestry on both paternal and maternal sides. His great-great-grandfather, Conrad Wheeler, came from Germany and settled in the town of Taghkanick, Columbia county, New York. He had a son, John, whose son John was the father of Conrad (grandfather of Dr. Wheeler) and who was born in 1776 on the original farm in Taghkanick and moved to Sand Lake in 1804.

Dr. Wheeler's elementary and literary education was obtained in the Boys' Academy, Albany, and Hartwick Seminary, Otsego county, New York. He began the study of medicine under the preceptorship of Dr. Clapsaddle, remained with him one year, and then studied two years under the direction of Dr. W. H. Hall. Two years later he matriculated at Albany Medical College and graduated therefrom in 1884. After graduation he opened an office on Pawling avenue, Troy, where he still resides.

On January 1, 1896, Dr. Wheeler was appointed physician and surgeon to the Rensselaer County Almshouse and Hospital, which position he still holds. He is a member of the Rensselaer County Medical Society, the New York State Medical Society, the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society, Apollo Lodge, F. & A. M., Apollo Chapter, Bloss Council, Apollo Commandery, Oriental Temple (Nobles of the Mystic Shrine), Silver Brook Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he is past grand, and of the East Side Lodge No. 207, I. O. G. T., and a member of the Grand Lodge of the state. He is interested in temperance work and has served as chief templar of the East Side Lodge for six terms. He is vice-president of the Past Grands Association, I. O. O. F., and a member of the Republican Club of Rensselaer county.

Dr. Wheeler also holds membership in the Knights of Maccabees and the order of Elks. He is president of Pixine Chemical Company of Troy, and past president of East End Circle, P. H. C.

On March 22, 1888, Dr. Wheeler married Ella F. Hastings of Troy, and they have children as follows: Arthur H., Ruth S., Colonel C., Ethel M., Elsie L. and Ella Francis Wheeler.

EDWARD EVERETT SPRAGUE, A.B., LL.B.

Edward Everett Sprague, New York city, lawyer, was born in Albany, New York, January 3, 1848, son of William Buel Sprague and Henrietta Burritt Lathrop, his wife. His elementary education was acquired under private instruction, his secondary education at Albany Academy, and his higher education at Harvard College, from which he was graduated in 1868, with the degree of artium baccalaureus. He read law with Isaac Edwards of Albany and also for a time with Calvin Frost of Peekskill, and completed his course of studies at Albany Law School, graduating there in 1869 with the degree of legum baccalaureus.

Mr. Sprague began his professional career in New York city in 1870, and has been known in law circles in the metropolitan district for a period of more than thirty-five years. He is a member of the New York City Bar Association, the Century Club and of the Alpha Delta Phi and Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternities; politically he is a Republican. He married, November 4, 1873, Hannah N. Hoover of Flushing, Long Island, by whom he has four children: Hannah R. Sprague, now

Mrs. Ozias Dodge; Edward B. Sprague; Henrietta L. Sprague, wife of Robert H. Boyd, and William B. Sprague.

GEORGE EDWIN MARKS, A.B., C.E., A.M.

George Edwin Marks, engaged in manufacturing in New York city, was born there January 29, 1853, son of Amasa A. Marks and Lucy Ann Platt, his wife, and is of English descent on the paternal side. His great-great-great-grandfather, Mordecai Marks, was born in London, England, in 1707, and came to America in 1726, settling in New England. He married Elizabeth Hawkins of Derby, Connecticut, in 1729, and then located in Milford, Connecticut, and during his residence there was a vestryman of the Episcopal church of that town. Several of his descendants were soldiers in the continental army during the Revolutionary war.

On the maternal side George E. Marks is a descendant of Richard Platt, who came from England in 1637 and was one of the pioneer settlers in that part of Connecticut where the town of Milford now stands. He was the owner of a large tract of land obtained by purchase, and which is now a part of the city of New Haven. Mr. Marks' early education was obtained in the public schools of New York city and in a private school in Milford, Connecticut. He matriculated at Union College, and after completing the engineering course, in 1879, received the degree of C.E., and that same year was awarded the academic degree of A.B. His degree of A.M. was conferred upon him by the college in 1881.

After leaving college Mr. Marks engaged in civil engineering and surveying in Greenwich, Connecticut, where he remained three years, and during his residence there served as auditor of the town of Greenwich. After removing from thence he associated with his father in the manufacture of artificial limbs, in which business they are still engaged. He is the author of a treatise on artificial limbs and has written various essays on prothesis.

Mr. Marks is a Templar Mason, a Mystic Shriner, and a member of the Riverside Yacht Club, the Sound Beach Gold Club, the Thirteen Club and the New York Historical Society. In politics he is a Republican.

On October 28, 1888, Mr. Marks married Louise Ridabock of New York city. They have three children, Frances Louise, Anna Grace and George Edwin Marks, Jr.

GEORGE KELLOGG DAUCHY, A.B.

George Kellogg Dauchy, Chicago, Illinois, manufacturer, whose diploma from the hand of President Nott dates from 1848, and whose graduation from "Old Union" was accompanied with the honors of Phi Beta Kappa, has borne himself well in the activities of life since leaving the college halls, and in particular did his action commend itself to the favorable consideration of all men during the years of the late Civil war.

In 1861 Captain Dauchy was living in Chicago, Illinois, and from there entered the service under Mr. Lincoln's call for volunteers for three months "to suppress treasonable rebellion," in the Second Kentucky Infantry. He afterward went to Troy, New York, where he had previously lived, raised a battery, was commissioned its first lieutenant, commanding the battery in the field, and served in the Second and Third army corps until November, 1864. Among the others of Captain Dauchy's classmates in college who entered the service during the war may be mentioned Chester A. Arthur, brigadier-general and afterward president of the United States, and Dr. Henry K. Cushing, surgeon of the Seventh Ohio Volunteers, and later a professor in Western Reserve University.

George K. Dauchy was born in West Galway, Saratoga county, New York, January 3, 1829, son of Samuel Dauchy and Clarissa Kellogg, his wife. He comes of French Huguenot and Scotch ancestry, and for many generations the family has lived in America; two of his great-grandfathers were officers of the American army during the Revolution, one serving as colonel and the other as captain. His earlier education was acquired in Troy Academy and his higher education in Union College, from which he graduated in 1848, with the degree of A.B. In the next year he caught the "gold fever," and enjoys the distinction of having been a "forty-niner" in the gold fields of California. In 1853 he returned east, and with his father engaged in a wholesale grocery business in Troy, but in 1856 he left that city and went to Dubuque, Iowa, and carried on trade as wholesale dealer in stoves, distributing the product of a Troy stove foundry throughout the then far west. Removing to Chicago in 1859, he entered the service, as has been mentioned, and after the war engaged in business in Chicago, and has had a part in the wonderful growth of that city during the last two score years. Since 1873 he has been engaged in the manufacture of architectural iron work.

Mr. Dauchy is a member of the Adelphic of Union College, the Union League Club, the Literary Club and the University Club of Chicago, and politically he is a Republican. December 8, 1864, he married Lavinia Otis of Jordan, New York, who died December 8, 1897, leaving four children—Samuel, Otis B., George V. and Beatrix Dauchy.

JAMES FRANCIS LYNCH, A.B.

James Francis Lynch, New York city, lawyer, was born in the city of Albany, New York, September 25, 1875, son of Thomas Lynch and Mary A. Dowd, his wife, and is of Irish descent.

Mr. Lynch attended the Christian Brothers' Academy in Albany, the Cambridge Latin School, and Harvard College, from which he was graduated, in 1896, with the degree of bachelor of arts. After leaving college he took up the study of law at the Albany Law School. In June, 1898, he was admitted to practice in the courts of New York state and removed in the course of a few months to New York city, where he is now in active practice. He is a member of the Harvard Club of New York city, the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn, the Knickerbocker Field Club of Brooklyn and the Catholic Club of New York city. In politics he is a Democrat.

CHARLES FREDERICK MURPHY, LL.B.

Charles Frederick Murphy, practicing law in New York city, was born in Norwood, St. Lawrence county, New York, April 13, 1875, son of Thomas Newton Murphy and Adele La Lancet, his wife. Mr. Murphy's paternal grandfather, John Murphy, who was of Irish and Scotch descent, emigrated from the north of Ireland about 1825, and settled in Beekmantown, Clinton county, New York state. In 1834 John Murphy married Betsy Edgerton of the same town, who was of English and Welsh descent, and settled in the town of Stockholm, St. Lawrence county, engaging in farming, where Mr. Murphy's father was born and reared.

Mr. Murphy's paternal ancestors have quite a war record, his grandfather having served in the Patenaw war, his father and two uncles with distinction in the Civil war, and an uncle, John Murphy, was one of the crew of the "Merrimac," which entered the harbor of Santiago with Richard Pierson Hobson during the Spanish-American war.

On the maternal side Mr. Murphy is of French ancestry, being descended from the family of Le Breton det La Lancet, which, emigrating from France about 1776, came to the province of Quebec, Canada, and from the de Champlains of St. Anne de Beupre, province of Quebec. Soon after the Revolution descendants of both of these families settled at Plattsburgh, Clinton county, New York, where Mr. Murphy's parents were married.

Mr. Murphy's education was acquired in the Union School at Norwood, New York, and in Potsdam Normal School, from which he graduated in January, 1896, and where he took the Clarkson prize for the best thesis on "Heredity and Environment." He then entered Union College. After leaving college, he taught in the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute two years, and then was in charge of the scientific department in the Brooklyn Latin School until 1903. In the meantime he had taken up the study of the law in the New York Law School, was admitted to the bar and received the LL.B. degree in 1903 and immediately began practice in New York city, where he has since been continuously and successfully engaged.

In 1904 Mr. Murphy was elected member of the state legislature for the Tenth assembly district of Kings county, New York. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Chi college fraternities, Mystic Tie Lodge No. 272, F. & A. M., the Aurora Grata Masonic Club of Brooklyn, Long Island Council Royal Arcanum, Lafayette Camp Sons of Veterans, is president of the Tenth Assembly District Republican Club and a delegate to the Republican county committee of Kings county.

In 1905, after receiving the unanimous nomination from the Republicans of his district, the Citizens' Union and Municipal Ownership League indorsements, Mr. Murphy was returned to the legislature by an overwhelming majority.

ADELBERT MOOT, LL.B.

Adelbert Moot, a well-known lawyer of Buffalo, New York, was born in Allen, Allegheny county, New York, November 22, 1854. He followed the usual course of country boys in going to the district school, successively attending a nearby village school at Belmont, the academy at Nunda, the State Normal School at Geneseo, and the Albany Law School, where he graduated in 1876 with the degree of LL.B. He was admitted to the bar at Albany in 1876, on his twenty-second birthday, and began practice a few months later in partnership with George M. Osgoodby, at Nunda, where they were engaged two years, and then removed to Buffalo.

Judge Robert C. Titus then became a member of the firm, the style changing to Osgoodby, Titus & Moot, this partnership continuing during three years. Mr. Moot then withdrew and joined the Hon. L. L. Lewis and his son, George L. Lewis, under the title of Lewis, Moot & Lewis. Hon. L. L. Lewis soon became a justice of the Supreme Court, but his son, L. L. Lewis, Jr., succeeded him in the firm after a short time. Mr. Moot continued in this firm over twelve years, during which time he established his position at the New York state bar, he having had charge of many important cases during that time in state and federal courts. In 1894 he became a member of his present law firm, that of Moot, Sprague, Brownell & Marcy. As a member of this firm he has acted as counsel in cases like the Hearst-Anthracite Coal Rate case and the Hay Rate case, in which the Interstate Commerce Commission and the federal courts have made decisions known to his profession throughout the country. The case of the American Fine Art Company against William Simon also attracted more than local attention.

Mr. Moot is a life-long but independent Republican. He has been an earnest worker toward political reform, and when the election frauds of 1892 were suspected in Buffalo and a citizens' association was formed to expose them, Mr. Moot was retained as counsel for the association, and such frauds were exposed and ended. When the Good Government Club movement began he was among the first to identify himself with it; and he is one of the most earnest members of the Civil Service Reform Association.

Mr. Moot takes a deep interest in literary, scientific and historical fields, as a glance at his library and his membership in clubs and societies that work such fields will show. He was one of the founders of and still is an earnest lecturer in the Buffalo Law School. In his religious faith he is a Unitarian. He is now president of the Unitarian Conference for the Middle States and Canada.

Mr. Moot married, July 22, 1882, Carrie A. Van Ness of Cuba, New York, and he has three sons—Richmond, Welles and Seward Moot.

GEORGE LA MONTE, A.B.

George La Monte, New York city, manufacturer, bank president and former educator, native of Charlotteville, Schoharie county, New York, was born August 5, 1834, son of Thomas William La Monte and Elizabeth Maria Payne, and was one of a large family. The American ancestor of this branch of the La Monte family was Robert La Monte, who came to this country about 1745 and took up his abode in what now is Columbia county, New York. William La Monte, son of Robert La Monte, was a soldier of the New York line during the Revolution and served in the continental army, and his son William La Monte, Jr., the grandfather of George La Monte, moved to Schoharie county and became one of the foremost men of that family. On the maternal side Mr. La Monte descends from old New England stock, the Payne family, his collateral lines having settled in Rhode Island.

Mr. La Monte was educated in his native town and graduated from Union College with the class of 1857, at the time of his graduation being made a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, and while in college was a charter member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon. After leaving college he went to Winchester, Virginia, and for the next ten years was engaged in teaching in that state, being at the head of various women's colleges, until the close of the war, at which time he returned to New York city, where he has since been engaged in the paper business and devoted his time and attention to paper specialties, in which he has been very successful.

Mr. La Monte's political views have always been independent, and for a long while he was identified with the Prohibition party. His home is at Bound Brook, New Jersey, where he is president of the First National Bank. He has a decided taste for rural life and takes great pleasure in living upon his stock farm, who is a breeder of fine cattle.

He was married, June 28, 1858, to Rebecca T. K. Romney, West Virginia, and has four children: who now is Mrs. E. D. Thompson, Caroline, George and Robert Rives La Monte.

WILLIS SYLVESTER COBB, M.D.

Willis Sylvester Cobb, Corning, Steuben county York, physician, was born September 23, 1862, in Stockbridge, Massachusetts, son of George H. Cobb and Emily Spencer, his wife. George H. Cobb was born June 20, 1828, and has been sheriff of Berkshire county, Massachusetts, for more than fifty years.

Dr. Cobb attended the public and high schools in Stockbridge and graduated from the Pittsfield Business College and the Boston College of Pharmacy; then entered the Albany Medical College, whence he was graduated in 1890. Upon graduation he located in Corning, succeeding to the practice of Dr. Hedden, and has continued there. He is surgical attendant at the ing City Hospital, a member of the Elmira Academy of Medicine, the Steuben County Medical Society and the Corning Medical Association. He has been president of the last two named bodies and was health officer and registrar of vital statistics for the city of Corning from 1892 to 1898. He formerly was prominent in fraternal and political circles, but the growth of his practice has compelled him to devote all of his time to that alone.

Dr. Cobb married, in May, 1890, Lizzie Bessie Baldwin of West Stockbridge. Their children are John P., Agnew Baldwin, Esther and Ruth Cobb.

WILLIAM P. BRIERLEY, M.D.

William P. Brierley, engaged in general practice in Albany, New York, since 1888, was born at Stockport, Columbia county, New York, on the 20th of February, 1863, son of John Brierley a machinist of Stockport, and Anna A. Brierley, neè Coles, who died March 12, 1904. He is of English blood on both the paternal and maternal sides.

William P. Brierley was tutored by the Rev. George Fisher, a private preceptor of Stockport, until 1880, when he took a position as drug clerk, first in Hudson, New York, and later in Lenox, Massachusetts, continuing in that capacity for two years.

He then began the study of medicine with Dr. C. E. Fritts of Hudson, and after spending about one year with him he took a three years' course at the Albany Medical College, coming to his degree in 1886. He continued his medical studies for two years more under the famous Dr. Swinburne, and then, in 1888, began practice in New York city for himself.

For eight years he acted as a health physician of the city, and now is medical examiner for the Independent Order of Red Men. In his politics he upholds the Republican party. He is a member of the Albany County Medical Society, Capital City Lodge, I. O. O. F., of Ojibway Tribe of Red Men and of Guttenburg Lodge, F. and A. M.

Dr. Brierley married, June 14, 1890, Catherine Holler, daughter of Jacob Holler, a prominent contractor of Albany. They have three children: John H., Harold P., and Walter H. Brierley.

WILLIAM BOARDMAN REED, A.B., C.E.

William Boardman Reed, New York city, is descended from several families that emigrated to this country from England in the early part of the seventeenth century. He numbers among his ancestors John Reed, who emigrated from Cornwall, England, in 1660, and who was a subaltern officer in Cromwell's army; David Reed, an officer in the Revolutionary army; Joseph Crane, of whose sons and several of whose grandsons were engaged in the war of the Revolution; Zebulon Crane held a colonel's commission under King George Third and later took a captain's commission and was a member of the provincial committee for the province of New York. He numbers among his ancestors John Holland, who emigrated to this country in the "Mayflower"; John Tilly, who also emigrated to this country in the "Mayflower"; Governor Simon Willard, of Ipswich, Massachusetts; Governor Thomas Hutchinson, of Boston, Massachusetts; Caleb Hazen, a colonel in the 10th Dutchess County Regiment during the Revolutionary war. All of his ancestors settled in New England, though many of them later moved to Putnam County.

New York, where the old Reed homestead and the old Crane homestead are still located.

Mr. Reed's father, Henry A. Reed, was born in Putnam county, New York, in 1829. He was among the first telegraph operators of this country, in 1850 opening the first telegraph office for the Harlem Railroad at Croton Falls, New York. In the same year he had charge of a telegraph office at Hudson, New York. In 1852, he had charge of an office in New York city for the New York, Albany & Buffalo Telegraph Company. From 1853 to 1866 he was in charge of an office at Poughkeepsie, Dutchess county, New York, and assisted Professor Morse in his experiments in telegraphy, being the first person to test for faults by the galvanometer. He later engaged in mercantile business, and in 1885 organized the Bishop Gutta Percha Company of New York city, engaged in the manufacture of insulated cables, and he had charge of the manufacture of the first underground cable for high tension voltage which was made in this country.

William Boardman Reed was born in Poughkeepsie, Dutchess county, New York, May 27, 1860. He was prepared for college at the Poughkeepsie Select School, of which Charles H. Bishop of Union was principal. From 1875 until the completion of his college course he spent more or less time each summer employed on the Albany Day Line steamers, and through his influence a number of Union College students obtained employment on this line of boats each summer; up to the present time a number of students have thus been enabled to do much towards paying their way through college. Upon his graduation, in 1882, he was appointed chief engineer of the Lake Champlain & Moriah Railroad Company; With-erbee, Sherman & Company, and the Port Huron Iron Ore Company, the latter two companies being engaged in mining magnetite, known as Lake Champlain ore. He retained this position until 1891 and during this time was consulted by various other mining companies of northern New York, making one trip to Cuba to inspect iron ore properties on that island. In 1891 he entered partnership with William Gifford, Union, '82, and did a general engineering business, with headquarters at Schenectady, New York, until 1894. During this time he had charge of the construction of water works for the village of Northville, Fulton county, New York, and was chief engineer of construction for the Cayadutta Electric Railroad, running from Fonda, New York, to Gloversville, New York, this being one of the first electric lines designed and operated over private right of way. Upon the completion of this road, in 1894, he came to New York city as engineer, maintenance of way of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, which position he still holds.

In 1888 he married Charlotte A. Smith of New York city, who died in 1891, leaving one daughter, Edith Harlan Reed, born November 10, 1890. In 1896, he married Sarah F. Parks of Saratoga county, New York, and there has been born Marion Boardman Reed, born November 12, 1898, and Henry Hazen Reed, born August 12, 1901.

Mr. Reed has contributed to various technical journals articles upon street railway construction and operation in their various phases. He is a member of the Delta Phi fraternity, the Union College Alumni Association of New York, the American Society of Civil Engineers, the New York Railroad Club, the Masonic organizations and a member of the executive committee of the American Street & Interurban Railway Engineering Association.

His professional education was acquired in the Albany Law School, whence he was graduated in 1883. In that same year he was admitted to practice.

He was one of the founders of the "Daily Gazette," and from 1885 until 1892 he served as city clerk of Schenectady. Politically he is a Democrat. Mr. Glen is a member of the Mohawk Golf Club, the Knights of Pythias and the Greek letter fraternities Alpha Zeta, Psi Upsilon and Phi Beta Kappa. He married, October 1, 1884, Laura M. Moore. Of this marriage three children have been born: Laura C., Horatio G., Jr., and Ethel M. Glen.

MYRON HERBERT SIMMONS, M.D.

Myron Herbert Simmons, Orange, New Jersey, medical practitioner there since 1888, member of the Board of Education and deputy physician of Essex county, is a native of Vermont, born in Starksboro, March 14, 1858, son of George Cary Simmons and Lucinda Beals, his wife. He comes of American ancestors, being a direct descendant of the Puritan, John Alden, on his paternal side.

His education was acquired in the public and private schools of his native place; he also was a student, under private instruction, of H. S. Spencer, of "Spencerian pen" fame. In 1876 he began the study of medicine under the preceptorship of Dr. I. I. Buckbee of Fonda, New York, and Dr. Albert Vander Veer of Albany, New York, but previous to that year he had been employed as a clerk in a general store for some time. In 1877 he matriculated at the Albany Medical College, where he was a student three years, and from which he was graduated in 1880 with the degree of M.D.

After graduation he immediately engaged in practice, locating in Coeymans, New York, where he remained one year, and then removed to Oak Hill, Greene county, New York, where he practiced seven years. In 1888 he located in Orange, where he has since continued, and where, in connection with a busy professional life, he has taken an active part in the public affairs of that community, being a member of the Board of Education in 1891-92, and again from 1900 to the present time; he also acted as president of that board in 1904-05. He was a member of the Common Council of Orange in 1893, served as city physician in 1903-04, and as deputy county physician since 1905.

Dr. Simmons is a member of the American Medical Association, the New Jersey State Medical Society, Essex County Medical Society, the Orange Practitioners' Society and the Union League Club. In addition to attending to a large practice and his active work in the public life of the city of his adoption, he is visiting physician to St. Mary's Hospital of Orange, for the past twelve years a member of the medical and surgical staff of the Orange Memorial Hospital Dispensary, and surgeon for the North Jersey Street Railway Company, the Orange & Passaic Valley Traction Company, the South Orange & Maple Wood Traction Company and of the United Electric Company of New Jersey.

In 1881 Dr. Simmons married Hattie C. Shibley of Rural Grove, New York, and has one child, Albert Vander Veer Simmons.

DAVID CORNELIUS SALYERDS, LL.B.

David Cornelius Salyerds, lawyer, in practice at Scottsville, New York, was born in Garbutt, New York, in 1878, son of Isaac W. Salyerds and Sarah Rife, his wife, and is of Welsh blood on the paternal side and of German ancestry on the maternal side.

Mr. Salyerds was educated in the public and high schools of Scottsville and the Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima, New York. He studied for his profession in Albany Law School, from which he was graduated in 1904 with the degree of LL.B. He was admitted to practice in the courts of the State of New York in

THOMAS D. COLLINS, M.D.

Thomas D. Collins, Ballston Spa, New York, physician, was born April 3, 1867, at Salem, New York, son of Michael Collins and Mary Dundon, his wife. The first ancestor of this particular branch of the Collins family in America came from Ireland in 1840 and settled in Washington county.

Dr. Collins attended the public schools and Washington Academy, in Washington county, after which he took a commercial course in the Troy Business College, Troy, New York, and upon graduating from that institution kept books for some time in New York city. He then taught school for one year, after which he took up the study of medicine at the Albany Medical College, where he came to his degree in 1898.

Upon graduation he opened practice in Arlington, Vermont, remaining there for eight months, and in April, 1899, removed to Ballston Spa, where he has since continued, engaged in general practice. He is health officer of the town of Milton, New York, medical examiner for the C. W. B. L. Life, the C. B. L. Life and the Prudential Life Insurance companies. He is a member of the Saratoga County Medical Society, the Knights of Columbus, the Fraternal Mystic Circle, and is an Elk. Politically Dr. Collins is a Democrat.

JOHN MIXTER STEWART, A.B., A.M.

John Mixter Stewart, Monson, Massachusetts, lawyer, formerly dean of the St. Louis (Missouri) Law School, was born in Wales, Hampden county, Massachusetts, July 10, 1838, son of Adams Stewart and Lucinda Hix, his wife, and is of Scotch and English ancestry. His grandfather, Paul Stewart, was a soldier in the Continental army from the age of sixteen until its disbandment.

His earlier education was acquired in common schools in Wales and in Monson Academy, where he graduated in 1859, and his higher education in Union College, where he took a four years' course and graduated, in 1864, with the degree A.B.; A.M. in course; member of Phi Beta Kappa.

His career in the law was begun in 1866, when he was admitted to the bar in St. Louis, in which city he was engaged in law practice until 1892. From 1873 to 1877 he was dean, and professor of law, of the St. Louis Law School, and at times he also acted as special judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals. He is the author of numerous law pamphlets.

Mr. Stewart served in the Civil war as a captain in Massachusetts infantry. He has never held political office, but individually has always been active in political issues. He is a member, and one of the founders, of the University Club of St. Louis. He married, September 6, 1878, Josephine Florence McSherry of St. Louis, and has three children—Adams McSherry, Frank and George M. Stewart.

CHARLES HARVEY MACCULLOCH, B.E.

Charles Harvey MacCulloch of Schenectady, New York, is a native of Albany, born February 23, 1877, a son of Charles MacCulloch and Emma J. Harvey, his wife. On the paternal side he is of Scotch blood, his great-grandfather, William MacCulloch, having emigrated from the northern part of Scotland and settled in New Scotland, New York, in 1808, where he engaged in agriculture. From him is descended General James MacCulloch, whose name became famous during the Civil war. Charles Washington Harvey, a great-uncle on the maternal side, was one of the seven men who founded Psi Upsilon fraternity at Union in 1833. Charles H. MacCulloch attended the public schools of his native city, graduating from the high school in 1896, and then became a student at Union College, where he came to his degree in 1900. Upon graduation he was employed by the state of New York in connection with the state engineer's office, where he is still retained. He is a supporter of the Republican party in politics, and at Union he was a member of the Psi Upsilon college fraternity.

FRANK WALLACH, A.B.

Frank Wallach, New York city, exporter, was born in Hartford, Connecticut, October 16, 1850, son of Henry Wallach and Elizabeth Karst, his wife, and is of German descent, his father having been born in Germany and having come to America with his parents in 1848. Mr. Wallach was educated in the public schools of Rockford, Illinois, the New York city schools, the College of the City of New York, and Union College, from the latter of which he graduated in 1871 with the degree of A.B. In the fall of the same year he started in business with his father and was a manufacturer until 1884, when he went west and was a cattle ranger and rancher in the territory of Wyoming for eight years. In 1892 he returned to New York and went into business as exporter, which has since occupied his attention. On December 4, 1877, Mr. Wallach married Ida May of New York city. Two children have been born of this marriage, both of whom are dead.

MARK COHN, LL.B.

Mark Cohn, Albany, New York, was born in the city of New York, November 20, 1852. At the age of eight years he removed to the city of Albany, where he has since resided. He was educated in the public schools and in the private school of Levi Cass, and at the age of eighteen years entered the law office of the well-known firm of Hand, Hale & Schwartz, and subsequently studied with the Hon. Jacob H. Clute and Messrs. Peckham and Tremain. He attended the Columbia Law School and later the Albany Law School, where he received the degree of LL.B. After graduating from the Albany Law School he was admitted, in 1874, to the bar, and since that time has successfully practiced his profession in the city of Albany. He was at one time a member of the law firm of Quinn & Cohn. John F. Quinn, the senior member of the firm, retired from the practice of the law and entered the priesthood and is now a well-known divine on the Pacific coast. Later Mr. Cohn formed a co-partnership with the late Joseph B. Reilly, which continued until Mr. Reilly took up his residence in the city of New York. In 1892 the late Hon. James W. Eaton, then elected district attorney for Albany county, appointed Mr. Cohn assistant district attorney. Among the many cases which Mr. Cohn, associated with Mr. Eaton, successfully prosecuted may be mentioned the case of the People against O'Brien and Post, the notorious bunco men; the case against "Canada" Clark, the murder case of Walter Nelson and the Chinese laundrymen, and also the celebrated Shattuck case. It is a matter of legal history of the state of New York that the McPherson case established the constitutionality of the collateral inheritance tax law. Mark Cohn argued this cause celebre and carried it to the highest court of the state. The Hon. Hugh Reilly, the then district attorney of Albany county, expressed his approval of Mr. Cohn's services as his special representative in the Court of Appeals and also for the great services he had rendered the state on that occasion. The case of Soltau and Gerdau and cases dependent thereon involved a large sum of money and were stubbornly fought to the Court of Appeals. The distinguished advocate, Frederic R. Coudert, tried the case against Mr. Cohn, and in the Court of Appeals Mr. Cohn's former teacher, Professor Dwight, of Columbia College, unsuccessfully argued against Mr. Cohn. The leading case in extradition law, People ex rel Corkran vs. Hyatt, was instituted and carried to the highest court in the land upon the lines laid down by Mr. Cohn. When the Rockland County Taxpayers' Association made an application to the governor of the state to have the attorney general, John Cunnen, appoint a special deputy attorney general to prosecute the various actions in Rockland county against Frank P. Demarest, Mr. Cohn was appointed and successfully prosecuted and convicted Demarest.

Mr. Cohn is a member of Washington Lodge, F. & A. M., Gideon Lodge, I. O. O. F., the New York State Bar Association, the Albany County Bar Association, Congregation Beth Emeth, the Jefferson Club and Adelphi Club. Mr. Cohn is married and has two daughters.

WILLIAM LOUCKS, A.B.

William Loucks, Albany, New York, lawyer, member of the law firm of Loucks & Loucks, is a native of Albany, born September 18, 1843, son of James H. Loucks and Hester Slingerland, his wife, and is of Holland Dutch descent.

His earlier literary education was acquired in the Albany public schools and in Albany Academy, from the latter of which he was graduated in 1862, and his higher education in Union College, where he took the classical course, and from which he was graduated in 1866, with the degree of A.B. He then took up the study of law and in May, 1867, was admitted to practice in the courts of New York state. He has since practiced in Albany, devoting his attention closely to the work of his profession. He is a Republican, but not active in politics. Mr. Loucks is married and has one son, William Dewey Loucks.

MARSHALL LATCHER, M.D.

Marshall Latcher, physician and surgeon, Oneonta, New York, a frequent and interesting contributor to medical journals of the east, is a native of Edinburg, New York, born June 9, 1869, son of John Waldhardt Latcher and Rosena Copeland, his wife, his father having emigrated from Switzerland to America about 1850 and taken up his abode in the north part of Fulton county. On the maternal side Dr. Latcher is of English descent.

His earlier education was acquired in a private school in Batchellerville, New York, and in Troy Conference Academy at Poultney, Vermont, where he graduated in 1888, and afterward for about a year was a teacher in that famous school. Before his professional education was begun as a student in Albany Medical College, Dr. Latcher worked for a time as a mechanical expert, a calling in which he was proficient. He matriculated at the college in 1894 and graduated in 1897, and afterward for a year served as interne at Albany Hospital. In 1899 he began active practice in Oneonta, in which city he still lives and has attained an excellent standing in the ranks of the medical profession.

Dr. Latcher is attending surgeon to the Aurelia Osborne Fox Memorial Hospital, and is medical examiner for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of New York, the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company of Detroit, the Bankers' Life Association of Des Moines, Iowa, and also for the Order of Maccabees. He is a Mason and a member of the Otsego County Medical Society, the New York State Medical Association and the American Medical Association.

REED A. SAUTER, PH.G., M.D.

Reed A. Sauter, physician, Schenectady, New York, was born in Schenectady, August 22, 1869, son of John C. Sauter, a native of Germany, who came to this country in 1848 and who died here in December, 1889, and his wife, Mary A. Bearup.

Dr. Sauter attended the public schools of his native city, graduating from the high school in 1887, and then studied pharmacy during four years with his brother, William Sauter. He continued his studies in the Albany Medical College of Pharmacy and graduated from that institution in 1891 with the degree of Ph.G., after which he spent one year in his brother's drug store. He then took up the study of medicine in Albany Medical College and came to the degree M.D. in 1895. During the year following graduation he served as interne at the Albany City Hospital, in 1896 opening for practice in Schenectady, where he has since continued.

He is medical examiner for the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company of Portland, Maine, and in the spring of 1904 was appointed county physician. He is a member of the Schenectady County Medical Society and of the Independent Order of Foresters. Dr. Sauter married Anna Aussiker, of Oneonta, New York, and has one child, a daughter, born August 16, 1901.

JOSEPH MARK LAWSON, A.B.

Joseph Mark Lawson, Albany, New York, lawyer, was born November 10, 1840, at Watervliet, now known as Colonic, New York, a son of Joseph Mark and Elizabeth Wagar Lawson.

He is of English descent on the paternal side, the first American ancestor on record being the great-great-grandfather, Peter Lawrence Lawson, who lived in Dutchess county about 1730. He was the owner of wide lands and engaged extensively in shipping. The grandfather of our subject, Isaac Lawson, served in the Revolutionary war. His maternal ancestry was old colonial stock, and his grandmother was a granddaughter of Bogardus.

The elementary education of Joseph Mark Lawson was acquired in the district schools of Watervliet and the Jonesville Academy, and his higher education in Union College, where he came to his degree in 1862.

His training for the law was gained in the office of his elder brother, Isaac Lawson, a graduate of Union College, class of 1850. In 1864 he was admitted to the bar and at once began practice, which he still continues. He is a member of the Albany County Bar Association.

He has ever been a staunch Republican in the exercise of the right of suffrage, but has never cared to take an active interest in political issues. Mr. Lawson married, December 24, 1873, Julia A. Werner. They have no children.

WILLIAM NOETLING, A.B., C.E., A.M., PED.D.

William Noetling, Selinsgrove, Snyder county, Pennsylvania, professor of pedagogy in Susquehanna University and an educator whose active career has extended over a period of almost half a century, was born near Lewisburg, Union county, Pennsylvania, July 8, 1830.

His father, Dr. William Noetling, a well educated German physician, early implanted in the minds of his children the necessity of a good education as a foundation for success in whatever calling their lot might be cast. The family having moved to Mifflinburg, William attended the public schools of the town during the four winter months in which they usually were open, until sixteen years of age. Having a desire to be among the best in his classes, and receiving encouragement to the same end from home, at the age before mentioned he had acquired what at that time was considered a good education—sufficient to “keep school.”

Desiring now to prepare himself for his life work, after consultation with his parents he was apprenticed to a contractor and builder to learn the carpenter trade. He completed his term of apprenticeship and at once began work as a journeyman at a salary. While doing journeyman work, and finding that his work was not inferior to the best of his class of workmen, his ambition moved him to rise higher in his vocation, if not to the top, at least towards it. Accordingly he sought the instruction of an educated builder, from whom he learned the underlying principles of architecture. Stimulated by the vista which the instructions in architecture had opened to him, he procured the best works in the line of his aspirations, studied them during his evenings and other spare times, and thus at the end of seven years had surpassed many of his masters, as they were called, in skillful workmanship and in planning work.

Though receiving good salaries during the later years of his journeymanship, seeing that the young people growing up around him surpassed him in their intellectual attainments, his eagerness not to be left behind in the race led him during the winter months when outdoor work was suspended to seek opportunities for more advanced education. Thus prompted he attended a school of academic grade at New Berlin, taught by a New Englander; later the academy at Mifflinburg, also taught by an eastern man; again the school at New Berlin, this time taught by a New Yorker, Rev. Francis Hendricks, a graduate of Union College (class of '46), and a teacher of marked ability and skill. Under his instruction Mr. Noetling for the first time discovered that he could think for himself, and this created such desire in him for a more extended education that, at the suggestion of Mr. Hendricks, he determined to prepare for college.

After having completed the preparatory studies as far as the academies carried them, he spent a term at Lewisburg (now Bucknell) University, pursuing several branches required for entrance to the college of his choice, but not taught in the academies. In the fall of 1855 he entered the junior class of Union College, completed the scientific and civil engineering courses, having done more work, it was said, during his connection with the college than any student before him had done, stood among the highest in deportment and in all the branches of the courses, and graduated in 1857 with the degrees of

A.B. and C.E.; two years later he was awarded the degree of A.M. by his alma mater.

After graduating from college, in order to acquaint himself better with the modern and more advanced teaching of the ancient and modern languages, he studied with Professor C. C. Schaffer of Philadelphia, a German and a competent and thorough linguist and instructor. Several years later he spent a term at Dr. L. Saveur's school of languages at Amherst, Massachusetts.

Being a lover of music he attended a term at the academy of music at Geneseo, New York, under William B. Brodbery, studying harmony and methods of teaching music. After teaching one term of public school and at the same time, in the evening, singing classes, he was in the spring of 1858 elected, upon trial, assistant teacher in the Missionary Institute, a new school at Selinsgrove. The next year he was given the professorship of mathematics in the same institution, and several years later the vice-principalship.

In the summer of 1865, at the suggestion of his brother Charles, a lawyer at Belleville, Illinois, he resigned his position and went to the latter place, where he accepted the principalship of one of the city grammar schools, but after a year there he returned to his native state and was appointed assistant in a select school at Waynesboro in Franklin county. At the expiration of a year the principal resigned his position and Professor Noetling conducted the school until 1869. Urged by his friends at Selinsgrove to return to that place, and Susquehanna Female College, a Lutheran Church school of the place, being in a declining condition was offered for sale, he purchased it. The school by this purchase became what it in fact quietly had been, a private institution. The church failing to support it in its new character, it was changed to a normal institute and for a number of years was conducted as such, then closed and the building converted into dwelling houses.

In May, 1872, the professor was elected superintendent of the public schools of Snyder county and at the expiration of his first term of office was unanimously re-elected. During his incumbency of the office the teachers of the county, animated by a new spirit, prepared themselves better for their duties than ever before, and, as a consequence, the schools took their place among the best rural schools of the state.

In the summer of his sixth and last year in office, the professor was elected professor of the science and art of education in the Pennsylvania State Normal School at Bloomsburg. He filled that position for twenty-three years and brought the work of his department to such a degree of proficiency that competent educators pronounced it among the best teacher training departments in the normal schools of the state. But owing to a change of headship of the school, the policy of the school underwent a change detrimental to the object for which the normal schools had been established. This change of policy determined the professor to sever his connection with the school and this decision he carried out at the end of the school year in 1900. In the same year, however, he was elected professor of pedagogy in Susquehanna University, the institution which in June, 1905, honored him with the degree of doctor of pedagogy.

The professor's ambition to be among the leaders in educational thought and practice induced him to seek every available opportunity for improvement. He read the most noted journals and books in the line of his profession published in our own and foreign lands, and visited what were reputed to be the best schools of his own state, and of New York, New England, some of the western states, and Canada. However, while thus equipping himself he did not permit his pen to remain idle, but wrote numerous articles on education for newspapers and educational journals; in addition to this, he is the author of two books, "Notes on the Science and Art of Education," and "Geometry, Constructive and Inductive." For a number of years he was a much sought instructor at teachers' county institutes, introducing improved methods of teaching and managing schools.

He possesses a warm place in the minds and hearts of the thousands of students who have been under his instruction and whom he has helped to good, noble and successful lives.

Professor Noetling is a member of the General Synod Evangelical Lutheran Church, an officer in his home church, and superintendent of normal Sunday-school work in his county.

On December 26, 1865, he married Mary Catharine Sanders of Waynesboro, and of their children two are living: Charles B. Noetling of Beaver Valley, Columbia county,

UNION UNIVERSITY

Pennsylvania, and Mary E. Noetling, wife of Rev. Chalmers E. Frontz of Chicora, Butler county, Pennsylvania.

HORATIO GATES WARNER, A.B., LL.D.

Horatio Gates Warner, ex-judge of the Court of Common Pleas, was born in Canaan, Columbia county, New York, March 12, 1801, and died February 12, 1876. He was a son of Daniel Warner and Olive Douglas, his wife, and of English ancestry. The American ancestor, William Warner, came from England in 1637 and settled in Ipswich, Massachusetts. He was a grandson of William Warner (5), who with his eight sons, Lupton, Daniel, Jason, James William, John, Josiah and Jonathan, served in the Revolutionary war.

Judge Warner's early education was acquired under private tutors, and in 1826 he completed a classical course at Union College. He then took up the study of law, which he practiced in Madison county, New York, until 1840, when he removed to Rochester. He was judge of the Court of Common Pleas previous to 1840. In 1860 he was appointed a regent of the University.

New York, and in 1860 the degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him by Union College. He is the founder of the Warner prize at his alma mater. He was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa college society, and in his political affiliations was a Democrat.

On May 5, 1831, Judge Warner married Sarah Warner, by whom he had eight children.

JOHN BRADT YATES WARNER, A.B.

John Bradt Yates Warner, Scottsville, New York, is a native of Rochester, New York, born December 3, 1845, son of Horatio Gates Warner and Sarah, his wife, and is of English extraction. (For ancestry, see biography of Horatio Gates Warner.)

He was educated in private schools in Rochester, and later took a classical course in Union College, from which he was graduated in 1868 with the degree of A.B.

Since leaving college Mr. Warner has been engaged in agricultural pursuits. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and the Sigma Phi college societies, and in his political affiliations is a Democrat.

RICHARD FRANCHOT WARNER, E.E.

Richard Franchot Warner, electrical engineer of Scottsville, New York, is a native of Schenectady, New York, born September 29, 1877, son of John Bradt Yates Warner, a graduate of Union College, class of 1868, and Mary Franchot, his wife. He is of English and French descent; his paternal grandfather, Horatio Gates Warner, also was a graduate of Union College, class of 1826.

Mr. Warner was educated in the Rochester public schools and his higher education was acquired at Union College, from whence he was graduated in 1901, with the degree of E.E.; and he supplemented his college course with practical test instruction at the extensive works of the General Electric Company in Schenectady. He is a member of the Sigma Phi college fraternity of Union College, and in political preference supports the principles of Democracy.

CHARLES SHOEMAKER YAWGER, LL.B.

Charles Shoemaker Yawger, practicing law in New York city, is a native of Seneca Falls, New York, born in July, 1881, son of Thomas Jefferson Yawger and Harriett Weed, his wife. He is of German descent, his paternal ancestor having come from Germany in the early colonial days. His early education was obtained in the public schools of Seneca Falls and in Mynderse Academy of the same place, from which he was graduated in 1898. He then entered Union College, where he remained one year, going from there to Cornell University. His professional education was acquired in Cornell Law School, from which he graduated in 1902 with the degree of LL.B.

Soon after graduation Mr. Yawger was admitted to the bar and he immediately began practice in association with the firm of Lester, Graves & Miles of 27 Pine street, New York city, with which he is still engaged.

Mr. Yawger is a member of the Psi Upsilon and Phi Delta Phi college fraternities, Cornell University Club and of Company G, Seventh Regiment, N. G. N. Y. In politics he is a Republican.

ANDREW HENRY DOUGHERTY, A.B.

Andrew Henry Dougherty, Albany, New York, was born in Park township, St. Joseph county, Michigan, a son of Richard Dougherty and Susan Leland, his wife. His paternal grandfather, John B. Dougherty, was the American pioneer of the family, having come from near Londonderry, Ireland, and settled in Branch county, Michigan, as a farmer. George Leland, the maternal grandfather, was born in New Jersey and settled at an early date in St. Joseph county, Michigan.

Andrew Dougherty's education was begun in the district schools of Park township and continued with one year in the high school at Three Rivers, Michigan, and a course at Union College, whence he was graduated, A.B., in 1880.

He then went to Europe to study art and remained there for periods of seven months during three years. He is now pursuing his art in Albany, engaged in the special field of portrait painting.

ANDREW J. NELLIS, LL.B.

Andrew J. Nellis, Albany, New York, lawyer, was born July 22, 1852, in Palatine, Montgomery county, New York, son of James Nellis and Mary Magdalene Wert, his wife. He inherits German, Dutch, English and Irish blood.

He acquired his education in common schools and in Fairfield Academy. At the age of fifteen years he began to teach school and continued until he was twenty-one years old, during the last year of this period having been principal of the Macedon Academy, Wayne county, New York. He then took up the study of law in the Albany Law School, graduating in May, 1875, and in June of the same year began practice at Johnstown, New York. In September, 1875, he became partner with the Hon. Horace E. Smith and his son, Borden D. Smith, under the firm style of Smith & Nellis, at Johnstown, and continued in that firm until January, 1894. From that time until September 1, 1903, he practiced alone at Johnstown, and then formed a partnership with Edwin Countryman and Pierre E. Du Bois under the firm name of Countryman, Nellis & Du Bois, their principal office being in Albany, engaged mainly in general litigating practice.

Mr. Nellis was president of the Johnstown Electric Light and Power Company for many years and a director during its entire existence. He is a Mason, a member of St. Patrick's Lodge, No. 4, of Johnstown, of which he also was master for three years and high priest of the chapter for two years. Politically he is a Republican. He married, September 6, 1876, Mary E. Humphrey, of Catskill, New York. They have two children, Ruth and Merwyn H. Nellis.

CHARLES SPELMAN STANTON.

Charles Spelman Stanton, night editor of the "Chicago Tribune," and a newspaper man of about twenty years' experience, is a native of Middleburg, Schoharie county, New York, born March 13, 1864, son of George S. Stanton and Julia Hallenbeck, his wife, and is of English descent on his father's side and of Holland Dutch ancestry on his mother's side.

His earlier education was acquired in the public and high schools of Albany, New York, from the latter of which he was graduated in 1881. His higher education was gained in Union College, Schenectady, in the class of '85. In the fall of 1885 he took up the study of law, but abandoned it for newspaper work at the end of a year. He began on the "World" in New York, where he remained several years, and then for a year was half owner and editor of "Albany Evening Union." From Albany he returned to the "World" for another year, and in 1893 with his family removed to Chicago.

Since that time, with the exception of a single year, Mr. Stanton has been connected with the "Tribune," first in the capacity of editorial writer, then telegraph editor and for the last six years as night editor. He is a member of the Union College chapter of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. At Albany, New York, on the 8th of December, 1887, he married Maia Pratt, and has two children—Wolcott Pratt Stanton and Marjorie Ward Stanton.

JOHN EVANS BOLD, A.B.

John Evans Bold, Watervliet, New York, rector of Trinity Church, was born May 23, 1857, in Charleston, South Carolina, son of Howard Edward Bold and Sarah Ann Chaplin, his wife.

After attending private school and the Porter Academy at Charleston, he matriculated at Union College, and in 1878 received the degree A.B. from that institution. He then became a student at the General Seminary, graduating thence in 1882, in which year he also was ordained. His first pastorate was at Ticonderoga, New York, the Church of the Cross, where he continued until March, 1887, when he removed to Buffalo and became assistant at St. James Church. Six months later he became rector of St. James' parish, but in November, 1889, he resigned this charge and the field of his labor became the parish of St. Mark, at Johnstown, Pennsylvania, which at that time was suffering from effects of the great flood. At the end of three years Mr. Bold resigned and located at Oneonta, New York, as rector of St. James Church. He continued there until June 1, 1900, when he assumed his present charge, the parish of Trinity Church, Watervliet.

The Rev. Mr. Bold has no party bias in political issues, but is an independent voter, seeking to elect whom he considers will work for the best interests of the community.

On May 14, 1878, he was united in marriage with Helen Elizabeth Ostrom of Schenectady. Their children are Howard Huntington, Ralph Evans and Alma Pauline Bold.

CHARLES EDWARD BRENNAN, LL.B.

Charles Edward Brennan, Albany, New York, was born February 28, 1882, in Albany, son of James Brennan and Ann K. McNamara, his wife. He is of Irish descent, his grandfather, Owen Brennan, a native of Ireland, having settled on Prince Edward's Island. He afterward located at Batavia, New York, as a farmer, and his family was raised there. James Brennan, his son, served through the Civil war, and at its close removed to Albany, where he still resides, at present filling the office of captain of police.

Charles Edward Brennan was educated in Albany, in the public schools and the high school, where he graduated in 1901. In August of the same year he went into the law office of Patrick C. Dugan of Albany to read law, continuing his studies at the Albany Law School, where he was graduated in 1904. In June of the same year he was admitted to the bar and began practice alone, which he still continues. Politically he is a Democrat.

LA MOTTE KIBBEY DEVENDORF.

La Motte Kibbey Devendorf, civil engineer, Albany, New York, was born June 21, 1872, in Mohawk, New York, son of Albert Clarence Devendorf and Stancha Wheeler, his wife. He is a great-great-grandson of Jacob Diffendorf, who was a captain in the Tryon county militia; two of his family were killed at the battle of Oriskany, and their names are on the monument erected on that battlefield.

Mr. Devendorf's education was acquired in the public schools of Mohawk and Herkimer, New York, in Fairfield Seminary, whence he graduated in 1890, and in St. Lawrence University, where he studied for one year. He attended Union College for one year and then entered the employ of the state engineer, after which he secured his present position with the Canton Bridge Company. He is a Mason, an Elk and a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity. Politically he is a Republican. On January 8, 1896, he was united in marriage with Louretta Wood of Herkimer, New York.

WILLIAM ROBERT WHITFIELD, LL.B.

William Robert Whitfield, Albany, New York, lawyer, is a native of Albany, born January 8, 1877, son of Robert Henry Whitfield and Catherine Anna Finn, his wife. He is descended on the paternal side from Robert Parr Whitfield and Mary Henry, and on the maternal side from William Finn and Anna McCormick.

He attended Miss Henrickson's private school and the public schools of Albany, graduating from the high school in June, 1896. He then read law and served a clerkship in the office of Hun & Johnston (Marcus T. Hun and Russell M. Johnston) of Albany, after which he completed a two years' course at the Albany Law School.

After graduating from the high school he read proof and held copy on a law book from July until November, 1896, when he entered the office of Hun & Johnston, where he remained until July, 1900. In November following he opened his own law office, and about the 21st of that month commenced examining statutes on the Appellate Division reports for Mr. Hun, the reporter. He is still doing that work in connection with the practice of his profession.

Politically Mr. Whitfield is a Republican and has taken an active interest in public affairs since about 1898, when he received appointment as election ballot clerk for 1898-99. For each year from 1900 until 1905 he was appointed election poll clerk, or inspector of election, and has served his party in other ways, delivering political speeches and acting as delegate to ward conventions (1903) and assembly district conventions (1904), as alternate to the state convention (1904), and also as delegate to the city convention (1905).

In his social relations Mr. Whitfield is particularly popular and takes a prominent part in furthering social intercourse, having acted as secretary of the committee for a series of subscription dances, and in the same capacity for charitable functions and for the Cathedral Conference Society of St. Vincent de Paul. He also is a member of the Young Men's Republican Club, in which he has been a member of the executive committee during important campaigns: the Catholic Union of Albany, the Cathedral Conference Society of St. Vincent de Paul, the Association of the Alumni of Albany Law School, Albany County Bar Association, and the Alumni Association of the Albany High School. As secretary for the Association of the Alumni of Albany Law School he has taken an active interest in promoting the welfare of that department of the university.

HENRY A. GREEN, A.B.

Henry A. Green, Tryon, North Carolina, geologist, is a native of New York state, born at Mt. Morris, September 17, 1838, son of Abisha Green and Martha Louisa Johnson, and is of English or Irish descent.

He attended public schools in his native place, then entered Genesee College, Lima, New York, finally completing his studies at Union College, where he graduated in 1859 with the A.B. degree.

He was employed for a little more than a year, from 1868, on the state geological survey of Illinois; during the winter of 1875-76 was employed by the state geologist of New Jersey, collecting material for exhibition at the Centennial, and in 1870-71, for two months, he was connected with Lieutenant Wheeler's United States geological corps. In October, 1882, he became a teacher in Brainerd Institute at Chester, South Carolina, and continued there until the summer of 1893. In politics Green is a Republican.

EDWARD DENNIS RONAN, A.B., A.M.

Edward Dennis Ronan, lawyer, Tweddle building, Albany, New York, prepared for college at Fort Edw Institute, 1859-60-61. He served in the Union arm 1862-63; entered Union College, April, 1864, and graduated in 1867. Attended Albany Law School; adm to the bar in 1868. Member of the New York legislature in 1870, and for several years thereafter was counsel for the Albany Board of Excise. Member of the Phi Kappa Society, Psi Upsilon Fraternity, Society of the Army of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, Orange Club, etc., etc.

In 1883 Mr. Ronan married Mary Sanford, daughter of General Lyman Sanford of Middleburgh, New York (Union, '31), and has two sons—Edward, a student at Harvard University, and Charles, a student at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

JAMES STANISLAUS BRYAN, LL.B.

James Stanislaus Bryan, lawyer, practicing in Auburn, New York, is a native of that city, born September 2, 1875, son of James Bryan and Sarah E. McGarr, his wife.

He acquired his elementary and literary education in the public and high schools of Auburn and in Columbia College, where he was a student for a time. He commenced the study of law in the office of Judge Adelbert P. Rich, justice of the Supreme Court, after which he received an appointment as clerk in the city court of Auburn, remaining there about three years, and then matriculated at Albany Law School in 1900, graduating from that institution in 1902 with the degree of LL.B.

Mr. Bryan located for the practice of his profession in Auburn immediately after graduation, and in 1905 formed a partnership with James Terry Knapp, formerly of Syracuse, New York, and his classmate in Albany Law School. During his law school course Mr. Bryan played right guard on the football team of his alma mater and enjoyed an enviable reputation as an athlete. He is a member of the Cayuga County Bar Association, and in politics is affiliated with the Republican party.

On October 2, 1903, Mr. Bryan married Miss Margaret Cloran of Cincinnati, Ohio.

WILLIAM MEYER LEWIN.

William Meyer Lewin, Washington, D. C., attorney at law, formerly state's attorney for Prince George's county, Maryland, and assistant district attorney for the District of Columbia, was born at "The Glebe," near Milestown, St. Mary's county, Maryland, August 24, 1860, son of Rev. Meyer Lewin, D.D., and Eleanor Adams Wilkinson.

His early education was acquired at public and private schools and at the famous Military Academy at Charlotte Hall, Maryland. He took the full course of four years at Union College, where he was graduated with the degree of A.B., in 1882. His training for the law was had at the Harvard Law School, where he received the degree of LL.B., and since 1887 he has practiced continuously in Washington and Maryland.

As a lawyer Mr. Lewin has been successful, not only in the winning of cases, but in the higher sense of gaining the regard and esteem of his brother lawyers and of the community in which he has lived and worked. Union College claims a large share of the credit due for his success, looking with pride on the class of '82, which produced seven lawyers of ability and reputation.

Mr. Lewin is a Republican, and, while not particularly active in that field, he always is interested in political affairs. His appointment to the office of assistant district attorney for the District of Columbia was made by Attorney General Olney. He was state's attorney for Prince George's county, in his native state, from 1900 to 1904.

On February 16, 1905, Mr. Lewin married Mary Barnes Compton of Maryland.

HENRY MARSHALL, A.B.

Henry Marshall, New York city, lawyer, senator representing the Eighth senatorial district of New York state since the beginning of the legislative session of 1899, is a native of Cambridge, Washington county, New York, born January 25, 1847, son of Robert Marshall and Margaret Law, his wife. His earlier education was acquired in the Cambridge district and public schools, and after leaving the academy in that village he began business life as a newspaper man, in which special field of endeavor as editorial writer and general correspondent he engaged until he was admitted to practice law; and while he is no longer a journalist there are few newspaper men in this state in closer touch with what is taking place in that particular field than Senator Marshall. While thus employed at Saratoga Springs and other places in northern New York he took up the study of law, entered the Albany Law School, and came to his degree legum baccalaureus in 1882. He was honored by his classmates in being elected president of his class.

After he came to the bar Mr. Marshall began active practice in New York city, taking up his residence in Brooklyn, where he has since lived, and in connection with a busy and successful professional life he for many years has been a conspicuous figure in Republican political circles, frequently the nominee of his party for public office and as frequently its successful candidate. In the fall of 1895 he was elected to the assembly from the Seventeenth district of Kings county, and was re-elected in 1896 and 1897, serving his last term in the house during the legislative session of 1898. He was appointed to the arduous and responsible position of chairman of the cities committee and was also a member of the judiciary and other important committees of that body. At the beginning of the session of 1898 Mr. Marshall received several votes, in his party caucus, for speaker of the assembly, although in no sense a candidate, he himself voting for and favoring the election of the candidate who was ultimately chosen. In November, 1898, he was elected senator, was re-elected in 1900 and 1902, and enjoys the pleasant distinction of having been the only senator from his district to be returned for a third term, and the only Republican senator from Kings county who has served three terms.

GERARDUS SMITH.

Gerardus Smith, Schenectady, New York, president and treasurer of the Daily Gazette Company, the publishers of the "Schenectady Gazette," is a native of Schenectady, born October 26, 1857, son of David Cady Smith and Eleanor Fisher Carley, his wife.

He completed courses at the Phillip Exeter Academy and Union Classical Institute, then entered Union College for the class of 1879. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1879. From 1880 until 1884 he was surrogate's clerk, and then he engaged in the coal business, continuing in that line until the 1st of May, 1904.

In addition to these interests Mr. Smith was active in the field of journalism, having had control of the "Gazette" since 1899. He also holds positions of trust in other business lines, being president of the Schenectady Contracting Company, director of the Schenectady Trust Company and secretary and treasurer of the Park View Cemetery Association.

He is a member of the Mohawk Club, the Mohawk Golf Club, the Knights of Pythias, the Elks, Red Men, a Mystic Shriner, and a Thirty-second degree Mason. In 1880 Mr. Smith was united in marriage with Mary E. Darrow. Two children have been born of this marriage, Eleanor F. Green and Anna Cady Smith.

LEONARD GOVE STANLEY, M.D.

Leonard Gove Stanley, physician, engaged in general practice in Albany, New York, was born December 18, 1870, in West Troy, New York, son of William Lawrence and Mary M. (Gove) Stanley. He attended the public schools of West Troy, the Troy Academy and the Albany Business College, then took up the study of medicine at Albany Medical College, where he came to his degree in 1895. Upon graduation he began practice in Jersey City, where he continued for one and one-half years, then removed to Albany, where he has since practiced.

Dr. Stanley has been prominent in amateur and professional theatrical and musical circles, and is one of the associate members of the Albany Vocal Society. An active member and player in the Albania orchestra, and director and manager of the Empire orchestra, and first violinist of the Albany Medical College students' orchestra.

He has been house physician and social director for the past seven years at the Hotel Utowana, Blue Mountain Lake, Adirondacks, and at the One Thousand Island House, River St. Lawrence, during the summer months. He also is medical examiner for the Michigan Mutual Life Insurance Company, the Knights of the Maccabees of the World, the Ladies of the Maccabees, Endowment Rank, Knights of Pythias, and surgeon to Malta Commandery No. 302 of Albany. He holds diplomas from the University of the State of New York, the Medical Board of the State of New Jersey, and the Massachusetts Board of Medicine and Surgery.

Dr. Stanley is a member of the Albany Medical College Alumni Association, the Albany Yacht Club, the Unconditional Republican Club, of which latter he is one of the executive committee, and of several other secret and fraternal societies.

He married Ruth Esther Leitzell, daughter of Levi M. Leitzell of Watervliet, New York.

FRANK D. BIGAREL, M.D.

Frank D. Bigarel, Port Leyden, New York, physician and surgeon, is a native of St. Lawrence county, New York, born August 16, 1860, son of Christopher Bigarel and Samantha M. Pike, his wife. His father was a native of France and his mother of Vermont, born of English stock.

Dr. Bigarel's earlier education was acquired in the Spragueville Graded School, where he graduated in 1880, and in the Ives Seminary, Antwerp, New York, where he graduated in 1882. Later he took up the study of medicine and was graduated from the Albany Medical College, in 1900, in which year he was president of his class.

From 1881 to 1885, inclusive, he was a principal in the graded schools, and from the latter year until 1900 he was engaged in business as a merchant. Since July, 1900, he has been engaged in medical practice in Port Leyden.

Politically Dr. Bigarel is a Democrat and has held the following public offices: Trustee of the Village of Port Leyden, 1903; president of the village, 1904; health officer of the town of Leyden since 1901; and during the past three years he has been a member of the Board of Education. In 1903 and also in 1904 he was Democratic nominee for the assembly from Lewis county. Although a Democrat in general he is an independent with liberal views.

He is a member of the Lewis County Medical Society. He married, in 1884, Almeda L. Read. They have had one child, Claude F., who was born in 1887, and died in 1888.

GEORGE VAN SICLEN WILLIAMS, LL.B.

George Van Siclen Williams, Brooklyn, New York, attorney and counsellor at law, junior member of the firm of Dailey & Williams, and one of the most capable trial lawyers of the Brooklyn bar, was born in the town of Rockland, Sullivan county, New York, June 6, 1869, son of Cornelius Crispel Williams and Mary Jocelyn, his wife, a descendant of Welsh stock on his father's side and of English ancestors on his mother's side.

His earlier and literary education was acquired in the public schools of Bainbridge, Chenango county, New York, and in Delaware Academy in Delhi. He first began the study of law in his father's office and later entered Albany Law School, from which he was graduated in 1890, with the degree of LL.B. Since he came to the bar he has practiced in New York city and for about one year was managing attorney in the office of Henry A. Robinson, where he became well grounded in corporation law, particularly in the branch of that limitless field which relates to railroad law. Thus it was that he became trial lawyer for the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, and fought the legal battles of that corporation in the courts for a period of nearly ten years. In 1904 he formed a partnership with Judge Dailey, taking the place of Colonel J. D. Bell, who had recently become assistant corporation counsel for the borough of Brooklyn.

Although at all times a busy lawyer, Mr. Williams is interested in various enterprises outside of general practice, among which may be mentioned the Seaboard Construction Company, of which he is a director. He is a member of the Brooklyn Club, the Crescent Club, and in politics is a firm Democrat, being a member of the law committee of the Kings County Democratic Committee. He married, April 14, 1896, May Louise Carll, daughter of the late Timothy Carll of Babylon, Long Island, and has one child, George Carll Williams.

MERLIN J. ZEH, M.D.

Merlin J. Zeh, a physician of Watervliet, New York, since 1889, was born in Knox, New York, August 2, 1867, son of Elias Zeh and Annie Elizabeth Osterhout, his wife, and is of German and Holland Dutch extraction. His paternal great-grandfather was John Zeh, who came from Germany.

Dr. Zeh was educated in Knox Academy, after which he taught school in Albany and Schoharie counties two years. In 1885 he entered the drug business and was actively engaged in trade during his college studies. He entered Albany Medical College in 1886, and graduated therefrom in 1889 with the degree of M.D., vice-president of the class.

Immediately after graduation Dr. Zeh located for practice in Watervliet, where he has since continued. He was city physician of Watervliet three years. He is a member of the American Medical Association, the New York State Medical Association, the Rensselaer County and the Troy and Vicinity Medical societies, and member, secretary and treasurer of the Albany County Medical Association. He also is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa college fraternity, a Thirty-second degree Mason and an Odd Fellow.

Dr. Zeh married (first), March 26, 1890, Charlotte B. Cullen, daughter of James Cullen of Watervliet. She died, August 9, 1904, leaving two children—Arthur Preston and Florence Julia Zeh. He married (second), August 16, 1905, Laura Alice Wright of Troy, New York.

FRANCIS WILLARD ST. JOHN, M.D.

Francis Willard St. John, Charlton, Saratoga county, New York, physician, was born at Milton, New York, February 12, 1865, son of Jacob St. John and Angelina Holcomb, his wife. He is of English descent on the paternal side and Welsh on the maternal.

His earlier education was acquired in district schools and in Albany Academy, and his medical training in Albany Medical College, where he graduated in 1887, since when he has been engaged in general practice.

He is a member of the New York State Medical Society, the Saratoga County Medical Society and of the National Medical Association, and is also a Mason, belonging to St. John's Lodge No. 22, and a member of the Knights of Pythias, Silver Acorn Lodge No. 279. Politically he is a Republican. He married, February 14, 1888, Jennie Allen of Galway, New York. Their children are Harold, Marion and Ralph St. John.

GIDEON PARSONS NICHOLS, A.M., D.D.

Gideon Parson Nichols, Binghamton, New York, was born in Windsor, Berkshire county, Massachusetts, July 30, 1837, only child of Abiel Nichols and Jerusha Knight Parsons, his wife. He inherits Scotch-English blood, but is of New England stock. His great-grandfather, William Nichols, M.D., of London, came to America in 1760, and settled near what now is Fall River, Massachusetts. On the maternal side of the original ancestor in America was Cornet Joseph Parsons, who came from England and settled in Springfield, Massachusetts.

Gideon Parsons Nichols attended district school in Windsor and prepared for college at the Geneseo Academy, in Livingston county, New York. He entered Union College, and graduated in 1860 with the degree of A.B.; A.M. in course, soon after which he taught Latin and Greek in Warnerville Academy, Schoharie county, where he remained two years. He then became a student in the Princeton Theological Seminary, where he graduated in 1865, and in the fall of the same year he was ordained at Rochester, New York.

His first charge was at Victor, Ontario county, New York, where he remained three years, in 1869 accepting a call to the Olivet Presbyterian Church of Chicago, Illinois, his pastorate there extending through a period of two years. He then removed to Milwaukee and assumed charge of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church; he effected the union of the old and new school Presbyterian churches and also received the membership of a disrupted Congregational church into his parish. Here he continued for about eleven years, then, in 1881, responded to an urgent call from the First Presbyterian Church of Binghamton. In January, 1906, he resigned, after a pastorate of very near a quarter of a century, during which period he has been an influential head of Presbyterianism, and through him other churches of that denomination have been established in the city.

From 1875 until 1881 Dr. Nichols was a trustee of Lake Forest University, Lake Forest, Illinois, and during this time received the degree D.D. from that institution. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon and Phi Beta Kappa college societies, the Binghamton Club, the Broome County Country Club and the Broome County Historical Society. In his political sympathies he is a Republican.

Dr. Nichols married, June 22, 1871, Delia Briggs Nichols of Rochester. Their children are Robert Hastings, Margaret Parsons, Henry James, Content Shepard and James Knight Nichols.

FRANK HOWARD RANSOM, A.B.

Frank Howard Ransom, Buffalo, New York, by profession a lawyer, but in active business life president of D. Ransom, Son & Company, manufacturers of proprietary medicines, is a native of Earlville, Madison county, New York, born May 8, 1846, son of David Ransom and Rosina Maria Towne, his wife, and is of English descent.

Mr. Ransom was given a good academic education, after which, in 1863, he entered as a student Tufts College, where he remained two years and then transferred his attendance to Union College, graduating from that institution with the degree of A.B. in 1867, winner of the Blatchford second prize.

After leaving college Mr. Ransom took up the study of law and in 1868 was admitted to the bar. He practiced law for four years and then entered into partnership with his father under the firm name of D. Ransom, Son & Company, manufacturers of proprietary medicines, which it still continued by the incorporated company, of which Mr. Ransom is the president and a director. In college he was a Phi Beta Kappa man; in politics he votes independently of party ties. In 1869 he married Isabel Clara Jones, who died in 1885, leaving two children, Frank Howard Ransom, Jr., and Martha Louie Ransom, now Mrs. E. S. Saylor.

ORSON CULVER RICHARDS.

Orson Culver Richards, Albany, New York, assistant engineer in the service of the state of New York, is a native of Sandy Hill, New York, born June 7, 1873, son of Eber Richards and Mary Eliza Culver, his wife.

His early education was acquired in the public schools of Sandy Hill, and his secondary education in the high school of that village, where he graduated in 1891 and prepared for college. The next year was spent in travel, after which he entered Union College for the class of 1895, but left the college for the time and transferred his attendance to the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio, where he was a student, taking up special work in steam engineering, during a part of the year 1894. He returned to Union College to complete the course, but in the spring of 1895 was stricken with typhoid and unable to attend to his studies for a year, after which he decided not to return to the college again.

In 1896 Mr. Richards began his active business career as draughtsman in the employ of the Sandy Hill Brass and Iron Works, remaining there until the spring of the next year, when he engaged with the North River Garnet Company, which was followed by a period of service as rodman in the engineering department of New York state. In the winter of 1899-1900 he was employed by the South Chicago Furnace Company, later by the Sandy Hill Iron and Brass Works in charge of the construction of a new plant, after which he was assistant superintendent in the work of constructing the Sandy Hill sewer system. He next superintended the erection of new buildings for the Schroon River Paper Company and the construction of the Warrensburg sewer system, then returned to Sandy Hill to take charge of certain paving work, after which he came again to Albany in the capacity of draughtsman, and in the latter part of the year 1905 was made assistant engineer in the service of the State of New York.

MICHAEL KEENAN, M.D.

Michael Keenan, physician and surgeon, Troy, New York, is a native of Saranac, Clinton county, New York, born July 31, 1860, son of Michael Keenan and Rosanna Carroll, his wife, and is of Irish extraction, although his father was born in Vermont and afterward for many years a resident of Dannemora, New York. He was born July 13, 1830.

Dr. Keenan acquired his early education in the public schools and graduated from Plattsburg High School in 1880. In 1885 he entered as a student the University of Michigan, remained there one year, then removed to Albany and matriculated at Albany Medical College, where he came to his degree in medicine in 1888.

After leaving the college Dr. Keenan served six months as interne at St. Peter's Hospital in Albany, and then, being well grounded in medicine, he established himself in active practice in Troy, where he has since lived, and where, in connection with professional work, he has served as attending physician to Troy Hospital and also to the House of the Good Shepherd. He is a member of the Rensselaer County Medical Society and of the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society, is an Elk and a Knight of Columbus.

On November 5, 1902, Dr. Keenan married Rose J. Mehan, by whom he has one son, William Keenan.

EPHRIAM CLARK MURRAY, A.B.

Ephriam Clark Murray, Graham, North Carolina, pastor, was born on Edisto Island, South Carolina, February 5, 1861, son of Dr. Joseph James Murray and Susan Jane Clark, his wife. Both Murrays and Clarks were Scotch-Irish settlers on Edisto Island about the year 1700, and have always been prominent families in the community.

His elementary education was acquired in Edisto Island School, where he attended from 1872 until 1875, his secondary education in Columbia Male Academy, Columbia, South Carolina, 1875-78, and his collegiate training in Union College, which institution he entered in 1878 and where he graduated in 1882, with the degree of A.B., and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. His training in theology was gained at the Columbia Theological Seminary, where he graduated in 1885.

Since 1885 he has been in the Presbyterian ministry and has held pastorates as follows: Marion, North Carolina, 1885-87; Summerville, South Carolina, 1887-91; Alamance Church, Guilford county, North Carolina, 1891-92; Mebane, North Carolina, 1892-94, and again from 1897 to 1901. Since 1901 Mr. Murray has been pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Graham. For two years, 1892-94, he was principal of the high school of Orange Presbytery at Mebane, and from 1894 to 1897 he was president of the Presbyterian College of South Carolina, at Clinton.

Mr. Murray is a member of the Sigma Phi society of Union College, admitted in 1878, of Phi Beta Kappa, 1882, and of the Knights of Pythias, 1902. He married, February 12, 1889, at Summerville, South Carolina, Lillian Norwood Leiby, by whom he has seven children: Joseph James, Lillian Norwood, Edward Clark, Robert Leiby, Florence Annie, Marion Julian and Jean Graham.

CLARENCE JOHNSON, A.B.

Clarence Johnson, New York city, superintendent of the Goodwin Car Company of that city, was born June 25, 1869, in Schenectady, New York, son of William Johnson and Mary Van Vorst, his wife. On the paternal side he is of Irish-Dutch descent from ancestors who emigrated to Montgomery county, New York, about the year 1700. On the maternal side he is of Dutch descent from ancestors emigrating to Saratoga, Schenectady and Greene counties, New York, about the year 1660.

He was educated in the public schools of Schenectady, graduating from the Union Classical Institute in 1886, and from Union College, where he took a classical course, with the degree of A.B. in 1890. He was assistant inspecting engineer of the Illinois Steel Company at South Chicago, Illinois, from 1890 to 1895; superintendent for Haines & Company, piano manufacturers, from 1895 to 1898, and superintendent for the Goodwin Car Company since 1898.

Mr. Johnson has been treasurer of the Union College Alumni Association of New York since 1904. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi Fraternity of Union College, the Alpha Delta Phi Club of New York city, the New York Railroad Club and the Schenectady Historical Society. Politically he is a Republican. He married, October 10, 1891, Maude W. Van Vranken, and has one daughter, Margaret Van Vranken Johnson, who was born June 15, 1905.

NATHANIEL EMMONS PAINE, A.B., A.M., M.D.

Nathaniel Emmons Paine, West Newton, Massachusetts, physician and surgeon, professor of mental diseases, Boston University School of Medicine, was born at New Hartford, Oneida county, New York, July 14, 1853, son of Horace Marshfield Paine, M.D., and Charlotte Mann, his wife. He is of the eight generation from Thomas Paine, who came from Great Yarmouth, England, to Salem, Massachusetts, in 1637, in his own vessel, the "Mary Anne," and brought his family and some friends. They were Puritans and came to America for religious freedom. On the maternal side he is of the eighth generation from William Man, who came from England about 1640; his son, the Rev. Samuel Man, pastor in Dedham and Wrentham, was one of the early graduates of Harvard College.

Dr. Paine's earlier education was acquired in the Albany Academy and in Professor Lewis Collins' private school in Albany; his literary education in Hamilton College, Clinton, New York, where he came to the degree of A.B. in 1874, receiving the degree of A.M. from that institution in 1877, and his medical education in the Albany Medical College, where he was graduated, M.D., in 1875, valedictorian of his class. This medical course was supplemented by training in Europe, mostly in Vienna, Austria, where he remained from February, 1876, until April, 1877.

He first took up professional work on May 1, 1877, as assistant physician in the Middletown State Homoeopathic Hospital, and continued there until October 1, 1880. He was superintendent of the Westborough Insane Hospital (Massachusetts), from April, 1885, to February, 1892, and is now proprietor and medical director of the Newton Nervine, a private hospital for nervous and mild mental invalids, established February 1, 1892, and is also proprietor of the Newton Sanatorium, for nervous invalids, established in 1900. He is state trustee, and consulting physician on insanity, of the Massachusetts Homoeopathic Hospital at Boston; consulting physician on nervous diseases at the Newton Hospital; secretary of the consulting board of physicians and surgeons of the Westborough Insane Hospital.

Dr. Paine is a member of the American Medico Psychological Association, the American Institute of Homoeopathy, the Massachusetts Homoeopathic Medical Society, the Boston Homoeopathic Medical Society and is an honorary member of the Maine, Connecticut, and the New York State Homoeopathic Medical societies. In connection with his membership in these societies he writes articles on medical subjects, these being published in their journals and transactions. He married, June 5, 1879, at Albany, Harriet Banks Gould, daughter of William Gould, law book publisher of Albany. Their children are: Alice Paine, Nathaniel E. Paine, Jr., and Mary Paine.

EDGAR STARR BARNEY, C.E., A.M., Sc.D.

Edgar Starr Barney, New York city, principal of the Hebrew Technical Institute, former trustee of Union College, is a native of Worcester, Otsego county, New York, born April 10, 1861, son of Ansyl Barney and Sarah Ann Starr, his wife. His ancestors in the paternal line were of Scotch origin, but the history of the family in this country dates to 1630 in the colony of Massachusetts Bay, in which the Barney family was among the earliest planters.

Professor Barney acquired his elementary education in the Worcester public schools, his secondary education in Worcester High School, and his higher education in Union College, from which he was graduated in 1884, with the degrees of A.B. and C.E., 1884; A.M., 1887; Sc.D., 1904. While in college he was appointed to a clerkship in the service of the Hudson River Day Line steamers, and now is the auditor of passenger accounts of that company and also of the Mary Powell Steamboat Company. In the fall of 1884 he was appointed instructor of English and mathematics in the Gramercy Park Schools of New York city, and occupied that position until 1887, when he became instructor in the English department of the Hebrew Technical Institute, of which he has been the principal since 1893.

He was elected trustee of Union College in 1897, and served until 1901. Since 1892 he has been secretary of the Union College Alumni Association of New York. He is a life fellow of the American Geographical Society, member of the New York Library Club, the New York Electrical Society, the National Education Association, the Eastern Manual Training Association, and Society of Social Workers of New York, and in politics is a Republican. Professor Barney was married, June 8, 1886, to Clara Electa Mills of Rahway, New Jersey.

WILLIAM JAMES PEDDIE, M.D.

William James Peddie, a practitioner of medicine and surgery in Fultonville, New York, since 1882, is a native of Broadalbin, Fulton county, New York, born January 7, 1858, son of Daniel M. Peddie and Mary Barker, his wife. His grandparents on the paternal side emigrated from Perthshire, Scotland, about 1800; on the maternal side he is descended from Vermont Yankees, who afterward became Quakers.

His early and literary education was acquired in the public schools of his native place and in Amsterdam Academy. He commenced the study of medicine under the preceptorship of Dr. James Schoon of Amsterdam, New York, and then matriculated at Albany Medical College, from which he was graduated with the M.D. degree in 1882. His preceptor in Albany was Dr. Albert Vander Veer. He located for practice in Fultonville immediately after graduation.

Dr. Peddie served as president of the village of Fultonville two years; as member of the Board of Education six years, and as president of that board two years, which position he still holds. He also served as county physician eight years and as pension examiner ten years. He is a member of the New York State Medical Society, and the Montgomery County Medical Society, and at different times has held all the offices in the latter organization. In politics he is a Republican. He also is medical examiner for the New York, the Mutual of New York, the Equitable, the Travelers of Hartford, the Aetna and the Phoenix Life Insurance companies.

Dr. Peddie married (first) on April 29, 1883, Ella Gardner of Albany, New York. She died November 6, 1885, leaving one son, Bertram Peddie. He married (second) on January 19, 1888, Carrie McIntire of Perth, Fulton county, and they have three children: J. McIntire, Edith V., and Donald D. Peddie.

MARTIN LUTHER HOLLISTER, LL.B.

Martin Luther Hollister, New York city, lawyer, former circuit attorney for the sixteenth judicial circuit of Missouri, is a native of Cocksackie, Greene county, New York, born August 2, 1839, son of William Henry Hollister and Judith Ann Lampman, and a descendant of John Hollister, an Englishman (born 1612) who immigrated to America from Bristol, England, about 1642, and was one of the early planters in the colony at Wethersfield, Connecticut.

John Hollister married Joana Treat, daughter of Richard Treat, esquire, and from them have descended the thousands who now bear the surname of Hollister in America. Timothy Hollister, descendant of John of the sixth generation and grandfather of Martin L. Hollister of New York, was born in Sharon, Connecticut, September 6, 1768, and afterward settled in Cocksackie, New York where he was first a carpenter and later a farmer. He married, April 27, 1800, Althea Cornwall, who bore him several children, one of whom, William Henry Hollister, born in Coxsackie, August 25, 1809, by occupation, was first a blacksmith and afterward a farmer. In September, 1833, he married Judith Ann Lampman, daughter of Isaac Lampman and his wife, who was Miss Spoor, both of whom were of Dutch descent.

Martin Luther Hollister was born and reared on a farm. His early education was acquired in the town district school and he later attended Coxsackie Academy and the Fort Plain Seminary, and fitted for college at the Hudson River Institute at Claverack, New York. He then began the study of law in the office of Beach & Smith of Troy, New York, and from that office was admitted to the bar in Albany in 1865; but instead of at once taking up practice he entered Albany Law School, and was graduated from that institution in 1866, with the degree of LL.B.

After graduation Mr. Hollister went to Missouri with letters of introduction from Hon. Ira Harris to B. Gratz Brown and John B. Henderson, then senators in Congress from that state, and began the practice of law in Hannibal and soon attained an enviable standing at the Marion county bar. After about a year he was appointed county attorney for Marion county, and in 1868 was the successful candidate for the office of circuit attorney for the 16th judicial district of Missouri, running on the same ticket with Grant in his first candidacy for the office of president. His term of office was four years.

The sixteenth judicial circuit at that time comprised five counties, and the duties of the office to which Mr. Hollister was then elected made it incumbent on him to prosecute all crimes committed within that jurisdiction. During his term several noted cases arose in the circuit, one of which was the murder of Gilbert Gates, brother of John W. Gates, the famous Wall street operator. The homicide in question was charged against Alexander Jester, and was committed in Monroe county, a part of the 16th circuit. Jester was arrested and arraigned upon an indictment secured by Mr. Hollister and pleaded "not guilty." His trial was put over to the next term of court and the prisoner was remanded to jail, from which he escaped and remained at large more than twenty years. He was rearrested in Kansas City and quite recently was tried at New London, Missouri, and was acquitted, the long lapse of years between the crime and ultimate trial of the case having destroyed much of the evidence necessary to conviction of the accused.

During his four years' incumbency of the circuit attorneyship Mr. Hollister gained an excellent reputation as a successful public prosecutor, and it has been said of him that he followed the precept of General Grant—"Let no guilty man escape;" and it may be said further that few, indeed, of the crimes committed within his jurisdiction were allowed to go unpunished.

Private civil practice there at that time (not many years after the close of the civil war) was also interesting to a northern man, if not strenuous, as the following one of several incidents will show: Mr. Hollister was called upon by a Republican client from Illinois to defend an action that had been brought against him in the state of Missouri by a former well known and prominent slave holder and planter, an elderly man who had a family of sons of large stature. The day of trial came, and was held twenty miles back in the country, in an old school—a barn-like structure. The plaintiff's sons and most of the people from the surrounding country were attracted to the place to see and hear the trial. The jury was empanelled and the trial began; the plaintiff was on the witness stand and Mr. Hollister was cross-examining him, during which he put a question that seemed to the plaintiff and the audience to imply that the plaintiff had not exactly adhered to the truth in all his statements (Mr. Hollister having been reared and educated in a section of the country where such a question would not be treated as an immediate casus belli), when, instantly, the witness bounded out of his chair and grabbed for Mr. Hollister's throat, breathing vengeance upon him, and at the same time his action was the signal for the drawing of many revolvers by that ordering audience, pointing them at Mr. Hollister and accompanying that act with the cry of "Shoot the d——d black rascal." After the court and officials had partially restored order the case went on, but to only one inevitable verdict, as defendant and his attorney were strangers in a strange land, and with no library to consult had no means of filing a brief that could counteract the above "brief" so suddenly and forcibly "filed" by the plaintiff.

After the expiration of his term of office Mr. Hollister removed to Saint Louis and devoted himself to the more congenial general practice of the civil courts, in association with the late Samuel M. Breckenridge, but owing to the peculiar climate of the southwest, which had made inroads on his physical health, he returned with his wife to his native state and established himself in practice in New York city, where he still lives. He still retains, however, something of his old-time interest in public and political affairs, although he has never been in any sense a seeker after political honors, notwithstanding the candidacy for various offices sought to be put on him by the conventions of the Republican party. He once stood for the assembly in a hopelessly Democratic district and of course was defeated at the polls. For several years he was a member of the New York county Republican committee, several times a delegate to Republican state conventions, and in 1897 was a delegate to the first Greater New York Republican convention. He was fire marshal of New York city from 1895 to 1897, during the administration of Mayor Strong, and member of the Dewey celebration committee in 1898, appointed by Mayor Van Wyck. He is a member of the District Republican Club, the Society of Medical Jurisprudence of New York city, and of the Greene County Society.

In 1872 Martin Luther Hollister married Emily Clute, who was a daughter of Dr. Nicholas Clute and Maria Van Bergen, and who died childless in 1896.

WILLIAM ASAPH HOLMAN, A.B., LL.B.

William Asaph Holman, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, manager of the Philadelphia Underwriters, former member of the bar of Warren county, New York, was born at Glens Falls in the county just mentioned, October 21, 1856, son of DeWitt Clinton Holman and Lucina M. Shurtleff, his wife. His earlier education was acquired in Glens Falls Academy and under the instruction of private tutors and his higher education in Union College, where he took the scientific course and was graduated in 1877, with the degree of A.B. He was educated for the law in Albany Law School, graduating from there in 1879, LL.B. In the same year he was admitted to practice in the courts of New York state and became a member of the Warren county bar; but in less than a year afterward he discontinued practice and engaged with the Glens Falls Fire Insurance Company in the capacity of special agent. This was the beginning of a new career and one in which he has achieved splendid success in later years. He represented the Glens Falls company from 1880 to 1884 and then became special agent for the Fire Association of Philadelphia, serving until 1887, when he was appointed general agent of the Liberty Fire Insurance Company of New York. In 1890 he was appointed special agent and soon afterward was elected secretary of the Continental Fire Insurance Company of New York, continuing as such until 1896. Since the year last mentioned he has been manager of the Philadelphia Underwriters.

Mr. Holman is one of the best known fire insurance men in the east, and owes much of his success in business life to his early training in "Old Union" at Schenectady and its law department at Albany. He is a member of the Fire Insurance Society and of the Down Town Club of Philadelphia. On the 2nd of June, 1880, he married Minnie Louise Locke.

WILLIAM KNOX GILCHRIST, A.B.

William Knox Gilchrist, New York city, lawyer, is a native of West Charlton, Saratoga county, New York, born November 2, 1861, son of James George Gilchrist and Jane Knox, his wife, and great-grandson of Alexander Gilchrist, who emigrated from Scotland soon after the Revolution and was one of the pioneers of Saratoga county. His son James was born there in 1795, as also was James George Gilchrist, son of James and father of William. On the maternal side also Mr. Gilchrist comes of Scotch ancestors, his great-grandfather, Peter Knox, having been the pioneer of his family in the town of West Galway in Saratoga county, where some of his descendants have ever since continued to live.

Mr. Gilchrist acquired his earlier education in the public schools and prepared for college in Charlton Academy. He entered Union College in 1879, taking the classical course, and was graduated in 1883, A.B., honor man, winner of the Warner prize, and Phi Beta Kappa. After leaving college he began the study of law with Judge Jesse S. L'Amoreaux of Ballston Spa, remained there one year and then took the complete two years' course of lectures in one year in Columbia Law School. In June, 1885, he was admitted to practice in the courts of New York state, and from that time has been actively identified with the professional life of New York city, a well known figure in the courts of the metropolitan district and a lawyer of good report in all professional circles. He holds membership in the Saratoga Society of New York city, Phi Beta Kappa, the Quill Club, and in politics is a Republican. June 5, 1894, Mr. Gilchrist married Harriet A. Colton of Clifton Springs, New York, by whom he has had two children: William Colton Gilchrist, who died in September, 1897, and Katherine Knox Gilchrist.

THOMAS HAMLIN HUBBARD, A.B.

Thomas Hamlin Hubbard, familiarly addressed as General Hubbard, a railroad and corporation lawyer of New York city, president of the New England Society in the City of New York, and president of the International Banking Corporation, was born in Hallowell, Maine, December 20, 1838, son of Dr. John Hubbard and Sarah Hodge Barrett. John Hubbard was a physician and surgeon, as also were his father and grandfather, both of whom bore the christian name of John. Dr. Hubbard, grandfather of the general, moved from Kingston, New Hampshire to Readfield, Maine, and there the younger Dr. John Hubbard was born March 22, 1794. Sarah Hodge Barrett was a descendant of Thomas Barrett of Braintree, Massachusetts (1635). Her mother was Elizabeth Carleton.

Thomas H. Hubbard acquired his earlier education at Hallowell Academy and his higher education at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, where he graduated in the regular classical course in 1857. He studied law in Maine, was admitted to practice in the courts of that state, and after his removal to New York state he attended upon the courses of Albany Law School. Still later he continued his studies in New York city and was admitted to practice in 1861.

Soon after he came to the bar in New York Mr. Hubbard returned to Maine and entered the military service with troops of that state. He was in the United States service in the field in Virginia, Louisiana, and again in Virginia until the end of hostilities in the early summer of 1865; was first lieutenant and adjutant of the Twenty-fifth Maine Infantry; lieutenant-colonel and colonel of the Thirtieth Maine Infantry, and brigadier general by brevet.

Returning to New York in the fall of 1865 he engaged in the general practice of law, and now for more than forty years has been a prominent figure in professional circles in the metropolitan district. Of late, however, he has discontinued general practice and given attention chiefly to railroad and corporation management. He was the first vice-president of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and president of several of its affiliated roads for some years. He is now president of the International Banking Corporation and an officer and director of other banks and several railroad companies; commander of New York Commandery of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States and president of the New England Society in the City of New York.

He also is a member of the Union League Club of New York, the Century, Metropolitan, Riding, Republican, Lawyers, Down Town and Army and Navy clubs and of the New York Bar Association. In 1868 he married Sibyl A. Fahnestock of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and has three children surviving: John, Sibyl E. and Anna W. Hubbard.

WILLIAM E. WOOLLARD, LL.B.

William E. Wollard, attorney and counsellor at law of Albany, New York, is a native of that city, born in 1876, of English-Irish parents of humble circumstances. He graduated from the public school in 1891, and in 1893 began the study of law in the office of G. DeW. Hurlburt, and by private study acquired the necessary standing to enter the Albany Law School in 1896, from which he was graduated in 1897, and immediately undertook the practice of his profession.

Success as a practitioner attended Mr. Wollard from the beginning. Commencing in 1899 as attorney for the striking street laborers, he became attorney for the organized workingmen of the city of Albany, and thereafter became the advisor and counsel for the workingmen in many difficulties which followed. He was attorney for the employes of the United Traction Company in the strike of 1901, and throughout that trouble coun-elled against violence, and successfully defended all the accused employes in the trials in the courts which followed the settlement of the successful strike. His successful defense of Rhoda Porter, a colored woman, in a murder trial in 1900, also gave him prominence.

As a lawyer Mr. Wollard has the most extensive practice of any of the younger members of his profession in his native city, and he has appeared in many important civil and criminal trials. In 1901 he was elected, on the Republican ticket, justice of the City Court of Albany for the term of six years, and has since filled that position with credit to himself and the community.

He is unmarried, and is popular with all classes; is a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, and past master of DeWitt Clinton Council No. 22, R. & S. M.; is an Odd Fellow, Elk, Red Man, member of the Unconditional Republican and Press clubs; a member of the Old Guard, Company C, Tenth Battalion, N. G. S. N. Y., and a director and vice-president of the Torrance Malleable Iron Company of Green Island, New York.

MARSHALL CALKINS, M.D., A.M.

Marshall Calkins of Springfield, Massachusetts, an active medical practitioner of that city for more than forty-five years, in Hampden county for almost sixty years, and who is regarded as the best authority in that county on the history of its medical profession, was born in Wilbraham, Hampden county, Massachusetts, September 2, 1828, son of Luke Calkins and Polly Hancock. On the paternal side he is a descendant of Hugh Calkins, who came from England and settled at Gloucester, Massachusetts, in 1638. On the maternal side he descends from Nathaniel Hancock, who settled at Cambridge in 1636. John Hancock of Revolutionary fame was a descendant from this same Nathaniel Hancock.

Dr. Calkins attended the common schools of Wilbraham and also Wesleyan Academy at that place until he was seventeen years old, and after leaving the academy he was a student two terms in Wesleyan University at Middletown, Connecticut. He was educated in medicine under the private preceptorship of Dr. Calvin Newton of Worcester, Massachusetts, and also attended upon the courses of Worcester Medical Institution, and he graduated in medicine before taking the classical course in Union College. He matriculated at the college in 1851 and was graduated in 1853 with the degree of A.B.

The professional career of Dr. Calkins was begun in the old town of Monson, Massachusetts, where he practiced in 1848 and 1849. From 1854 to 1860 he lived and practiced in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and while there took post-graduate studies at the Pennsylvania Hospital in 1856 and 1857. In 1867 and 1868 he was a student of medicine at Dartmouth Medical College; and still later in life, in 1883 and 1884, he visited Europe and studied specially at the University of Vienna and also in King's College Hospital in London, where he was a pupil under Lister. From 1873 to 1878 he held the chair of physiology and microscopic anatomy in the University of Vermont.

For nearly sixty years Dr. Calkins has been a prominent figure in professional circles. He has been physician to Springfield Hospital; consulting physician to Springfield Hospital and House of Mercy Hospital; physician to the Home for Friendless Women and Children for thirty-eight years; examining surgeon for pensions, and it was he who originated and practically founded Provident Dispensary. He is a member of the American Medical Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Massachusetts State Medical Society, honorary member of Vermont Medical Society and a corresponding member of the Boston Gynecological Society. He also is a Mason, member of Hampden Lodge. October 15, 1855, Dr. Calkins married Adelaide Augusta Hosmer, by whom he has one son, Cheney Hosmer Calkins, an ophthalmologist and otologist of Springfield, Massachusetts.

CHARLES TUBBS, Ph.B., A.B., LL.B.

Charles Tubbs, attorney and counsellor at law of Osceola, Pennsylvania, was born in that borough July 11, 1843, son of James Tubbs and Anna Gleason his wife, and is a descendant of the ninth generation of William Tubbs of the Plymouth colony, 1635. William Tubbs married Mary Spencer, 1637. Their son Samuel of New London, Connecticut, married Mary Willey and had a son, Samuel Tubbs of Lyme, Connecticut, who married Elizabeth Lay. Their son Samuel, also of Lyme, married Mercy ——— and had a son Lebbeus Tubbs of Grand Pré, Nova Scotia, Wyoming, Pennsylvania, and Newtown (Elmira) New York, who married Bathsheba Hamilton. Their son Samuel Tubbs of Wyoming, Pennsylvania, Newtown, New York, and Elkland, Pennsylvania, married Sarah Susannah Dorrance and had a son, Samuel Tubbs of Newtown and Elkland, who married Permelia Taylor. Their son, James Tubbs, married Anna Gleason and had a son, Charles, the subject of this sketch.

When a boy, Mr. Tubbs attended school at Osceola, later was a student at Knoxville Academy, at Knoxville, Pennsylvania (1859), Alfred Academy, at Alfred, New York, in 1861, and graduated from Alfred University, Ph.B. in 1862. He then entered Union College, and was graduated from there with the degree A.B. in 1864. He was educated for the law at the University of Michigan, law department, graduating from there LL.B. in 1867.

Before he entered Union College, Mr. Tubbs was a teacher in Union Academy, and also at Wellsboro Academy. Soon after he came to the bar he became interested in Republican politics, and going to Harrisburg was made transcribing clerk of the house of representatives, serving during the winter of 1869-70. In 1880 his prominence as a political leader led to his election to the house of representatives, and he was a member of that body four years. He served on the federal relations, judicial apportionment, elections and judiciary committees. He was appointed by the governor a member of the commission on prisons, and as the results of the examinations, studies and reports of that commission the Huntington State Reformatory was established.

During his term of office the exciting senatorial contest occurred which finally resulted in the election of John I. Mitchell to the United States senate. The next notable event was the extra session called by Governor Pattison to reapportion the state. The attempt, however, was futile, although the session lasted from the 7th of June to the 7th of December.

In many ways Mr. Tubbs was an efficient worker and made his influence felt while a member of the legislature. In 1879, 1883 and again in 1891 he represented Tioga county in Republican state conventions. In 1876 and 1878 he was presiding officer of the Republican County Convention. In 1894 he was congressional conferee of his district and now again holds that position. At the last primary in Tioga county he was a candidate against Senator Quay, and after a series of exciting meetings was chosen a candidate for senator in congress by the vote of Tioga county republicans in convention.

From 1892 to 1896 Mr. Tubbs served as president of the Cowanesque Valley Agricultural Society, from 1888 to 1896 was a director of Wellsboro National Bank, and he has been a trustee of the Pennsylvania State Hospital at Blossburg since it was established in 1890. He has been a member of the Tioga county bar since his admission to practice. He practices in all the courts of the commonwealth and also in the United States District Court. In 1891 he became a member of the Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution.

He has been a somewhat prolific writer, and among his published works may be mentioned "The History of Deerfield, Knoxville and Osceola," 1883; "Osceola in the War of the Rebellion," 1885; "Lycoming Centennial," 1896; "History of the Presbyterian Church in Elkland," 1893, besides various other works. He has served as director of the Osceola School Board for twenty years and has held various other local offices. In 1879 he married Miss Sylvina Bacon of Osceola, a sister of Hon. James Bacon of Elmira. He has one son—Warren Tubbs.

ARTHUR S. GOLDEN, A.B.

Arthur S. Golden, Schenectady, New York, lawyer, was born at Rensselaerville, Albany county, New York, October 20, 1879, son of M. S. Golden and Mary Elizabeth Colbourne, his wife. He is of English and Dutch descent.

The foundation of his education was laid in the public and high schools of Albany, and his literary training was completed in Union College, where he received the A.B. degree in 1901. He then studied law with John D. Miller, and after he was admitted to practice, November 17, 1904, became his partner under the firm style of Miller & Golden.

Mr. Golden is a member of the Schenectady County

Bar Association, the Mohawk Club, the Mohawk Golf Club, the Schenectady County Republican Club, the Chi Psi fraternity and of the Union College Athletic Board.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN DAKE, A.M., M.D.

Benjamin Franklin Dake, now a retired physician residing at Pasadena, California, was born in the town of Portage, Livingston county, New York, on the 16th day of December, 1831. He received his early education while living at the farm home of his parents and his preparatory course for college at Genesee Wesleyan Seminary at Lima, New York. He passed his freshman year at the New York Conference Seminary in New York state and entered the sophomore class at Union College in the fall of 1854, where he graduated in the regular classical course with the class of 1857, receiving the degree of A.B. and election to membership in Phi Beta Kappa. While in college he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

It was his original intention to enter the profession of law, but for lack of money to make the necessary preparation he turned his attention to teaching and was called to the principalship of Sodus Academy in Wayne County, New York, where he remained for one year after graduating from college. However, a more favorable opening presented in his appointment as principal of Clyde High School in the same county, and he filled that position for the next two years. During his pedagogical career Dr. Dake prepared many young men and women for college and other institutions of higher education, among them such distinguished persons as the late Judge Saxton of the Court of Claims of New York state, and who for several terms was a member of the New York legislature, senator, author of the famous "Saxton bill" and afterward lieutenant governor of the state.

Dr. Dake had attended one term at Albany Law School in preparation for practice, but having married in the meantime (Miss Louise D. O'Keefe, a former teacher in Sodus) he saw the need of early securing the means to maintain a family, realizing that as a rule it takes longer to get settled in paying practice in the law, and having a number of relatives already well established in the medical profession, among whom were his two brothers, he concluded to turn his attention that way. Accordingly he became a student in medicine in his brother's office, and after due time graduated from the old Western Homoeopathic Medical College of Cleveland, Ohio, in the spring of 1862.

He located for practice first at Mt. Morris, New York, near his old home, and remained there four years doing a successful business, but his ambition was not satisfied in that somewhat limited field, and as a more promising opportunity presented in a large city he formed a partnership with one of his professional relatives and located at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, in the spring of 1868. There he continued in uninterrupted practice until the winter of 1877, when he was called to lecture in Pulte Medical College at Cincinnati, Ohio. However, not willing to sacrifice a large and constantly increasing practice for the mere honor of holding a faculty chair in an institution of medical instruction, he left Pulte and returned to Pittsburg, where he lived until the latter part of the year 1900, and then removed with his family to Pasadena, California, where he has since lived; and now retired from active professional work he is content to live a quiet life on his suburban ranch and enjoy the sunshine and flowers of that delightful region.

Dr. Dake has been twice married. His first wife, Louise D. O'Keefe, died in the spring of 1877, leaving no children. In 1880 he married Anna M. McCague, only daughter of Robert McCague of Pittsburg and a sister of George E. McCague of the original Carnegie Steel Company of that city. By his second marriage Dr. Dake has two daughters and one son, who are still members of his household.

Having no political ambition to gratify Dr. Dake never would accept office or preferment which would in any manner interfere with the duties of professional life; but he has held many positions of responsibility of both professional and civil character.

CONRAD ROWLAND HOFFMAN, M.D.

Conrad Rowland Hoffman, Glens Falls, New York, physician, was born in Selkirk, Albany county, New York, March 21, 1880, son of Adam Hoffman and Barbara Kleinhans, his wife. He is of German descent, his father having emigrated from Germany about 1872 and settled in Bethel, Albany county.

Dr. Hoffman attended public schools of Selkirk and graduated from the Albany Normal High School, and afterward taught school during one year. He then entered the Albany Medical College, graduating from that institution in 1903. He served as interne at the Albany Hospital one year, then located at Glens Falls and began general practice.

Dr. Hoffman is a member of the Glens Falls Medical and Surgical Society, the Warren County Medical Society and the New York State Medical Association. Politically he is a Republican.

ANDREW WEBSTER ARCHIBALD, A.B., B.D., D.D.

Rev. Andrew Webster Archibald, clergyman of the Congregational Church, organizer of at least two church societies of that denomination, is now pastor of Potter Congregational Church of Brockton, Massachusetts, although his home is in New Haven, Connecticut. He entered Union College in 1868 and was graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1872, standing at the head of his class. He won the Nott scholarship prize, the Warner cup for general standing, the Blatchford first oratorical prize and also a general prize for literary ability as shown in an essay submitted. He was educated for the ministry in Yale Divinity School and graduated from that institution with the degree of B.D. in 1876. His honorary degree of D.D. was conferred by alma mater ("Old Union") in 1891.

For fully thirty years Dr. Archibald has been engaged in the active work of the ministry, and those years have been for him, his church and its people, and for the christian world at large a period of splendid success. By his work he has honored his diploma and the university which has bestowed on him her degrees.

The first sixteen years of his professional life were spent in Iowa, chiefly with the First Congregational Church of Ottumwa and the Edwards Church at Davenport. While living in the west, he at one time was president of the Iowa State Home Missionary Society, trustee of Iowa College and Iowa examiner for Chicago Theological Seminary.

From 1892 to 1897 Dr. Archibald was pastor of the First Congregational Church of Hyde Park, a suburb of Boston, Massachusetts, and since 1897 he has been pastor of Potter Congregational Church, Brockton, Massachusetts. Both of these churches number about seven hundred members. He organized the Second Congregational Church of Ottumwa, Iowa, and the Cliftondale Congregational Church at Saugus, a northern suburb of Boston. He has served as moderator of the Boston Ministers' Meeting, member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union, and delegate at large from Massachusetts to the National Congregational Council. He is an Alpha Delta Phi and Phi Beta Kappa member, and a member of the Boston Congregational Club.

Dr. Archibald is author of "The Bible Verified," which has gone to a fourth edition besides having been translated into Spanish and Japanese. He also wrote "The Trend of the Centuries" and has contributed to "Bibliotheca Sacra" of Oberlin "Congregationalist" of Boston and "Advance" of Chicago. He has visited Europe twice and in 1905 spent six months in foreign travel.

Andrew Webster Archibald was born at New Kingston, Delaware county, New York, on the 10th of April, 1851, son of Robert Archibald and Betsy Hamilton, and comes of Scotch ancestors. His grandparents on both sides were born in Scotland and came thence to America. His earlier education was acquired in district schools, Roxbury and Andes academies in Delaware county, and at the age of thirteen he received a testimonial signed by all his teachers that he sustained an examination equal to that of any teacher in the county. At the age of about seventeen he entered Union College, graduated from there in 1872, and from Yale Divinity School in 1876.

On the 18th of May, 1876, Dr. Archibald married Julia Agnes Warren of New Haven, Connecticut, by whom he has three sons: Warren, Kenneth and Cecil Archibald.

DANIEL BULL JACKSON, A.B.

Daniel Bull Jackson, a graduate of Union College, class of 1859, and a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, class of 1867, was born in Newburgh, New York, on March 6th, 1840, son of William Wickham and Catherine (Thompson) Jackson. He prepared for college at the Montgomery Academy, Montgomery, New York, and then entered "Old Union," taking the classical course, and graduating therefrom in 1859 with the degree of A. B., winner of the Warner prize. He was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and upon graduation was honored with election to the Phi Beta Kappa Society.

Having decided to enter the ministry Mr. Jackson matriculated at Princeton Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1867. He began active work in the ministry the same year and continued it until 1892, serving as pastor of several Presbyterian and Congregational churches in Minnesota and Wisconsin. In 1892 he was appointed assistant superintendent of the Children's Home Society of Minnesota, which position he held until the time of his death, which occurred at Minneapolis on November 13, 1899.

HENRY POWERS HAMMOND, A.M., M.D.

Henry Powers Hammond, physician and surgeon, in practice at Franklin, Pennsylvania, was born at Carson City, Nevada, June 4, 1871, son of John Dempster Hammond, D.D. and Sarah Elizabeth Powers, his wife. He is descended from William Hammond of London, England, whose son, Benjamin, emigrated to Boston in 1634, and whose descendants for eight generations have lived in America, mostly in New England. On the maternal side he is probably also of English descent, although it is not definitely traced. The family for many generations have lived in the eastern states.

Dr. Hammond was educated at the University of the Pacific from 1885 to 1887, when he took a classical course at the San Francisco Boys' High School, graduating in 1889. From 1889 to 1892 he took a scientific course at the University of California, then entered Stanford University and graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1893. After a year's postgraduate work, during which he was assistant instructor in physiology, he received the degree of A. M., in 1894.

Upon leaving Stanford University Dr. Hammond was made vice-principal and teacher of science in the high school at San Luis Obispo and held that position until 1896, when he matriculated at the Albany Medical College and upon the completion of his course in 1899 received the degree of M.D. While in college he was an assistant in histology and was alternate valedictorian of his class. From 1899 to 1901 he supplemented his professional training by post-graduate work at the New York Polyclinic and various New York hospitals and then located for practice in Franklin, where he has since continued.

In connection with an active practice Dr. Hammond is also surgeon for the Franklin Rolling Mills, the Colburn Machine Tool Company and the American Steel Foundries. He holds membership in the American Medical Association, the Venango County Medical Society, the Nu Sigma Nu medical fraternity and the Psi Upsilon college fraternity. On June 4, 1902, he married Florence Lyons Sprong of Slingerlands, New York.

FRANK MINER PATTERSON, A.B., LL.M.

Frank Miner Patterson, New York city, lawyer, was born in Albany, New York, June 29, 1873. His earlier education was acquired in the Albany public and high schools and he graduated from the latter in 1891. His higher education was acquired at Yale College, where he was graduated in 1896 with the degree of A.B. His preceptor in law was General Amasa J. Parker, and in the year 1898-1899 he attended Albany Law School.

In June, 1899, Mr. Patterson was admitted to practice in the courts of New York state, and soon afterward he entered the offices of Hornblower, Byrne, Miller & Potter, in New York city, where he has since lived. Two years later he became associated with Colonel Edward C. James and so continued until Colonel James' death in 1902. Since that time he has practiced alone.

Mr. Patterson is a member of several organizations and clubs, among them being the New York City Bar Association, the Yale Club of New York and the University Club of Albany. In politics he is a Democrat. At the commencement exercises of Union University, Department of Law, in June, 1904, the honorary degree of LL.M. was conferred upon him.

THOMAS LAMONT, A.M.

Thomas Lamont, Bound Brook, New Jersey, who has been a minister of the gospel for nearly half a century, is a native of New York, born in Charlotteville, Schoharie county, October 6, 1832, son of Thomas W. Lamont and Elizabeth Maria Payne, his wife. On the paternal side he is of Scotch-Irish descent, his ancestors having come to America about the year 1745; his ancestors on the maternal side came from England at a much earlier period.

He was educated in the common schools of Charlotteville until sixteen years of age, after which he was a student in the New York Conference Seminary three years, where he was prepared for college. He then entered the junior class of Union College, from which he was graduated in 1856, receiving his degree of A. B. from the hands of President Nott, and also election to the honorary Phi Beta Kappa. His degree of A.M. was conferred in 1859.

Before entering college and while he was preparing, Mr. Lamont taught one year in the Fort Plain Seminary at Fort Plain, New York, and then, in May, 1857, joined the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, with which he has since been identified, both as teacher and preacher. His ministerial and pedagogical career dating from 1856 has been as follows; teacher in the New York Conference Seminary three years; principal of that institution, by appointment of the New York Conference, two and one-half years; preacher in Fishkill village, 1859; in Charlotteville, 1860-61; Ridgebury, 1862; Monticello, 1863-65; Crawford, First Church, 1866-67; Deposit, 1868-69; Claverack, 1870-71; Katonah, 1872-74; Tremont, 1875; Catskill, 1876-78; Cossackie, 1879-81; Saugerties, 1882-84; Goshen, 1885-87; Rondout, 1888-90; Washington Heights, 1891-93; Delhi, 1894-96; Mt. Kisco, 1897; Fishkill-on-Hudson, 1898; Lee, Massachusetts, 1899-1905. Since the latter year he has been residing in Bound Brook. In April, 1906, he took a supernumerary position in the New York Methodist Episcopal Conference.

While at college Mr. Lamont was a member of the Adelphi Literary Society; in politics he is a Republican, but has never held public office. In April, 1863, he married Miss Caroline D. Jayne, by whom he has three children: Hammond, Lucy, now Mrs. John P. Gavit of Albany, and Thomas W. Lamont.

HORACE RENNIE POWELL, M.D.

Horace Rennie Powell, Poughkeepsie, New York, physician, was born February 16, 1860, at Coeymans, Albany county, New York. His family is of Welsh origin, three brothers having come from Wales to this country about 1760, many of their descendants moving to Albany and Greene counties, among these the direct ancestors of Dr. Powell. A great-grandfather, John T. Powell, was a native of Coeymans, where he passed his life, engaged in farming; like all of his family he was a Quaker. He married Ann Halsted and had three children: James H., Joshua and Phoebe Ann, all of whom are dead. John T. Powell died in 1857 at the age of sixty-five, and his wife in 1861 at the age of sixty-four.

James H. Powell, grandfather of the doctor, was born in 1811 and died in 1891. For thirty years he was captain on a line of freight boats on the Hudson river between Coxsackie and New York. He also owned and conducted a farm near Aleove, Albany county. During 1875 and 1876 he was supervisor of the town of Coeymans. He was a Democrat. During the times when "training days" were observed he was a captain of militia. He married Sally Ann Kelley, who was born in 1812 and died in 1884. She was a daughter of Sylvanus Kelley and Mary (Dodge) Kelley. Sylvanus Kelley died in 1862; his wife died in 1868.

James H. Powell and his wife had six children, John S., Jefferson, now of Alcove, Albany county, New York, Ambrose and James Henry (both deceased), Mary (Mrs. G. C. Huyck) of Minneapolis, Minnesota, and Alexander of Manchester, New Hampshire. John S. Powell, father of the doctor, was born in the town of Coeymans, January 11, 1835, and was educated at the Albany State Normal School. For twenty-five years he followed the occupation of teaching with great success. After teaching a few years at Coeymans and Freehold, Greene county, he became principal of Nassau Academy at Nassau, Rensselaer county, New York. During the last eight years of his professional life he was principal of the Union Free School at Bath-on-the-Hudson (now a part of Rensselaer), New York. He afterwards engaged in the school furniture business at Albany. He died at the residence of his son in Poughkeepsie in 1895.

In 1857 John S. Powell married Rachel A. Powell. Her grandfather, Thomas T. Powell, who died in 1862 at the age of ninety-one, kept an old-fashioned inn in the town of Westerlo, Albany county. His mother was a Titus and his wife was Mary Ann Greene, who died in 1861 at the age of eighty-six, a direct descendant of General Nathaniel Greene. Six children were born to Thomas Powell and his wife: Ezekiel, died in 1882 at the age of seventy-five; Joseph D., died at the age of sixty; Orrin, died at the age of sixty-five; Jesse, died at the age of thirty; Harriet, died at the age of fifty-five, and Mary Ann, who died at the age of fifty.

Ezekiel Powell, the maternal grandfather of our subject, married Prudence Halsted, who died in 1884, at the age of seventy-two. She was one of ten children of Stephen and Eve (Decker) Halsted, both of whom were natives of Germantown, Dutchess county, New York. He died, in 1835, at the age of fifty-five, and his wife, in 1867, at about the age of eighty-six. Of their children, all but three lived in Illinois: Thomas, who died there at the age of eighty; Bartow, who died at the age of fifty; Stephen D., who died at the age of forty-five; Samuel, who died at the age of sixty; John, who died at the age of eighty-five; Betsy Ann, who died at the age of forty-five; Mary Ann, who died at the age of eighty. Of those who remained in New York state besides Prudence, there were Sally Ann (Blossom), who died at the age of seventy, and Marilla, who died at the age of twenty-four.

From the foregoing it will be seen that at the time of the birth of Doctor Powell he was blessed with six living grandmothers and four grandfathers. The mother of the doctor resides with him and is sixty-eight years of age. The doctor was the only child of his parents. He attended district schools in the towns of Bethel, Coeymans and Westerlo, Albany county, and Freehold, Greene county. At the age of seven he removed with his parents to Nassau, Rensselaer county, pursuing his studies at Nassau Academy. When he was ten years old the family removed to Bath-on-the-Hudson, where he attended the Union Free School, with academic department, and afterwards attended the State Normal School at Albany, from which he graduated in 1878, being selected as valedictorian for the gentlemen's literary societies. For a short time he conducted a drug store at Bath-on-the-Hudson.

In the fall of 1878 he matriculated at the Albany Medical College with Dr. E. T. Rulison, now of Schenectady, the late Dr. Norman L. Snow of Albany (curator of the college) and Professor Albert Vander Veer, M.D., as preceptors. Graduating in 1882, he was awarded the honor of delivering the valedictory address. He began the practice of his profession, soon after his graduation, at Housatonic, Massachusetts, removing from thence to Poughkeepsie in the fall of 1882.

In 1883 Dr. Powell married Idell H. Champlin of Bath-on-the-Hudson. They have two children, Robert Carlisle, a senior at Amherst College, and Vera Terry, a student at "Putnam Hall," Poughkeepsie.

For a number of years Dr. Powell was a prominent Republican, but is now an independent in politics. He has been health officer of Poughkeepsie, president of the Board of Education, United States pension examining surgeon, surgeon 19th Separate Company, N. G. N. Y., police surgeon, county physician, president of Poughkeepsie Club, and president of the Clinical Society of Poughkeepsie. At present he is a member of the Masonic and the Knights of Pythias fraternities, the Poughkeepsie Club, the Dutchess County Medical Society, the Medical Club of Poughkeepsie, the Retail Merchants' Association, Davy Crockett Hook & Ladder Company (ex-president), and of the Poughkeepsie Yacht and the University clubs.

He was president of the Alumni Association of Albany Medical College in 1892, and is a member of the Albany Medical College Alumni Association of the City of New York. He also is medical examiner for life insurance, having just completed his twenty years of uninterrupted service for one of the life insurance companies. He is engaged in general practice and has frequently written articles for medical journals.

CLAYTON ADAM SNYDER, PH.B., PD.B.

Clayton Adam Snyder, head master of Wenonah Military Academy at Wenonah, New Jersey, and former head teacher at West Jersey Academy, Bridgeton, New Jersey, is a native of Middleburg, New York, born February 7, 1876, a son of Charles A. Snyder and Mary E. Albro, his wife. He was educated in Middleburg High School, graduating in 1892, at Union College, where he took the Latin-scientific course and graduated with the degree of Ph.B. in 1899 (commencement orator), and the State Normal College at Albany, from which he graduated Pd.B. in 1901.

In 1899 and 1900 Professor Snyder was assistant post-master of Middleburg. In 1901 he began his pedagogical career as head teacher in West Jersey Academy, and continued in that capacity until 1904, when he was made head master at Wenonah Military Academy, his present position. He is a Delta Upsilon man, a Mason and an Odd Fellow.

FREDERICK JAMES BASSETT, A.M., D.D.

Frederick James Bassett, clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal Church, rector of Church of the Redeemer, Providence, Rhode Island, and for several years a prominent figure in general and diocesan conventions, is a native of Albany, New York, born March 9, 1856, son of Daniel Edson Bassett and Harriet Buxton, and comes of old New England stock. His earlier literary education was acquired in Albany public and high schools, having graduated from the latter in 1873, and his higher education in Union College, classical course, from which he was graduated artium baccalaureus in 1877, Phi Beta Kappa, winner of the Warner, Ingham, Clark 1st and the Blatchford 1st prizes; his honorary degree of artium magister was conferred in 1894 and that of divinitatis doctor in 1897, both by alma mater.

Dr. Bassett was educated for the priesthood in Berkeley Divinity School, Middletown, Connecticut; was ordained deacon by Bishop Doane at St. Paul's Church, Albany, in 1880, and as priest in 1881. From 1880 to 1882 he was assistant minister at St. Paul's with full charge of St. Paul's Free Chapel; from 1882 to 1886 he was rector of All Saints' Church, Torresdale (Philadelphia), Pennsylvania, and since 1886 has been rector of the Church of the Redeemer at Providence.

An earnest, devoted worker in his own parish, Dr. Bassett also is widely known in church circles and gatherings of more general character, having served as Dean of the Convocation of Providence, Deputy to the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church at Washington, D. C., in 1898, at San Francisco in 1901, and at Boston in 1904. At the present time he is a member of the standing committee of the diocese of Rhode Island, the secretary of the diocesan committee on canons of the church, and also the secretary of the diocesan

Board of Missions, of which board Bishop McVickar is the head. He also is a member of Sons of the American Revolution and for several years has been chaplain of that society.

EDWARD McKEEFE.

Edward McKeefe of Albany, New York, analytical and consulting chemist of the department of agriculture, state of New York, was born in Plattsburg, New York, on the 25th of October, 1874, a son of Patrick and Catherine (McCadden) McKeefe, and is descended from an old family of the northern part of New York state.

He was educated in the public schools of Plattsburg and graduated from the high school in that city in 1891. His higher education was gained in Union College, where he was graduated in 1898. Since that time he has been professionally connected with the department of agriculture of New York state. He is a Kappa Alpha and Sigma Psi man, and a member of the Society of Engineers of Eastern New York. He married, November 14, 1900, Mary Wilson of Albany, New York.

GEORGE ALFRED PAUL CODWISE, A. B., LL.B.

George Alfred Paul Codwise, attorney and counsellor at law in the city of Boston, Massachusetts, for more than twenty years, was born at York, Pennsylvania, on the 5th of September, 1859, a son of George Washington Codwise and Louisa Charlotte Beatrice Janin De Mertz, his wife. On the paternal side he is a descendant of the German family of Codewise, who settled at Jamaica, Long Island, and in New York city many generations ago. His grandfather was a sea captain during the Revolution, and Mr. Codwise, the Boston lawyer, is a member of the Society of Cincinnati through Lieutenant Christopher Codwise, brother of his grandfather. Through his mother he is related to Count Lieven and Count Rosen of Russia. One of the Lievens was ambassador to Great Britain when Queen Victoria was baptized, and was delegated to give one of her names in behalf of her godfather, the Russian emperor.

Mr. Codwise acquired his earlier literary education in the Wellesley and Newton high schools in Massachusetts, and also under the instruction of Dr. Marshall Livingston Perrin, now professor of German in Boston University. His higher education was acquired at Union College, where he was graduated A.B. in June, 1892. He was educated for the law at Boston University School of Law, and graduated from that institution with the degree of LL.B. in 1884. Since that time he has engaged in general practice in Boston, and occupies an enviable standing in professional circles. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Society, the New York branch of the Cincinnati, and in politics is a Republican. He married Annie Martha Pope and has three children: Philip Wittgenstein, Maximilian Pope and Hubert Emerson Codwise.

PAUL JOHN STROHAUER, B.S.

Paul John Strohauser, clergyman, pastor of the Reformed Church of Wyckoff, New Jersey, was born in the city of Schenectady, New York, May 15, 1871. His father, Johan Strohauser, and his mother, Christina von Olenhausen, were born in Germany and came to America in 1848. They settled in Schenectady, where they afterward married, and where Johan Strohauser kept a grocery store. In 1879 the family removed to Michigan and settled on a farm in Caro, where Johan died February 17, 1903.

Paul J. Strohauser graduated from Caro High School in 1892, then entered Union College for the scientific course and was graduated with the degree of B.S. in 1897. He was educated for the ministry at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, graduating from there in 1900. During his college vacations he tutored in German and during his seminary vacations he preached in Prospect Hill Chapel, Schenectady. He was ordained minister on the 14th of June, 1900, and on the same day was installed pastor of the Princeton Reformed church at Gifford, New York. He resigned March 1, 1903, to become pastor of Spotswood Reformed church, Spotswood, New Jersey, which charge he held until June 1, 1905, and then came to his present pastorate.

Mr. Strohauser is an Odd Fellow of prominent standing in the order and also a member of the Royal Arcanum. He translated from the German into English several valuable works, in company with Rev. F. C. Fink. On the 20th of June, 1900, he married Frances Churchill Lyons of New Brunswick, New Jersey, by whom he has two children—Charlotte Frances Smith Strohauser and Helen Livingstone Strohauser.

WILLIAM PORTER WILLIAMS, A.B.

William Porter Williams, president and treasurer of The Art Marble Company of Chicago, Illinois, assistant treasurer of the United States, campaign orator, public and after-dinner speaker of wide celebrity, was born in the old historic town of Pompey in Onondaga county, New York, July 2, 1855, son of Porter B. Williams and Mary Huntington Taylor, and great-grandson of Major David Williams of Revolutionary fame.

His earlier education was acquired in Public School

No. 10 of Buffalo, New York, a private school in Aiken, South Carolina, and Holy Communion Church Institute in Charleston, South Carolina, where he fitted for college. While living in Aiken he learned the printing trade, entering the office of the local newspaper as office boy, but leaving it as a fully qualified journeyman compositor and printer. In 1877 he entered Union College for the classical course and was graduated from there in 1881, with the degree of A.B., and Phi Beta Kappa. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and president of the Chicago Alumni of Alpha Delta Phi. In the latter part of 1883 he went to Chicago as the representative of the National Car Spring Company, and was engaged in that business about seven years. About 1890 he organized The Art Marble Company and was made its president and treasurer, which position he still holds. And in connection with a busy and successful life Mr. Williams has been and still is interested in various other enterprises than those mentioned, and he also has been a prominent figure in local, state and national politics, always on the Republican side. In 1896 he was a campaign speaker for the National Republican Committee in Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska and South Dakota, and gave like party service in the presidential campaign of 1900. In Illinois he was one of the first men to advocate the nomination of Mr. McKinley, his personal friend.

More than this, Mr. Williams is an entertaining public and after-dinner speaker, which fortunate quality makes him the recipient of far more invitations to participate at public and other functions than the resources of his time will permit him to accept. He also has been identified with and a participant in many public movements and measures of state and national interest. He was appointed assistant United States treasurer by President McKinley, December 20, 1897, and was reappointed by President Roosevelt February 1, 1901. He is a member and in 1896 and 1897 was secretary of the Union League Club of Chicago, ex-member of the University Club and the Calumet Club, and present member of the Bankers' Club and the Hamilton Club. On the 7th of December, 1892, Mr. Williams married Grace G. Jackson.

JOHN LE ROY VAN VALKENBURG, M.D.

John LeRoy Van Valkenburg, physician and surgeon of Chicago, Illinois, professor of clinical medicine in the Chicago Post-Graduate Medical College and former instructor of clinical medicine in Northwestern University, was born in Little Falls, New York, May 2, 1870, son of Andrew Van Valkenburg and Ella Snell, his wife, and is a descendant of Holland Dutch and German ancestors.

The Van Valkenburgs came from the town of Valkenburg in Holland, and Jacobus Van Valkenburg, the Doctor's great-great-grandfather, moved from Albany to Schenectady previous to the Revolutionary war. His sister was the mother of Professor Taylor Lewis.

The Snells came from Halle, Germany, about 1720, having received through the grace of Queen Anne a grant of about five thousand acres of land lying north of the towns of Little Falls and Fort Plain in the Mohawk valley in New York state, and which to this day retains the name of Snell's Bush. Through his father's mother Dr. Van Valkenburg is descended from Major Andrew Finck, an officer of the Revolutionary army and a nephew of Count Finck Von Finckenstein, general of division under Frederick the Great.

Dr. Van Valkenburg acquired his earlier education at Little Falls High School and Union Classical Institute at Schenectady, from the latter of which he was graduated, and his higher education at Union College, where he entered the sophomore class of 1893, but did not graduate. He was educated in medicine at Long Island College Hospital, graduating from there with the degree of M.D. in 1895. In 1895 and 1896 he served the regular internship, and in 1896 and 1897 took special post-graduate courses at the University of Berlin.

In connection with his busy professional life, which has covered a period of about ten years, Dr. Van Valkenburg has devoted almost constant attention to pedagogical work, and he is known as one of the most thorough instructors and clinicians in the city of Chicago, a city famous for its institutions of medical learning. From 1897 to 1900 he was instructor of clinical medicine at Northwestern University Medical College, and since 1897 has held the chair of clinical medicine at the Chicago Post-Graduate Medical College. He is a Delta Upsilon fraternity man and in politics is a Republican. On February 16, 1898, Dr. Van Valkenburg married Irene Morse Yanney of Johnstown, New York.

FLORENCE JAMES SULLIVAN, LL.B.

Florence James Sullivan, lawyer, New York city, was born in Saratoga county, New York, June, 1869, son of Florence Sullivan and Margaret McNulty, his wife.

Mr. Sullivan was educated in the district schools of Amsterdam, New York, and in St. Mary's Institute of the same city. In 1888 he registered as a law student and commenced the study of law in the office of Hon. Edward Payson White (Union '79). While preparing for admission to the bar he did active newspaper work as city editor of the "Morning Sentinel" and as corresponent for the New York papers. In May, 1892, he was admitted to the bar at a term of the Supreme Court at Albany, having previously spent two years in the college and the law department of Union University, receiving the degree of LL.B. from the Albany Law School. He began practice in Amsterdam the same year, where he remained until May, 1903, and during his residence there was prosecuting attorney for seven years, resigning that position in 1900 to accept the office of corporation counsel of the city of Amsterdam, which he held for two terms.

In 1903 Mr. Sullivan removed to New York city, where he has since been in active practice, making a specialty of corporation law. He is counsel for and a director of the Graham-Chisholm Publishing Company, and other companies and associations.

He was appointed United States special agent for the eleventh census, and in connection with that service prepared the plan under which the mortgage indebtedness of the United States was taken. He is a member of the

New York State Bar Association, the Elks, the Red Men, the New York chapter of Knights of Columbus, and of the Sterling and Liberal Republican clubs of New York city.

On February 12, 1896, Mr. Sullivan married Elizabeth H. Flaherty of Glens Falls, New York. They have three children: Rowena, Mary Elizabeth and Claire Sullivan.

GEORGE LAWYER, A.B., A.M., LL.B.

George Lawyer, Albany, New York, a practitioner of law in that city since 1890, and lecturer on the law of contracts and personal property in Albany Law School, was born in New York City, September 24, 1864, son of James and Eliza (Irwin) Lawyer, and is of Dutch descent.

His literary education was obtained in Middleburgh Classical Institute, Schoharie Academy and Hamilton College, from the latter of which he was graduated in 1885 with the degree of A.B.; A.M., 1887. While in college he was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and was honored with election to membership in the Phi Beta Kappa society.

He began the study of law in the office of Judge S. L. Mayham, Schoharie, New York, and continued it in Albany Law School, where he graduated in 1887 with the degree of LL.B. In May of that year he was admitted to the bar. He then located in New York City, where he served as clerk in a law office two years. He returned to Albany and in April, 1890, began practice there, continuing alone until 1897, when he became a member of the law firm of Buchanan & Lawyer, which now continues under the firm name of Buchanan, Lawyer & Whalen.

In 1901 Mr. Lawyer was made judge advocate, Third Brigade, National Guard, New York, which office he still holds, and in September, 1905, he accepted the appointment to the lectureship on the law of contracts and personal property in Albany Law School. He is a member of the New York State Bar Association, the Albany County Bar Association, Sons of the Revolution, and the Fort Orange, Country and Jefferson clubs of Albany. In politics he is a Democrat, although he has never been an active participant in this field, but has found time to write numerous articles on legal subjects for the past ten years, which have appeared from time to time in various law magazines.

On February 9, 1892, Mr. Lawyer married Agnese Pershall, daughter of David B. Pershall, of New York City. They have three sons, James Lawyer, George Lawyer, Jr., and David Lawyer.

HORATIO M. POLLOCK, B.S., M.S., A.M., PH.D.

Horatio M. Pollock, senior examiner of the New York State Civil Service Commission, author of a monograph on the "Anatomy of Hydrachma Inermis (Piersig), and an authoritative contributor to various magazines, was born September 2, 1868, at Patria, Schoharie county, New York, a son of Jesse W. Pollock and Mary Malvina Daggett, his wife. He is of the third generation of his family in New York state, his grandfather, George Pollock, a native of New England, having settled in Schoharie county and engaged in farming. The pioneer of the family in America was a Scotsman. Thomas Daggett, the father of Mary Malvina Daggett, belonged to the well known Connecticut family of that name. He was a native of Schenectady, New York, but was residing in Schoharie county, New York, at the time of the birth of his daughter, Mary Malvina.

Dr. Pollock's education was begun in the public schools of Patria, and continued, after graduation from the high school at Cobleskill, New York, in 1890, through Union College, whence he was graduated in 1895 with the degree of B.S. He then went to Europe and continued his studies in the University of Leipsic, Germany, from which institution he received the degrees of M.A. and Ph.D. in 1897. He returned to the United States and in the same year was made an M.S. of Union University.

For three years he taught German and science in the Albany High School, and then took the position in the civil service branch of state government which he occupies at present. He has delivered numerous lectures on scientific and educational subjects and on German life, his personal experience of the latter providing a fund of most amusing and interesting matter. He also is associate editor of "American Education."

His scientific and literary attainments, as well as his personal sociality, have made Dr. Pollock a member in various societies and clubs, which include the Albany Historical Society and Albany Institute, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Educational Association, the Albany Chamber of Commerce, the Phi Gamma Delta, the Sigma Psi, the Entomological Society of Albany, the Unity Club of the First Unitarian Society of Albany, and the Hudson River Schoolmasters' Club. In politics he is an independent Democrat.

Dr. Pollock was united in marriage with Georgiana Shafer of Cobleskill on the 18th of September, 1895. Their children are Katherine Esther, Robert Shafer (died May 2, 1902), Dorothy Affiah and Carolyn Mary Pollock.

GRENVILLE MELLENGALSBE, A.M., LL.B.

Grenville Mellen Ingalsbe, of Sandy Hill, New York, lawyer, manufacturer, agriculturist, financier, jurist and student, is a native of South Hartford, Washington county, New York, and was born July 26, 1846, the only child of Milo Ingalsbe and his wife, Laura Cook Chapin. He is descended from the Ingoldsbys of Lincolnshire, one of the oldest families in England, of Danish origin, and mentioned in history early in the thirteenth century. The orthography of the name was changed by Captain Ebenezer Ingalsbe at the opening of the Revolutionary war. One of the minute men at Lexington, his service in the Continental army was long and honorable, ending with a captaincy. Having been in the service of the king in the French and Indian wars, the change of name was made that in case of capture the charge of treason could not be so easily sustained. Judge Ingalsbe's maternal ancestors were the Cooks, who were among the early Puritans of Massachusetts Bay.

His father was a farmer, holding high rank among the agriculturists of the state, but he was a man of fine literary ability, and, in his earlier years, an educator of prominence. The son acquired his early education under his father's instruction. At the age of fourteen he entered the public schools and later he attended the Hartford Academy and the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute, at which institution he completed his preparation for college. He entered Union College in 1876, and was assigned to the junior class. He remained only a single year, but his record was such that in 1870 the college conferred upon him the degree of A.B., and three years later the master degree. Upon leaving college, being unde-terminated as to his life work, he was chosen principal of the Argyle Academy, and under his management the Academy attained a foremost place among the educational institutions of the state. He then, with many misgivings, relinquished the teacher's work, and commenced the study of law in the office of Hughes & Northup at Sandy Hill, one of the principal law firms of northern New York. After a year of office work he entered the Harvard Law School, from which he was graduated in 1872 with the degree of LL.B. During his residence at Cambridge he gratified his student tastes by pursuing the study of history under Dr. Samuel Eliot, botany under Dr. Gray, natural history under Agassiz and German and other subjects under like eminent masters. On his return to Sandy Hill in September, 1872, he accepted the position of managing clerk in Hughes & Northup's office. He was admitted to the bar in 1874, and opened an office in Sandy Hill in 1875.

While Judge Ingalsbe has been an active worker along many lines, his nearest duty has always been to his chosen profession, and to that he has given a lifetime of hard and unremitting labor. As a counselor, especially in probate, administration, real estate, business and corporation law, he has attained distinction. Until recently he has taken an active part in the political life of his locality. Though never a seeker after political preferment he has, until his peremptory retirement in 1901, occupied continuously various public offices of trust and honor. In 1895, shortly before the opening of the Republican county convention, he consented to the presentation of his name for surrogate and was nominated and elected. During his term as surrogate he systematized the work of the office, increased its efficiency and greatly elevated the standards of the court; his work elicited the highest commendation alike from his political friends and foes. Early in 1901, a year prior to the expiration of his term, though keenly appreciative of the regard in which his work was held, he declined being a candidate for re-election that he might devote his energies wholly to his profession, to his large business interests, including the management of the farm homestead in Hartford, and to study along lines which, amid the exacting duties of an exceptionally active life, have never lost their fascination. Indeed, through all the vicissitudes of his career he has preserved the mental poise of a student, and many of the habits of the scholastic recluse; his library is the largest in his vicinity.

His business interests for many years have been large and are constantly being extended. He was an incorporator and for many years a director and secretary of the Sandy Hill Electric Light & Power Company and of the Sandy Hill Power Company. He was also a director and the secretary of the Spring Brook Water Company; a director and counsel for the Glens Falls, Sandy Hill & Fort Edward Street Railroad Company, and of the Schroom River Pulp & Paper Company. He has been prominent either as stockholder or counsel in the organization of nearly all of the business corporations at Sandy Hill. In 1884 he was elected a director of the Sandy Hill National Bank; in 1899, its vice-president, and in 1905 its president. Since he became director he has given its affairs his close personal attention. It is the largest bank of deposit in Washington county, and during the last twenty years has paid dividends to its stockholders averaging over twenty-five per cent. per annum. He is a director and the vice-president of the Granite Brick Company, of the Imperial Wall Paper Company, of the Progressive Pulp & Paper Company, and of the Lake Champlain Pulp & Paper Company, and is a trustee of the Glens Falls Academy.

Judge Ingalsbe's identification with learned societies has been extended. He is an active member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the American Historical Association, the American Political Science Association, the American Geographical Society and the American Anti-Imperialist League. He is also a member of the American Bar Association and of the New York State Bar Association. For ten years he has been one of the local council for New York state of the former association, while for fifteen years he has been a member and for several years the chairman of the executive committee of the state association. He is a member of the Union College Alumni Association for Northeastern New York, and of the Harvard Law School Association; of the former he has been president. He was one of the incorporators of the New York State Historical Association and from its organization one of its trustees; for several years he has been its first vice-president and the chairman of its program committee and is devoting much time to the promotion of its interests. In 1904 he was chosen one of the delegates from New York to the World's Congress of Lawyers and Jurists held in connection with the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

On September 20, 1876, Judge Ingalsbe married Franc E. Groesbeck, of Sandy Hill. They have one child, Grenville Howland Ingalsbe, born November 8, 1878, who prepared for college at the Glens Falls Academy and Phillips Exeter Academy, and graduated from Harvard in the class of 1902.

JOHN JACKSON WARD, M.D.

John Jackson Ward, Ellenville, Ulster county, New York, engaged in general medical practice, is a native of Meredith, New York, born March 13, 1834, son of Lester Ward and Nancy Jackson, his wife. On the paternal side he is of New England stock and on the maternal side of New England and Dutch stock.

He attended the public schools and the Delaware Literary Institute, and acquired his medical education in the Albany Medical College, where he graduated in 1869. He taught school for a time previous to taking up the study of medicine, but since graduation he has been engaged in practice in the village of Ellenville.

Dr. Ward filled the office of health officer of the village for about thirty years and was a member and secretary of the Board of Education from 1886 to 1888, and since about that year until 1893 he served as president of the Young Men's Christian Association. He is also an ex-member of the New York State Medical Association and of the American Medical Association. Politically he is a Republican, but has never entered that field, having a distaste for public life. He has been twice married, and has one son by the first marriage, Dr. Stanley M. Ward, now practicing in Hampton, New Hampshire.

WILLIAM BALLENTINE McMECHAN, A.B.

William Ballentine McMechan, Kansas City, Missouri, lawyer, and a graduate of Union College of the class of 1872, winner of the Ingham prize, was born in the city of St. Louis, Missouri, November 18, 1849, a son of John and Matilda McMechan, and is of Scotch-Irish descent. After leaving college he took up the study of law, was admitted to practice and since August, 1879, has been a member of the Kansas City bar. In politics he is a Democrat.

ROBERT FORREST MACLAREN, A.B., D.D.

Robert Forrest Maclaren, Presbyterian clergyman, whose present pastorate is at Los Angeles, California, was born in New York city, February 1, 1841, son of William Maclaren, D.D., and Harriet Reeve, his wife. William Maclaren was born in Perthshire, Scotland, in 1806; he graduated from Union College in 1831. Harriet Reeve, whose family home is at Newburgh, New York, is descended from Massachusetts Puritans through her father and from old Knickerbocker families of New York through her mother.

Dr. Maclaren's earlier education was acquired in William Forrest's school in New York city and in the Fall River, Massachusetts, high school, and his literary education in Brown University, where he studied for three years, and in Union College, where he passed his senior year, graduating in 1864 with the degree of A.B. From this institution he also received his degree of D.D. in 1891. He studied for the ministry chiefly with his father, but also in Allegheny Seminary (United Presbyterian).

For many years he was pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of St. Paul, Minnesota, and later of the Presbyterian Church in San Jose, California. Dr. Maclaren has written for the press, but otherwise has not engaged in distinctly literary pursuits. He married, in November, 1873, Sara Glover, and has children—Mrs. John E. Marble of Pasadena, California, Glover R. Maclaren of Los Angeles and Robert Forrest Maclaren, Jr.

GEORGE RICHARDS, A.B.

George Richards, class of 1840, with honors of Phi Beta Kappa and the Latin salutatory, by profession a lawyer, was born at Warrensburg, New York, February 1, 1821, and died September 5, 1894. His parents were Pelatiah Richards and Sally Wheeler, and he was descended from New England Puritan ancestors.

He was educated in Union College, and graduated artium baccalaureus in 1840. He studied for the profession of law, was admitted as attorney in 1843, as counsellor in 1846, and practiced until about 1858. He then engaged in the manufacture of lumber about fifteen years and afterward practiced law from 1873 to 1886. This, however, is but a mere glance at a busy professional and business life, which was varied with frequent election to public office, for Mr. Richards was a leading Whig in state politics, one of the organizers of the Republican party in Warren county and one of the foremost men in the councils of that party in northern New York for many years. From 1847 to 1850 he was district attorney of Warren county, member of assembly in 1852 and state senator in 1854-55. In 1853 he was appointed judge advocate of the 14th Brigade, 4th Division, N. Y. Militia.

Mr. Richards married, first, 1848, Zylphia Goodman, who died in 1857, leaving children, Pelatiah and Georgiana Richards; married, second, August 22, 1860, Harriette Aurelia Belcher, who bore him three children—William F., Helen and Walter Richards.

WILLIAM FARLIN RICHARDS, A.B.

William Farlin Richards, New York city, principal assistant engineer of the department of parks, boroughs of Manhattan and Richmond, was born in Warrensburg, New York, June 15, 1862, son of George Richards and Harriet Aurelia Belcher, his wife, and is of New England Puritan ancestry. His earlier education was acquired in public schools and under private instruction, and his higher education in Union College, where he took the scientific course and was graduated in 1885, winner of the Allen 1st prize. He also took most of the course in civil engineering, but did not take the final examinations or try for the degree.

Since leaving college Mr. Richards has been engaged in professional work. For three years after graduation he was engaged in mechanical designing, and from 1888 to 1890 was draughtsman in the employ of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Company. In 1890 and 1891 he was in the government service, in the war department, stationed at Chicago and occupied with canal work. Since 1892 he has been connected with the department of parks of New York city, his office being that of principal assistant engineer, and the field of his operations the boroughs of Manhattan and Richmond.

Mr. Richards is a member of the Union College Alumni Association of New York and of Delta Upsilon. He married Clara A. Moore and has one daughter—Marion Richards.

HAVILAH BEARDSLEY, B.E.

Havilah Beardsley, Joplin, Missouri, electrical engineer in the employ of the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, was born in Kalamazoo, Michigan, April 4, 1877, son of Solomon L. Beardsley and Martha McMichael Foster, his wife, and is of Scotch-Irish ancestry.

He graduated from the Kalamazoo high school (Shattuck Osgood Hartwell, principal) in June, 1895, then entered Union College, where he took a course in electrical engineering and graduated with the degree of B.E. in June, 1899. He is a member of the college fraternity, Phi Gamma Delta.

Upon graduation he entered the employ of the General Electric Company, in the Schenectady works, and remained with them until 1900, since when he has been connected with the following companies: Hub Mining Company, Spurgeon, Missouri, 1900-1903; Galmei Mining Company, Joplin, Missouri, 1903-1904; and since 1904 with the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Beardsley married Mary Louise Church on the 6th of May, 1902.

SIDNEY T. EMERSON, A.B.

Sidney T. Emerson, Chicago, Illinois, civil engineer, whose professional and business life has covered a period of more than fifty years, and whose diploma from "Old Union" at graduation was accompanied with Phi Beta Kappa, is a native of Saratoga county, New York, son of Selden Emerson and Rebecca Dumont Angle, his wife, and comes of English ancestry. His earlier education was acquired in Jonesville Academy and under the tutelage of Rev. Deodatus Babcock of Ballston Spa, New York, and his higher education in Union College, from which he was graduated in 1852, A.B.

Immediately after graduation Mr. Emerson began his career as civil engineer and has continued in active business employment to the present time; and during that long period of more than fifty-three years he has been identified with many public enterprises, which in succession may be mentioned substantially as follows: rodman, Albany & Binghamton railroad (now part of the D. & H. system); levelman, Vicksburg & Meridian railroad; assistant engineer, Pennsylvania railroad (second track, Huntingdon to Harrisburg); assistant engineer, Erie canal enlargement; assistant engineer, Mendota & Albany railroad, Illinois; division engineer, Illinois Central railroad (maintenance, track, bridges and buildings); chief engineer, Northern Missouri railroad and Saint Louis, Kansas City & Northern railroad, in charge of tracks, bridges and buildings; chief engineer, Missouri Pacific extension in western Missouri and Kansas; division engineer, Northern Pacific railroad, Yellowstone division; chief engineer and superintendent, Saint Louis & Southwestern railroad ("Cotton Belt" route); chief engineer and superintendent, Saint Louis, Kansas City & Colorado railroad; town site surveyor in government employ in Indian Territory; general superintendent, Morristown & Cumberland Gap railroad, Tennessee, and various other minor positions in connection with civil engineering and the construction, maintenance and operation of railroads.

Mr. Emerson is a member of Psi Upsilon, and in politics is a Republican. At Kalamazoo, Michigan, in 1859, he married Ella Bushnell, and has two children—Charles Bradstreet Emerson, M.D., and Carrie Adele Emerson, now Mrs. Darius C. Jackson.

ARTHUR M. JOHNSON, M.D.

Arthur M. Johnson, a practitioner of medicine in Rochester, New York, since 1896, is a native of Binghamton, New York, born November 4, 1874, son of Thomas Johnson and Eunice Many, his wife, and is of Scotch and English descent on the paternal, and of French descent on the maternal side.

His education was acquired in the public and high schools of Binghamton, and he studied for his profession in Albany Medical College, from which he graduated in 1895 with the degree of M.D. After graduation he served as interne at Ellis Hospital, Schenectady, one year, and then, in 1896, located for practice in Rochester, where he has since lived.

In 1900 Dr. Johnson was elected coroner and served two years, he also was district health physician and public medical school inspector for the city of Rochester.

He is a member of the Monroe County Medical Society, the Pathological Society and the Central New York Medical Association. In politics he is a Republican.

On March 31, 1902, Dr. Johnson married Lucie E. Finch of Binghamton, New York.

EDWARD MARTIN BURKE, A.B., LL.B.

Edward Martin Burke, Westerly, Rhode Island, attorney and counsellor at law and former judge of probate for Westerly, was born in the city of Worcester, Massachusetts, on the 11th day of November, 1869, a son of Michael W. and Honora (O'Brien) Burke. His earlier literary education was obtained in Westerly High School, where he graduated in 1889, and his higher education in Union College, where he was graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1893, winner of the English prize. He was educated for the law at Yale Law School, graduating from there cum laude, LL.B., in 1895.

In 1895 Mr. Burke was admitted to practice in the courts of Connecticut, and in Rhode Island in 1896. Since the year last mentioned he has practiced at Westerly, and was judge of probate for that jurisdiction from 1898 to 1900, and also in 1902-1903. In college he was a member of Delta Upsilon. In politics he is a Republican.

EDWARD McKEE, A.B.

Rev. Edward McKee, clergyman of the United Presbyterian Church, former president of Stuttgart College and now pastor of the United Presbyterian Church at Stuttgart, Arkansas, came to the bachelor degree at Union College in 1869. He graduated with honors and was winner of the Clark first essay prize, Blatchford second oratorical prize, also was valedictorian of the Adelphi Society of Union College and class poet.

He was born at Kortright Centre, New York, April 14, 1844, son of James and Ann (McClaghry) McKee. His grandfather, William McKee, was an officer of the English navy. During King James' rebellion he escaped to America, settled first in New York city and afterward for safety went to the Catskill mountain region. His grandmother, Margaret Patterson, was born in the north part of Ireland. His grandfather on the maternal side was J. B. McClaghry, a farmer, and his grandmother, Sarah Hanna, came from Edinboro, Scotland.

In 1859 and 1860 Mr. McKee attended district school, later he was a student at Roxbury Academy and still later at Andes Academy, where he graduated. In 1867 he entered the sophomore class at Union College, completed the course and was graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1869. After leaving college he taught two years in the academy at Stamford, N. Y., then entered Princeton Theological Seminary, studied two years there and afterward for one year in Newburgh Seminary, and graduated from the latter institution.

In April, 1875, he was licensed to preach by the Delaware presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church. He preached and taught school at Winchester, Kansas, in 1875 and 1876, and in 1877 was settled as pastor at Unity, Ohio, where he remained nine years. In 1887 he became pastor and president of an academy at Marissa, Illinois, served in that capacity until 1896, and then for one year (1897) was pastor at Newton, Iowa. He then was called to the pastorate of the Second United Presbyterian Church at Youngstown, Ohio, and from 1898 to 1901 was president of Stuttgart College. In 1899 he organized and became pastor of the United Presbyterian Church at Stuttgart, and now serves in that capacity.

From 1879 to 1883 Mr. McKee was a director of Xenia Theological Seminary at Xenia, Ohio, and from 1888 to 1896 was president of the Marissa Building and Loan Association. He married, July 22, 1875, Virginia Connelly of Newburgh, New York, by whom he has six children: Anna, Florence Patton, Edward, Roberta Johnston, Virginia and Pauline McKee.

WILLIAM HUGH GILLESPIE, A.B.

William Hugh Gillespie, San Francisco, California, a salesman in the service of the California Electrical Works of that city, was born in the city of Brooklyn, New York, on the 16th day of September, 1881, son of Edward C. and Nellie Harris (Van Zandt) Gillespie. He was educated in Albany Grammar School, 1887-1892, Albany High School, 1895-1897, and in Union College, where he entered in 1898 and was graduated with the class of 1902.

From 1892 to 1895 and from 1897 to 1898 he was employed in office work. Soon after leaving college he went to Omaha, Nebraska, and was clerk for a year in the Union Pacific offices in that city. The next year he was a wholesale grocery clerk in Chicago, and in the next was with the Western Electric Company in Chicago. In 1904 he went into the employ of the California Electrical Works of San Francisco. Mr. Gillespie is a member of Chi Psi fraternity.

WILLIAM CLEVELAND ROBERSON, A.B.

William Cleveland Roberson, New York city, merchant and member of the New York Produce Exchange, is a native of New York city, born July 13, 1858, son of William Henry Roberson and Sarah Cleveland, his wife.

On the paternal side he is descended from the settlers of Westchester county, New York, named Roberson and Ferguson (Scotch-English origin), and on the maternal side he is of the eighth generation from Moses Cleveland (1635) of Woburn, Massachusetts, head of the well known family of that name. He is also a descendant of William Bradford, second colonial governor of Massachusetts.

Mr. Roberson's education was acquired in Grammar School No. 35 of New York city, where he attended from 1868 until 1872, the College of the City of New York, 1873, and Union College, where he came to his degree in 1877.

Since the year 1880 he has been a member of the New York Produce Exchange and a merchant. He is a member of the New York Athletic Club, the Knollwood Country Club, Delta Phi Fraternity and the Delta Phi Club of New York. Politically he is a Democrat. He married, November 20, 1888, Minnie Carter, and has two children, Constance Cleveland and William Carter Roberson.

He was educated in the high schools of Alfred and Kennebunk, Maine, and Albany Medical College, graduating from the latter with the degree of M.D. in 1879. He began his professional career at Castleton, New York, in 1882 and removed to Saranac Lake in July, 1900.

ROBERT JOHNSON BURRITT, LL.B.

Robert Johnson Burritt, Auburn, New York, lawyer, and district attorney for Cayuga county, is a native of that county, born in Ira, May 20, 1874, son of Calvin Wolcott Burritt and Lucy Johnson, his wife, and is of English and Scotch ancestry.

He was educated in the public and high schools of Auburn, after which he read law in the office of Coburn & Hunter of Auburn for two years. In 1897 he entered Albany Law School and graduated therefrom in 1898, with the degree of LL.B. He located for practice in Auburn immediately after graduation and has since practiced in that city.

In 1899 Mr. Burritt was appointed assistant district attorney for Cayuga county; he is still in office, in November, 1905, having been elected district attorney for that county. He is a member of the Cayuga County Bar Association and of the Masonic order. In politics he is affiliated with the Republican party.

On June 18, 1902, Mr. Burritt married Selina Hoag of Barker, Niagara county, New York.

CHARLES J. SIMONS, M.D.

Charles J. Simons, Chicago, Illinois, physician and surgeon, graduate of Albany Medical College—the medical department of Union University—of the class of 1867, and a general practitioner of medicine in Chicago since 1868, was born in Bombay, East India, March 29, 1843, son of Rev. Thomas Simons and Caroline Jenks

Harrington, his wife. On the paternal side he is of Welsh descent, his father having been born in Wales, coming thence to America when a young man. On the maternal side he comes of English and Scotch ancestors. The Harringtons were among the colonists of Watertown in Massachusetts in 1642; and among them in later generations were soldiers of the Revolution, one at least of whom was killed at the historic battle of Lexington. Through his Jenks ancestors Dr. Simons is a direct descendant of Roger Williams of the Providence plantation in Rhode Island.

Dr. Simons laid the foundation of his literary education in the common schools of East Brookfield, Massachusetts, and later was a student at Phillips Exeter Academy, where he prepared for Harvard; but instead of entering college he enlisted, in the spring of 1862, in the Ninth New Hampshire Volunteers and served with that command until the close of the war. He entered the service as private and was mustered out as first lieutenant of Company A. He possesses a Medal of Honor Legion, voted by congress.

Dr. Simons read medicine under the direction of Dr. James E. Porfret, his experience in army life serving to aid materially in grounding himself both in medicine and surgery. Later he matriculated at Albany Medical College, attended upon its courses and was graduated in 1867, with the degree of M.D. From the time of graduation until 1868 he was resident interne at the Soldiers' Home in Albany, and in March of the year last mentioned he located in Chicago and began active general practice. He still lives in that city and has devoted attention closely to professional work, and with gratifying results.

He is a member of the Illinois State Medical Society and of the Chicago Medical Society; in politics he generally supports the Republican party, but votes independently when duty so dictates. Dr. Simons married, first, February 11, 1868, Ellen F. Adams, who died September 28, 1877, leaving two sons, Charles Harrington Simons and Francis Pitcher Simons; he married, second, December 13, 1880, Lillian McCartney, who died childless February 14, 1881; married, third, October 9, 1883, Lydia Aitken, by whom he has had no children.

FRANK TAYLOR OSTRANDER, A.B.

Frank Taylor Ostrander, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, employed in the sales department of the National Supply Company, was born August 28, 1878, at Gallupville, Schoharie county, New York, son of Calvin Ostrander and Eve Ann Taylor, his wife. The Ostranders were early Dutch settlers along the Hudson river, in what now is Columbia county, New York.

Mr. Ostrander's education was begun in the public schools of his native place, which he attended from the age of six until he was sixteen, when he entered the Seymour Smith Academy at Pine Plains, New York, where he was a student for one and one-half years. He next studied at the Albany High School and was graduated from there in June, 1898; then entered Union College, where he took a classical course and graduated June 11, 1902, with the A.B. degree. He is a member of Chi Psi fraternity and of Phi Beta Kappa.

From September, 1902, until April, 1904, he held a position with the Safety-Armorite Conduit Company of Pittsburgh, next was with the American Bridge Company until March, 1905, since which time he has been in his present capacity with the National Supply Company. He is a member of the University Club of Pittsburgh.

GEORGE LENZ, M.D.

George Lenz, Gloversville, New York, physician and surgeon, was born October 1, 1875, at Palatine, Montgomery county, New York, son of Henry Lenz and Anna M. Kinkle, his wife. He is of German descent, his grandfather, Conrad Lenz, having emigrated from Germany in 1852 and settled in Palatine.

Dr. Lenz graduated from the high school of Gloversville in 1892 and then taught school two years, after which he entered the Albany Medical College, whence he was graduated in 1900. Upon graduation he opened an office in Gloversville, where he has since been engaged in general practice. He is surgeon to the Nathan Littauer Hospital.

Dr. Lenz is a member of the Fulton County Medical Society, the Johnstown and Gloversville Medical Association, the Eccentric Club, the Elks, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and also is a Mason. In politics he is a Republican.

He married, May 21, 1902, Annie B. Grant of Ingersol, Ontario, Canada. Two children have been born of this marriage, Edith M. and Henry Lenz.

CONDE HAMLIN, A.B., A.M., LL.B.

Condé Hamlin, St. Paul, Minnesota, general manager and vice-president of the Pioneer Press Company, is a native of New York, born at Glenville, November 9, 1863, son of D. H. Hamlin and Katherine Condé, his wife. He is a descendant of the Hamlin family that landed at Barnstable, Massachusetts, early in the seventeenth century, and on the maternal side of a Huguenot family that located in Schenectady with the Dutch.

Graduating from the Winona (Minnesota) High School, he entered Union College, and in 1883 was graduated from that institution with the degree of A.B., in 1886 receiving the degree of A.M. He also completed a course in law at the University of Wisconsin, where he was graduated from the Law School in 1889 with the LL.B degree.

Upon graduation from Union College, in 1883, he went to Wisconsin to accept a position as superintendent of schools of Beaver Dam, and also of Darlington, in which capacity he served until 1887. In 1889 he entered the newspaper business with the Pioneer Press Company of St. Paul, and in 1899 was advanced to his present offices of general manager and vice-president.

Mr. Hamlin is a member of the Minnesota Board of Corrections and Charities, is president of the Commercial Club of St. Paul, is a colonel in the Fourth Regiment of National Guards of Minnesota, and was president of the Minnesota Commission to the World's Fair at St. Louis, and is a member of the Minnesota Club and of the Town and County Club. Politically he is a Republican and was chairman of the State Republican Committee for Minnesota in 1904-05.

DEWITT CLINTON MOORE, A.B.

Dewitt Clinton Moore, Johnstown, New York, lawyer, editor and law writer, is a native of Johnstown and was born March 14, 1856, son of Frederick J. and Sarah Moore. His parents were both of German descent. His earlier literary education was acquired in the Johnstown Academy and his higher education in Union College, classical course, from which institution he was graduated in 1877, with the degree of A.B. While at Union he was a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, the literary societies and the boating association. He won the first prize in oratory at the junior prize speaking contest in 1876, and was elected class day orator for the class exercises at commencement in 1877. He was one of the editors of the "Spectator" and "College Magazine." After leaving college he took up the study of law and in 1879 was admitted to practice in the courts in New York state. Since that time his attention has been given to professional work, combined with public service of a political and professional character, and also with indulgence of his literary inclination in the field of journalism and authorship.

Soon after he came to the bar Mr. Moore was appointed clerk of the Surrogate's Court of Fulton county, serving in that capacity until 1885, and subsequently was elected police justice of the village of Johnstown, serving for two years. He was attorney for the Board of Supervisors of Fulton county in the case of the appeal of the city of Gloversville from the assessment fixed by the supervisors' equalization committee, and was the general attorney of that board in 1904. He served as a United States commissioner for a number of years, and also represented the state comptroller for two years in transfer tax matters in certain counties.

While serving as surrogate's clerk Mr. Moore began editorial work on the "Fulton County Republican," and later served in an editorial capacity on the "Fulton County Democrat," the "Johnstown Evening News," the first daily paper published in that place, and subsequently on the "Johnstown Daily Republican," but these diversions were not allowed to interfere in any manner with his professional work as a lawyer.

Mr. Moore drafted the charter of Johnstown when it became a city in 1895, and was its first attorney after the incorporation. Later he turned his attention to law writing and prepared a treatise on "Street Railroad Accident Law," a volume of 850 pages, which was published by Matthew Bender of Albany in 1904. Since then he has given all his time not required in his law practice to the preparation of another legal work, "The Law of Carriers," published in March, 1906, by Matthew Bender & Co.

FRANK V. BROWNELL, C.E., M.D.

Frank V. Brownell, Canajoharie, New York, engaged in the general practice of medicine, was born November 20, 1856, at Schenectady, New York, son of James Brownell and Margaret Tinning, his wife. He attended the Union Classical School, in 1874 graduated from Union Classical Institute, and then entered Union College, where he came to the degree of C.E. in 1877. His medical education was acquired in Albany Medical College, whence he was graduated in 1882, after which he was in the Albany City Hospital for eighteen months. In 1889 he completed a course at the New York Post-Graduate Medical School.

He first opened practice in Fort Plain, New York, and continued there until 1890, when he removed to Schenectady. He remained in Schenectady until 1896, then located at Canajoharie and opened his present practice.

Dr. Brownell married, in 1888, Mary L. Don, and has two children—Gilbert S., born December, 1892, and Katharine V. Brownell, born in September, 1896.

GEORGE SPENCER LAPE, M.D.

George Spencer Lape, Binghamton, New York, is a native of Mechanicsville, New York, born August 17, 1879, son of George Lape and Mary Almond, his wife. He is of German-English descent.

He attended public schools at Mechanicsville and graduated from the Union Academy, then entered the Albany Medical College (Union University), graduating, M.D., in 1904. Upon graduation he was associated with Dr. H. J. Lipes of Albany, as assistant for about one year, then took up practice in Binghamton. He is district medical examiner for the Golden Seal Insurance Company, and is a member of the Binghamton Academy of Medicine, the Broome County Medical Society, the New York State Medical Association, also of the City Club and the Susquehanna Valley Social Club of Binghamton. He is a Mason, member of Binghamton Lodge No.

SIDNEY AUGUSTUS NORTON, A.B., A.M., LL.D., PH.D., M.D.

Sidney Augustus Norton, Columbus, Ohio, emeritus professor of chemistry, Ohio State University, author, was born at North Bloomfield, Ohio, January 11, 1835, son of Charles Hull Norton and Caroline Brayton Cornell, his wife. The Nortons were among the earliest settlers in Connecticut, where they lived, first at Branford, in 1639 removing to Guilford. John Norton was one of the eighty-four first proprietors of Farmington, Conn. (1659). On the maternal side his ancestors were among the earliest settlers in Massachusetts, four of them, Francis Cooke, Richard Warren, and their wives coming in the Mayflower, 1620. Francis Brayton was one of the first settlers in Portsmouth, Rhode Island, as was also Thomas Cornell, who located in Boston in 1636.

Until he had reached the age of fourteen he attended public schools in Cleveland, Ohio, principally under Andrew Freese, and then received classical training under Henry Childs, a graduate of Yale. Beginning collegiate training, he entered Western Reserve College, Hudson, Ohio, where he remained during his freshman year, but in 1853 entered Union College, in his sophomore year, and in 1856 was graduated from that institution with the degree of A.B., in 1859 receiving the degree of A.M. and in 1899 the degree LL.D. He also took a post-graduate course at this college in the year 1857-58, acting during part of this period as assistant in chemistry and tutor in mathematics. During the year 1870-71 he studied abroad, under Englebach in Bonn, Kolba in Leipzig and Bunsen in Heidelberg. The other degrees that have been conferred upon him are: M.D., from Miami Medical College, 1869; honorary M.D., Western Reserve University, 1869; Ph.D., Kenyon, 1878; LL.D., Wooster University, 1881.

His long and honored career as a teacher began in 1850, when he was but fifteen years of age, in a country school. Upon entering college he ceased to teach, but resumed in 1856, and taught during his third term, senior year, in a collegiate school in Poughkeepsie, New York. He then studied medicine for a short time.

1859 was offered and accepted the principalship of the high school at Hamilton, Ohio. Since then, with the exception of three semesters studying in Germany and the loss of nearly a year through sickness, he has taught uninterruptedly.

He left Hamilton to become a teacher of natural science in the Cleveland High School, resigning this position in 1867 to accept a similar one in Mt. Auburn Seminary, Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1869 he was appointed professor of chemistry in Miami Medical College, and in 1873 was elected professor of chemistry in the Ohio State University, which chair he still fills as emeritus professor. Just previous to entering upon the duties of this professorship he had relieved Professor John Foster for a term, teaching natural philosophy. For two years he also served in the Sterling Medical College, at Columbus, as professor of chemistry.

Dr. Norton is the author of numerous essays on teaching and science, and has published books: "Natural Philosophy," 1870; "Elements of Physics," 1875; "Chemistry," 1878; "Inorganic-Organic," 1884. He was also editor, in 1864, of the revised edition of Uries' "English Grammar." He is a member of the Deutsches Chemische Gesellschaft of Berlin and of the London Society for Chemical Industry. Politically he is a Republican. He married, in 1864, Sarah Jane Chambers, by whom he had two sons, both of whom, with his wife, are dead. In 1876 he contracted a second marriage with Jessie Carter, and has children—David B., deceased, Caroline C., William H., Louis S. and Sarah L. Norton.

JONATHAN FRASER LOCKWOOD, A.B., M.D.

Jonathan Fraser Lockwood, Kansas City, Missouri, manufacturer of tents, awnings, etc., is a native of New York, born at Scotch Bush, Montgomery county, October 14, 1854, son of Henry Lockwood and Margaret Ann Kelly, his wife. He is a descendant of Robert Lockwood, who settled, in 1630, at Stamford, Connecticut, and thereabout. On the maternal side he is of Scotch and Irish blood, a descendant of the McDougalls, Adairs, and of the Kellys of the Isle of Man.

He attended ward schools and the free academy of Albany, then entered Union College, where he graduated A.B. in 1876. For the two years following he was on the New York state survey staff, then took up the study of medicine at Albany Medical College, and in 1881 came to his degree. He went west and took up professional work and in connection with his practice has served as health officer of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, in 1885, and as county physician of Kane county, Illinois, 1887-89. He is a non-resident member of the Chicago Medical Society and was a member of the "Albany Wood Company," a medical society of Wisconsin.

In 1900 Dr. Lockwood relinquished the practice of medicine to become a manufacturer. He married, September 5, 1888, Ella Miner of Friendship, New York, and has four children—Harry Boyne, Paul Miner, Jonathan Fraser, Jr., and Edward Philip Lockwood.

STEPHEN CASPAR BURTON, M.D.

Stephen Caspar Burton, Pittsfield, Massachusetts, physician and surgeon, was born in Lansingburgh, New York, June 14, 1850, son of Caspar Van Wie Burton, A.M., M.D., and Agnes McClellan Kelly, his wife.

Dr. Burton is a graduate of the Troy Academy and of the Albany Medical College. For five and one-half years he was senior assistant at the Swinburne Surgical Hospital at Albany, then removed to Massachusetts, and in connection with his practice at Pittsfield is also surgeon to the House of Mercy Hospital, is civil service examiner, which office he has held for the past ten years, is physician and surgeon to the House of Correction, having served thus for fourteen years. He has also been health officer of the city of Pittsfield and for ten years was health officer of the village of Pittsfield.

Dr. Burton is a member of the American Medical Association and of the Berkshire District Medical Society, Massachusetts. Politically he is a Republican.

FREDERICK BLAKE, A.B.

Frederick Blake, manager of the Security Safe Deposit Company of Troy, New York, was born in Waterford, New York, February 24, 1845, son of James R. Blake and Elizabeth Woodruff Blake. He is of Scotch descent, his great-grandfather, James Blake, having been born in Annandale, Scotland, on the 4th of July, 1753. He emigrated to America and settled in Greenwich, New York.

Frederick Blake's elementary education was acquired in a private school in Waterford under Thomas J. Sanson, his secondary education in the union school at Schenectady, New York, under Professor Stanton, and his literary education in Union College, where he came to his degree in 1866.

Upon graduation he entered mercantile life, forming a partnership with William H. Young, under the firm style of Young & Blake, in the book business, continuing until the death of Mr. Young in 1904.

From 1902 until 1904 Mr. Blake was president of the board of library trustees of the Waterford public schools, and from 1876 to 1878 was vice-president of the Young Men's Association of Troy. He is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, the Philomathean Society, and Eastern New York Association of Delta Kappa Epsilon, the National Geographical Society and of the Union College Alumni Association of Northern New York.

Mr. Blake married, on the 4th of April, 1872, Sara M. Viele of New York city, who died May 25, 1875. One child was born of this marriage, Edith Louise Blake, now Mrs. Howard King McHaffie of Pittsfield, Massachusetts.

JAMES BERNARD ROUSE, M.D.

James Bernard Rouse, Leeds, New York, physician, was born at Athens, New York, September 14, 1840, son of Cornelius Rouse and Adaline Van Schaick, his wife. He is descended from Holland Dutch stock.

He attended the West Dunham Seminary, and his medical education was acquired at the Albany Medical College, where he graduated in 1867, and the Long Island Medical College, where he graduated in 1868. In 1869 he opened for practice at Leeds, but soon removed to Wyckoff, New Jersey, where he remained until 1872. He next practiced in East Durham for two years, but was obliged to retire for a time on account of his health, in 1876 resuming professional work in Leeds, where he has since continued, with the exception of two years, from 1889 to 1891, which were spent in Peru, South America, under a contract with the London & Pacific Petroleum Company.

Dr. Rouse was health officer for the town of Catskill for three years and also served during four years as justice of the peace. He is a member of the Greene County Medical Society. Politically he is a Democrat, but voted for McKinley as president in both elections. He married, September 15, 1868, Julia B. Fowks, by whom he had one child, now deceased.

HARRISON THEODORE HICKOK, A.B.

Harrison Theodore Hickok, Belleville, New Jersey, preceptor, an expert in defective articulation in children, is a native of Vermont, born at Fairhaven, November 8, 1835, son of Elias Hickok and Betsey Whipple, his wife. He is a descendant of Benjamin H. Hickok, who came from England in 1670. His paternal grandmother, Rebecca Gregory Hickok, was of Scottish blood. On the maternal side he descends from John Whipple, who came from England in 1632, or before. He also traces descent from Roger Williams, who was English, possibly with a remote strain of Welsh blood, Thomas Olney, English, and Gabriel Bernon, a French Huguenot.

He attended district schools of Hydeville, Vermont, and was prepared for college at Castleton Seminary, Vermont, from which institution he went into Troy University, at Troy, New York, but entered Union College for the last two terms of the year 1863 and was graduated from there in that year with the A.B. degree. Since graduation he has been engaged in teaching, his first position having been in the Yonkers Military School, other connections having been as follows: Manlius Academy, Manlius, New York, of which he was principal; Amsterdam Academy, Amsterdam, New York, teacher, later principal; Cottage Hill Ladies' Seminary, Poughkeepsie, New York; Mary Somerville School, St. Clair, Michigan. His present connection is at Greylock Manor, Belleville.

Professor Hickok is the author of many monographs and papers on scientific, economic and other subjects, of a few satirical and other industrial poems, and of a manuscript "Life of Dr. Edmund Holley, Second Astronomer Royal of England"; "Parthenogenetic Studies of the Fly Pteromalus Gerardi"; "On the Habits of the Wasp Polister Fuscatus"; "On the Eccentric Growth of Exogenous Plants"; "The Ultimate Limits of Biology"; "I Am But One," an industrial poem of some length, etc.

Politically he is a Socialist, a nationalist, and under pressure from his friends ran for congress and again for state senator, but was defeated. He has never cared for business, but has always been deeply interested in science and in the economic aspects of civil government, and regards society, as now organized throughout the world, as irrational, unscientific, cruel, at variance with the better instincts of humanity, but has an optimistic belief in its ultimate development.

Professor Hickok is an honorary member of the Poughkeepsie Society of Natural Science, now Vassar Brothers' Institute, the Bridgeport Society of Natural Science and of the Rochester Society of Natural Science; of the first two of these organizations he is one of the founders. He married, August 12, 1867, Alice Alida Hall of Saratoga Springs, New York, and has three children living—Charles Whipple, Halley F., Helen Mulford Hickok, and one, Bessie Hickok, who died in 1873 at the age of three years.

HENRY CHANCELLOR WOOD, A.B., LL.B.

Union College, academic course, from which he was graduated in 1883 with the degree of artium baccalaureus. He was educated for the law in Columbian Law School, Washington, D. C., graduating from there in 1886 with the degree of legum baccalaureus.

Mr. Wood began his professional career in September, 1886, in the office of C. D. O'Brien, Esq., at St. Paul, Minnesota, and from 1888 to 1890 was assistant United States attorney for the District of Minnesota. He subsequently removed to Duluth, Minnesota, where he resided and practiced law until 1892, during which time he was local attorney for the Northern Pacific Railroad Company.

He removed to Chicago in 1892 and has since resided there engaged in the general practice of law, and is now the senior member of the law firm of Wood, Fyffe & Adcock. In addition to engaging in the general practice of the law he has devoted much of his time to that branch of practice which relates to railroad and corporation law, and is president of the Milwaukee Southern Railway Company, vice president and counsel of the La Crosse & Southeastern Railway Company and general counsel of the Illinois, Iowa & Minnesota Railway Company.

He is a member of the Psi Upsilon Society, Union League Club of Chicago, University Club of Chicago, Chicago Golf Club, the Milwaukee Club, Milwaukee Country Club, University Club of Milwaukee and the La Crosse Club.

Mr. Wood is a Democrat, though not specially active in politics. He was married July 19, 1893, to Carolyn M. Galloo of Paris, France.

CHARLES B. MALLERY, M.D.

Charles B. Mallery, Aberdeen, South Dakota, physician and surgeon, medical director of the Western Mutual Life Insurance Company of Aberdeen, was born February 11, 1865, at Chestertown, Warren county, New York, son of Nelson B. Mallery and Mary Frances Collins, his wife, and is of Scotch-Irish descent. Soon after the French and Indian war both the Mallery and Collins families settled from Rhode Island in northern New York, where they have resided ever since.

Dr. Mallery's education was begun in district schools of his native place and continued at Mrs. Armstrong's Academy and with two years' study of Latin and mathematics with the Rev. Mr. Clapp of Chestertown. He then took up the study of medicine at the Albany Medical College, where he came to his degree in 1886.

Upon graduation he practiced for about one year as assistant to Dr. Little at Glens Falls, New York, but in 1887 opened practice for himself at Corinth, New York. Here he practiced until 1889, and from that year until 1891 the state of his health kept him from professional work. In the latter year he resumed his practice in Corinth, and there remained until 1899, since when he has been professionally engaged at Aberdeen.

He is a member of the American Medical Association, ex-member of the Medical Society of Saratoga Springs, New York, member and ex-president, which office he filled in 1903-04, of the Aberdeen District Medical Society, member and ex-president, 1904, of the South Dakota State Medical Association. He is a Mason, a past master of St. Johns Lodge No. 22, of Greenfield Center, New York, 1897-98, and a member of Aberdeen Lodge No. 38, past high priest of Aberdeen Chapter, R. A. He is a Mason, a member of Rondout Lodge No. 343, Mt. Horab Chapter No. 75, Rondout Commandery No. 52, all of which are organizations of Kingston, New York, of the Knights of Pythias No. 65, and of Cypress Temple, Mystic Shrine, of Albany.

ROBERT ENNIS, A.B.

Robert Ennis, Jacksonville, Oregon, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, was born in Perth Center, Fulton county, New York, in 1841, son of Joseph Ennis and Ruth Ann Norris, his wife. He is of Scotch Presbyterian ancestry on the paternal side, and of New England stock on the maternal side, tracing lineage back to the "Mayflower" band.

His early education was acquired in public schools in a rural district near his home in the town of Princeton, Schenectady county, and he prepared for college at Johnstown Academy, Johnstown, New York, of which the Rev. Peter Smeallie was principal. He entered Union College in the freshman year and was graduated in 1867 with the degree of A.B., in the fall of the same year becoming a regular student at Princeton Theological Seminary, where he graduated in 1870.

Directly following graduation from the seminary he served as a licentiate of the Albany Presbytery, preaching for six months at Broadalbin, Fulton county, New York. In November, 1871, he was ordained and installed by the Presbytery of Westminster as pastor of the Pequea Presbyterian Church at South Hermitage, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. After a successful pastorate of about four years he resigned to take charge of the Presbyterian Church at Victor, New York. After about two years he received a call to become first pastor of the West End Presbyterian Church of Albany, New York. After six and one-half years' service he resigned from this church and became a home missionary of the Presbyterian Board of Missions.

In the home missionary work his first field of labor was Madison, South Dakota, where he began work in the autumn of 1883 and continued about three years, then removing to Pendleton, Oregon, where he was engaged two years. In the autumn of the year 1887 he accepted a call to the Presbyterian Church at Jacksonville, Oregon, and served as their minister for a period of eleven years, preaching there and at several adjacent places. He was then called to take charge of missionary work in Coos county, Oregon, being located at Bandon and Coquille City for three and one-half years, then for a like period was located at Turner, Oregon, having charge of three churches in the vicinity.

He was next invited by the church at Jacksonville to return and be their minister after a period of seven years' absence from them, and is now preaching there and also supplying two stations that require, by wagon conveyance, a travel of forty miles each month.

Mr. Ennis was a member of the Adelpic Society at college and now belongs to the A. F. & A. M. and to the O. E. S. In politics he is independent, but mostly allied with the Republican party. He married, in 1882, Etta M. Sease of Albany, and has five children—Mrs. Eunice J. Parker of Portland, Oregon; Robert J. Ennis of Portland, George Alexander Ennis, deceased; Ruth Etta Ennis of Jacksonville, Oregon, and Worden Ennis, also of Jacksonville.

On the 23d of July, 1900, he married Lillian Jane Munshower, and has two children—Mildred and James Hunsicker.

ROBERT MYERS SHOEMAKER PUTNAM, LL.B.

Robert Myers Shoemaker Putnam, New York city, lawyer, is a native of Saratoga county, New York, born November 5, 1870, son of Judge John Risley Putnam and Mary Steiner Shoemaker, his wife, and through his parents inherits a mixture of English and Holland Dutch blood, and represents on the paternal side the Puritan of New England and on the maternal side the sturdy Dutch pioneer of the Mohawk valley in New York.

John Putnam, the American ancestor on the paternal side, emigrated from England in 1640. Gideon Putnam, direct descendant of John and great-grandfather of Robert, was one of the founders of the village of Saratoga Springs, and was a near relative of General Israel Putnam of Revolutionary fame, and of General Rufus Putnam, one of the founders of Marietta, a pioneer of the west and a patriot and officer of the Revolution. Judge John Risley Putnam, father of Robert, for many years was a prominent lawyer of Saratoga county, and in 1887 was elected justice of the Supreme Court for the fourth judicial district of New York state. He died in 1889 in Hong Kong, China, while traveling for pleasure in the Orient.

Through the Myers and Shoemaker families Mr. Putnam inherits Dutch blood, and both of these families in America trace back through many generations to the early times of the colony and the Dutch dominion to their ancestral head on this side of the Atlantic, to Michael Myers and Johan Jost Shoemaker (sometimes called "Hanyost" Shoemaker), who were among the original patentees of Herkimer county. Robert M. Shoemaker (grandfather of Robert Putnam) was a pioneer of the west and a contractor in the construction of the Kansas Pacific Railroad. He finally settled in Cincinnati, Ohio, and became president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad, the Cincinnati & Southern Railroad, and also was the principal founder of the Cincinnati street railway system. During the Civil war he had entire charge of the transportation of troops through Ohio. He died in 1885, possessed of a large fortune.

Mr. Putnam acquired his elementary education in public and private schools in Saratoga, his secondary education in Fairview Academy, near Saratoga, and his higher education in Cornell University. He studied law in Saratoga Springs and afterwards entered as a student the Albany Law School and was graduated there in 1892, with the degree of LL.B. In the same year he removed to New York city and entered the office of Wing, Shoudy & Putnam, remaining there until he was admitted to the bar in Albany in February, 1893.

Since he came to the bar Mr. Putnam has engaged in active practice in New York city. He is a member of the New York Bar Association, the Saratoga County Society of New York, the West Side Republican Club, the Zoological and American Museum of Natural History, societies of New York, the Zeta Psi Club of New York, the Fruija, Undine and Bench and Board societies of Cornell University, the New York Athletic Club, Columbia Yacht Club and the New York Yacht Club. Politically he is a Republican, but does not take an interest in the turmoil of political life. He married, June 8, 1895, Mary Cornelia Ballard of Saratoga Springs. His residence is 318 West 84th street, and his office 31 Nassau street, city of New York.

GEORGE EVERETT BEILBY, M.D.

George Everett Beilby, surgeon and gynecologist of Albany, New York, former resident physician at the New York State Industrial School at Rochester, was born in the town of Harpersfield, New York, on the 10th of April, 1876, a son of George Lauder Beilby and Elizabeth Jane Wiltse, his wife, and is descended from English ancestors. His earlier education was received at Deposit Academy, where he was graduated in 1895. He was educated in medicine at Albany Medical College.

graduating from that institution with the degree of M.D. in 1899.

In 1899 and 1900 he was resident physician at Albany Hospital, and from 1900 to 1904 was resident physician at the State Industrial School at Rochester. In 1904-1905 he took special post-graduate studies in surgery at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., and since that time has specialized his practice to cases in surgery and gynecology. He is a member of Rochester Hospital Medical Society, and was its secretary in 1903 and 1904, and a member of Albany County Medical Society. Dr. Beilby married, October 31, 1900, Mary Gertrude Snyder, and has one daughter, Helen McAlpine Beilby.

ISAAC M. THOMAS, C.E.

Isaac M. Thomas of Wilkes-Barre, Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, by profession a civil engineer and by former occupation a merchant miller, but more recently engaged with the management of personal interests, is a native of McVeytown, Juniata county, Pennsylvania, born February 1, 1844, a son of Jesse Thomas and Ellen Elizabeth Miner, his wife. On his father's side he is a descendant of one of the oldest families of Chester county, Pennsylvania, his ancestor having come to America with Penn and his colonists, all of whom were Quakers. Land is still owned in the family which was granted to the ancestor by William Penn himself. On his mother's side Mr. Thomas' ancestors were of the Connecticut settlers in the Wyoming valley in Pennsylvania. The Miners came from England and were among the Puritans of New England.

In September, 1865, Mr. Thomas entered the junior class in Union College for the engineering course, and was graduated with the degree of C.E. in March, 1867. In April of the same year he went into the Philadelphia offices of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, but left in January, 1868, and on February 1 took the position of tutor of civil engineering and mathematics in Pennsylvania Agricultural College. On the 1st of February, 1869, he was made professor of mathematics and continued in that faculty chair until April 1 of the following year, when he resigned and returned to his home in Wilkes-Barre, where he has lived since 1852.

After leaving the college Mr. Thomas engaged in the merchant milling business in Wilkes-Barre until April 1, 1887, then sold out and has since given his attention to private personal affairs. On the 11th of September, 1872, he married Sally Hollenback Dunlap, by whom he has his five children: Eleanor Natalie Thomas, Hervey Dunlap Thomas (now dead), Louise Miner Thomas, Percy Rutter Thomas and Jesse Dunlap Thomas.

JAMES GEORGE WASHINGTON ENTWISTLE,
M.D.

James George Washington Entwistle, Englewood (Chicago), Illinois, physician and surgeon, was born at Bronxdale, Westchester county, New York, January 7, 1842, son of William Entwistle and Mary Booth, his wife, both of whom were born at Harwood, Lancashire, England. He was the fifteenth of seventeen children born to his parents—nine sons and eight daughters—and he is the eighth son. His earlier literary education was acquired in public schools, Troy Academy, Hudson River Collegiate Institute (1856, Wm. H. Bannister, principal) and in special night schools under the supervision of Professors Dunham, McNutt and Cook, all famous educators half a century ago.

Dr. Entwistle was educated in medicine in the medical department of Union University—Albany Medical College—from which he graduated in 1883, with the degree of M.D.; but long before he attended the lecture courses of that institution he had become well grounded in medicine and had practiced many years before entering the college classrooms. Indeed, he was brought up under influences which tended to cultivate in his young mind a decided taste for the profession of medicine. His mother was a successful physician, but not the product of any particular school of medicine; she compounded her own medicines from roots, herbs, barks, seeds and flowers, and her son was her constant helper from his earliest childhood, acquiring from her a thorough knowledge of the medicinal properties of herbs, their action on each other and on disease. Besides this, he learned much of the principles of fermentation, his schooling in this branch having been gained during his employment in various large distilleries in Illinois, Louisiana and Virginia; and it may be said with propriety that with the exception of the time he was employed in the distilleries, Dr. Entwistle has been a practitioner of medicine since his youth.

His professional career has been without extraordinary event and has been rewarded with gratifying success. The field of his endeavor is chiefly laid in Chicago and its vicinity, yet he has not relinquished his practice in New York, it being his custom to go from one place to the other, remaining a day or a month, as occasion demands. A single incident of his early life is perhaps worthy of notice here: When the epidemic of Asiatic cholera in Philadelphia, in 1848 and 1849, was at its height, his parents and himself were in the center of its ravages, and in the immediate locality a family of eleven persons was stricken with the malady. Physicians would give them no attention, and in the emergency of the occasion the parish priest called on the doctor's mother, related the situation and asked her help. At once the good woman answered the call and bade her son James (the doctor) go with her; and accompanied by her husband and the good priest the afflicted family was visited, provided with medicines and food, and ultimately all were restored to health. Still, the physicians of that day called this woman a quack, and with all their might did exclaim against her, while she went quietly about her work, doing good and carrying comfort into homes where the educated physician feared to enter.

As has been stated, Dr. Entwistle practiced medicine many years before he took the Albany Medical College course, yet he values the diploma of alma mater at its real worth, and as the school has honored him with its degree so, in turn, has his professional life reflected credit on the institutional mother. He is a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, and in politics is a Republican, although not active in public affairs. On May 7, 1867, Dr. Entwistle married Margaret Louisa McCall of Canton, Illinois, by whom he has two children, Helen and James McCall Entwistle; he also has one grandson, Raymond King Entwistle.

CHARLES DEWITT LAWTON, C.E., A.M.

Charles DeWitt Lawton of Lawton, Van Buren county, Michigan, regent of the University of the State of Michigan, lives in a village that owes its existence to the fact that when the Michigan Central railroad was built a station was located on lands owned by Nathan Lawton, his father, who then lived in the city of Auburn, New York, and who subsequently laid out the village and gave it his name. Nathan Lawton was born in Fairfield, Herkimer county, New York, on October 14, 1801. Both of his parents were natives of Rhode Island and married there. The Lawtons went into Rhode Island with Roger Williams, and in the first political organization made in the colony, dated April 3, 1639, signed by Hutchinson and twenty-seven others, the names of four Lawtons appear on the list. The family was prominently identified with events affecting the colony during all its early history.

The Lawtons came originally from England, where the family was one of great antiquity. Nathan Lawton married Esther Wiggins, whose American ancestor emigrated from England to New York in the early part of the seventeenth century. Aaron Wiggins, grandfather of Charles D. Lawton, served with the American army during the Revolution from 1779 to the end of the contest, and three of his mother's brothers were soldiers of the war of 1812, serving against the British and Indians.

Charles DeWitt Lawton was born in Rome, New York, on the 4th of November, 1835, and was the youngest of six children. He prepared for college at Auburn Academy, and was graduated from Union College with the degree of A.B. in 1858. His degree of C.E. was conferred in 1859, and that of A.M. in 1861. In 1860 he became principal of Auburn Academy, holding that position four years, and then was elected city engineer and surveyor of that city. In 1865 he removed to Lawton, Michigan, where he secured the location of the works of the Michigan Central Iron Company, which was organized to manufacture charcoal pig iron from Lake Superior ore. In 1870 he was appointed by the regents of the University of the State of Michigan assistant professor of engineering, which position he held until October of the following year, when he went to Lake Superior as assistant in the state geological survey of the Marquette iron district, and also to engage in general mine surveying and engineering work. Associated with Major T. B. Brooks, and subsequently with Charles E. Wright, he had an office and laboratory in Marquette for several years.

He assisted the state geologist in his observations and in the preparation of his report of 1869-1873, and also assisted Commissioner Wright in his report for 1877-1878. The reports for the years 1880-1882 were Mr. Lawton's work entirely. During the administrations of Governor Alger and Governor Luce he held the office of commissioner of mineral statistics, so that practically he was the commissioner for nine years, and is the author of nine volumes of "Mineral Resources of the State." These reports were in great demand and are still highly regarded. In the spring of 1897 Mr. Lawton was elected a regent of the University of the State of Michigan, and still serves in that capacity.

Mr. Lawton was the first person to introduce the growing of grapes as a practical industry at Lawton. In 1865 he purchased at Geneva, New York, five thousand grapevine cuttings and rooted them at Lawton, and with his brother and two other men he planted out several small vineyards. This was the beginning at that place of an industry which has since assumed large proportions.

He always has been a staunch Republican, a Fremont voter in 1856 and never has yielded his fealty in favor of any other party; but he never has sought political honors for himself. Few Republican county or state conventions have been held in which he was not a delegate.

In 1861 Charles DeWitt Lawton married Lucy Lovina Latham of Seneca Falls, New York, and five sons and four daughters were born of this union. Of these seven have graduated from college. Two of the sons are mine superintendents, two are lawyers and one is a physician. Of the daughters two are teachers in high schools.

Mr. Lawton is a Mason, member of the American Historical Association, the Michigan Horticultural Society and the Michigan Political Science Association.

FRANK MASON COMSTOCK, C.E., A.M., PH.D.

Frank Mason Comstock, professor of natural history and descriptive geometry at Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio, was graduated from Union College in 1876 and was awarded the degree of A.B. in the science course and that of C.E. in the engineering course. He also secured the fellowship in natural history for 1876-1877. His honorary A.M. degree was conferred in 1879 and that of Ph.D in 1891.

The chronology of Professor Comstock's professional and pedagogical career may be noted about as follows: 1876 (summer), assistant on Adirondack survey, New York state; 1877-1878, in insurance business at Le Roy, New York; 1878-1879, professor of science, Le Roy Academic Institute, Le Roy, New York; 1879-1891, principal of Le Roy Academic Institute; 1891-1902, professor of English and natural history at Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio; 1902-, professor of natural history, same institution.

Frank Mason Comstock is a native of Le Roy, New York, born May 20, 1855, a son of Samuel Francis Comstock and Mary Mason Turner, his wife, and a descendant of Elder Brewster of the "Mayflower" and also of Captain John Mason, the famous Indian fighter of the Pequot war in Connecticut which began in 1637. His earlier literary education was acquired at Le Roy Academic Institute, where he attended from 1864 to 1872, and his higher education in Union College, where he came to the bachelor degree in 1876.

He is a member of Delta Upsilon, Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Xi societies, Rochester Academy of Science, Ohio Academy of Science, National Geographic Society, American Forestry Association and the Canadian Forestry Association. His published works include various articles on ornithology and geology in "The Auk," "American Geologist," etc. On the 29th of June, 1882, Professor Comstock married Louise Norton Brown of Le Roy, New York, by whom he has one son—William Steele Brown Comstock.

GEORGE ALDOMIR COX, M.D.

George Aldomir Cox, Albany, New York, medical practitioner in that city continuously since 1871, was born May 17, 1847, at Gilbertsville, Otsego county, New York, a son of Joseph T. and Leonora Cox of Gilbertsville, New York. He acquired his early education at Waverly Institute, Waverly, New York, and had barely completed his studies there when the call came for volunteers to maintain the integrity of the federal union, and he enlisted, at the age of seventeen, on the 17th of December, 1863, at Gilbertsville, New York, in the 2d company of heavy artillery, New York Volunteers. His company, attached to the 2d corps, 2d division, 2d brigade, under General Hancock, rendered efficient service in many engagements. He took part in six or seven battles and was present at Lee's surrender. In June, 1865, he was mustered out of service.

Upon leaving the army Dr. Cox took up the study of medicine with his uncle, Dr. James W. Cox of Albany, and then, after a period of study with him, entered Albany Medical College, whence he graduated in December, 1868. He first practiced in Albany, as partner with his uncle, for one and one-half years, then removed to Cohoes, where he remained for one year. In 1871 he returned to Albany, which city has since been the field of his professional labors.

Dr. Cox is a member of the Homœopathic Medical Society of the State of New York, the Albany County Homœopathic Medical Society and of the American Institute of Homœopathy. He married, May 17, 1876, Estelle Travis of Cohoes, New York.

CHARLES EDWARD MOORE, C.E.

Charles Edward Moore, civil and consulting engineer, living at Santa Clara, California, is among the older graduates of the engineering department of Union University, having finished his course and come to the degree in 1870. After leaving college he began his professional career as assistant engineer on the Brattleboro and Whitehall railroad, with which he was connected in 1871 and 1872, and from 1873 to 1875 he was a member of the teaching force of Alfred University at Alfred, New York.

During the course of his long and successful career this alumnus has served in various official capacities: assistant engineer on the New York Central and Hudson River railroad; contractor on the Lake Ontario Shore road; principal assistant engineer on the Jerseyville and Springfield railroad, 1880-1881; assistant engineer for the Wabash road and its inspector of bridges and iron and steel construction, including the work of rebuilding the bridge across the Missouri river at St. Charles, Missouri, 1882-1885; locating engineer for the Southern Pacific railroad in California, 1886-1888; bridge engineer of the Fort street union depot viaduct at Detroit, Michigan, 1890-1891.

Since 1892 Mr. Moore has lived at Santa Clara, and has served as consulting and constructing engineer on municipal and other work. He was born in the old town of Rupert, Vermont, December 15, 1849, and comes of American Revolutionary stock. His father was Silas Harwood Moore; his mother was Mary Dewey Burton. On both sides and through all four of his grandparents his ancestors were soldiers under Washington. Through his mother he is related to the Deweys and descended from Governor Bradford of the "Mayflower" and Plymouth colony.

His earlier education was acquired at Burr and Burton Seminary at Manchester, Vermont, and Fort Edward Institute at Fort Edward, New York, and his higher education at Union College, where he was graduated with the degree of C.E. in 1870. On the 7th of May, 1874, Mr. Moore married Miss Kate Cole, by whom he has one daughter—May Moore.

Mr. Moore is a frequent contributor to various papers and scientific journals. He is a Mason, a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Technical Society of the Pacific Coast and the Pacific Coast Association of Members of the American Society of Civil Engineers. Since 1897 he has been a member of the Board of Education of Santa Clara.

WALES WALLACE WOOD, A.B.

Judge Wales Wallace Wood of Belvidere, Boone county, Illinois, lawyer in active practice since 1860, former judge of the County Court of Boone county, adjutant of the Ninety-fifth Regiment, Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and at one time assistant adjutant general on staff duty during the war of 1861-1865, was born in the town of Hinsdale in Cattaraugus county, New York, on the 25th of April, 1837. His parents were Emery Wood and Permelia Marsh, and he comes of good old New England colonial stock.

Thomas Wood was born in England in 1635, came to America in 1643 and settled in the plantation at Rowley in the colony of Massachusetts. From him came Josiah Wood and from the latter Captain Emery Wood, the soldier and patriot of the colonial wars and the Revolution. He was Judge Wood's great-grandfather, and his son, Wheelock Wood, married Lydia Seymour, daughter of William Seymour of Norwalk, Connecticut, and a descendant of Richard Seymour of Hartford, 1639, who was a grandson of Sir Edward Seymour, first duke of Somerset and lord protector of England during the minority of Edward VI. Permelia Marsh, Judge Wood's mother, was a daughter of Royal Marsh and Rhoda Hilliard and a granddaughter of John Hilliard of Danby, Vermont, who was a direct descendant of Hugh Hilliard of Salem, Massachusetts, 1639, and who afterward settled in Danby.

Colonel Emery Wood became a resident of Hinsdale in 1817, purchasing considerable real estate there and in that vicinity. Before settling in Hinsdale he had taken an active part in the war of 1812-15. At the age of fifteen years he enlisted as a fifer, and in September, 1812, marched from Gainesville, New York, to Lewiston. At the expiration of his term (three months) he returned home. In the summer of 1813 he again took the field (as a substitute), and in July of that year was taken prisoner at Black Rock, and thence was sent with other prisoners of war to Halifax and detained there as prisoner of war until June, 1814, when he was released. Returning to his home in Gainesville, he again, in September, 1814, joined the New York volunteers that were then organizing on the Holland Land Purchase for the relief of Fort Erie: marched with them to the front, and while engaged in the battle of September 17, was captured by the "red coats."

the second time, and held a prisoner until the close of the war.

Colonel Wood was a prominent man during the early days in western New York. The fact of his being the first merchant and first postmaster at Hinsdale, in 1825, and about the same time holding the offices of supervisor, town clerk, justice of the peace, and the colonelcy of the Two Hundred and Twenty-sixth Regiment, New York Infantry (militia), gave a prominence and celebrity to his name that was widespread.

Toward the close of the war of 1812, Colonel Wood, then prisoner at Halifax, was about to be transported to England, but when the war ended he was landed at Boston, Massachusetts. From this point he started to "foot it" back to Gainesville, and traveled over the very road his grandfather, Emery Wood, had helped to build by contract, the Boston and Hartford turnpike. Reaching the old "Spring Tavern," about thirty miles out of Boston, he found he was among relatives; he stopped with them for a short time, but anxious to get home, would not remain over Sunday. As it was against the law to travel in that state on Sunday, one of his cousins went with him for quite a distance to save him from annoyance. At any rate, he got through safely, on foot, and often afterward mentioned his walking through the old covered bridge across the Mohawk river at Schenectady, New York, on his journey back to Gainesville.

William H. Wood, who was graduated from Union College with the class of 1844, and who died in the year 1900, was Judge Wood's brother. Another older brother, Frederick M. Wood, died a number of years earlier, and still another brother, Staley N. Wood, for several years one of the assessors of New York state, appointed by Governor Cleveland, and who became a prominent Democrat and stump speaker throughout the state, now lives (1905) in Hinsdale.

Judge Wood was given the benefit of a good academic and collegiate education. In 1844 he attended Hinsdale Academy, under Professor O. W. Gibbs, principal, and in 1846 was a student in Hinsdale District School under Principal John C. Gould. He prepared for college in the Ellicottville District Union School, 1850-1852, under Professor Havens, and also under Professor Luther Howell of Middlebury College at Middlebury, Vermont. He entered Genesee College at Lima, New York, and attended there during the freshman and sophomore years, 1853-1854, then transferred his studentship to Union College, taking the classical course through his junior and senior years, and was graduated from there in 1857, with the degree of artium baccalaureus; and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, thus indicating his general proficiency and standing. In the fall of 1857 he went to Belvidere, Illinois, read law two years in the office of Fuller & Wood (the latter being Judge Wood's elder brother, a graduate of Union, class of '44, and Phi Beta Kappa) and in the winter of 1859-60 was admitted to practice as attorney at law.

At once after being admitted to practice Judge Wood began his professional career in Belvidere as member of the law firm of Wood, Thompson & Wood, and so continued until the summer of 1862, when he enlisted as private in Company G, Ninety-fifth Illinois Volunteer Infantry, and soon afterward was commissioned adjutant of the regiment. About the same time he was detailed to staff duty, acting as assistant adjutant general during the siege of Vicksburg and at the battle of Nashville; and he was at the siege of Spanish Fort, Mobile, Alabama, in the spring of 1865. He was mustered into service September 4, 1862, and was discharged and mustered out August 16, 1865.

Returning to his home in Belvidere at the close of the war, Judge Wood resumed law practice, and from that time he has occupied a prominent place in professional circles in Boone county, and also for many years was a conspicuous figure in the civil and political history of that part of the state. He was one of the early trustees of the incorporated town of Belvidere, city attorney for the city of Belvidere, master in chancery several years, state's attorney several terms, county judge of Boone county ten years, holding court part of the time in Chicago.

In the social life of the locality in which he has lived so long he also has been well known, having been twice elected commander of Hurlbut Post, No. 164, G. A. R., and a member of that organization since it was established. He is a Mason, member of Lodge No. 60, A. F. & A. M. of Belvidere. Away back in early college days he was a member of Genesee Lyceum of Genesee College, 1853-1854, and at "Old Union" he held membership in the Philomathean Society, 1856-1857; Theta Xi Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon, 1857; elected to Phi Beta Kappa, 1857. Politically he is a Republican; at the outbreak of the war he was a Douglas Democrat, but since that time has allied his fortunes with the Republican party and for many years has been a firm and consistent advocate of its doctrines; an active campaigner in years past, and frequently a delegate to county and state conventions. He is a public speaker of repute and frequently has been called on to officiate as orator on notable occasions. In 1860 he delivered the address before Genesee Lyceum at the Genesee College commencement, and he also has delivered numerous Independence day, Memorial day, reunion and campfire addresses. Soon after the war he wrote and published a history of his old regiment, the Ninety-fifth Illinois Volunteers, besides which he has contributed articles of army reminiscences to the "National Tribune," Washington, D. C.

On June 15, 1866, Judge Wood married Alice Emily Humphrey, by whom he has one daughter—Gertrude Carrie Wood, now deceased.

ROBERT EDWIN DORAN, M.D.

Robert Edwin Doran, first assistant physician at Willard State Hospital, Willard, New York, was born in the city of Albany, October 26, 1870, a son of James Doran and Anna M. Tate, his wife, and comes of Irish ancestors. He was educated in the Albany public and high schools and Albany Medical College, from the latter of which he was graduated with the degree of M.D. in 1893. During that and the following year he served an internship at Albany City Hospital, and on the 19th of February, 1895, was appointed junior physician at Willard State Hospital. On December 1, 1901, he was advanced to the position of first assistant physician at the Craig Colony for Epileptics, Poughkeepsie, New York, and in November, 1903, was made first assistant physician at Willard State Hospital.

Dr. Doran is a member of the American Medical Association, the American Medico-Psychological Association, American Association for the Study of Epilepsy, the New York State Medical Society and the Central New York Medical Association. He is a Knight Templar in Free Masonry. On the 5th of October, 1898, Dr. Doran married Annie M. Wark, and has two children, Robert E. and Margaret E. Doran.

ROSWELL ALPHONSO BENEDICT, A.B., A.M.

Roswell Alphonso Benedict of the class of '83, lawyer of New York city, residence, Cranford, New Jersey, was born at South Norwalk, Connecticut, September 27, 1855, son of James Benedict, Jr., and Thirza C. Dibble. His earlier education was acquired in South Norwalk Union School and his higher education in Union College, where he entered for the classical course in September, 1879, and was graduated in 1883, A.B., with honors of Phi Beta Kappa and class salutatorian, which latter he resigned without filling. His degree of A.M. followed in regular course in 1886.

From December, 1884, to March, 1887, Mr. Benedict was attached to the senate reporting staff under Denis Murphy in Washington, D. C. In May, 1889, he entered the office of Dillon & Swayne of New York city, counse. for the Western Union Telegraph Company, studied law, and in June, 1893, was admitted to practice in the courts of New York state, and since also has been admitted to the United States courts. He was married to Marie Potter of New York City on the 12th of February, 1892, and has no children.

He is author of "America," a patriotic poem, 1876; "Macbeth," a farce, published in The Garnet at Union College in 1883; "Doubting Castle," a religious novellette, 1891; "Free Silver Smoke from the Free Trade Fire," 1896; "Tim, Tam, and Tom Settling the Tariff Trust Question," 1900; "Tam, Tom and Tim's Discussion of Free Trade as a Remedy for Trusts," etc., 1901.

Mr. Benedict's favorite production is the formulation of "Benedict's Law of Economic Gravitation," stated as follows: Cost of subsistence is cost of production. Cost of subsistence varies directly with latitude between the poles and the tropics. The "gravitation" consists, as he maintains, in the uniform movement of capital toward the tropics, pari passu with the relaxation of tariffs and other trade barriers.

ROBERT ELEAZAR ENSIGN, M.D.

Robert Eleazar Ensign of Berlin, Connecticut, physician and surgeon in active practice for almost fifty years, and whose professional life has been varied with official positions requiring medical skill and rich experience, was born at West Hartland, Connecticut, February 25, 1834, son of Eleazar Ensign and Harriet Bosworth, his wife, on the paternal side a descendant of James Ensign, who came to Hartford, Connecticut, with Rev. Thomas Hooker's company of colonists in 1635. On his mother's side he is a grandson of Dr. Nathaniel Bosworth, who practiced medicine in Hartland more than three score years.

Dr. Ensign was educated in public schools in Connecticut, Westfield Academy at Westfield, Massachusetts, Connecticut Literary Institute at Suffield, Connecticut, and Albany Medical College, from which latter institution he was graduated with the degree of M.D. in 1857. His preceptor in medicine was Dr. C. W. Ensign, and after graduation he took a special course of lectures at Harvard Medical School under the famous Dr. O. W. Holmes, who then was at the zenith of his fame.

Since he came to the degree in medicine Dr. Ensign has engaged in active general practice. In 1861-1862 he was assistant surgeon of the Sixth Connecticut Volunteer Infantry. He was a member of the Connecticut General Assembly in 1867, served as health officer of Berlin twenty-one years, several years as superintendent of schools of Harwinton, Connecticut, medical examiner for the coroner, and also for several life insurance companies. He is a Mason, surgeon of Post No. 11, G.A.R., Department of Connecticut, member of the Episcopal Church of St. Mark, of New Britain, member of the Connecticut Medical Society and of the Medical Alumni Association of Albany Medical College for New England.

LYMAN GIDDINGS HOLLEY, C.E.

Lyman Giddings Holley of Oak Park, Cook county, Illinois, former manager in Chicago for the Pillsbury-Washburn Flour Mills Company of Minneapolis, but now retired from active business pursuits, was born at Pierrepont Manor, Jefferson county, New York, June 29, 1845, son of Nathan T. and Martha S. (Giddings) Holley, and is descended from one of the oldest colonial families of Connecticut.

His American ancestor, John Holley, born in England in 1618, died in Connecticut in 1681, came to this country in 1642 and settled at Stamford. His son, Captain Increase Holley, was conspicuous in Connecticut history during the French and Indian wars and also during the Revolution. From John Holley of Connecticut, 1642, to Lyman G. Holley of Chicago, the line of descent runs to Captain Increase Holley of Stamford, died 1782; thence to Joseph Holley of Stamford, born 1686; to Jonathan Holley of Sharon, Connecticut, born 1721; to Nathan Holley of Pierrepont Manor, New York, who settled in the town of Ellisburg in Jefferson county about 1812; to Nathan T. Holley, born at Pierrepont Manor in 1812 and died in Chicago at Oak Park in 1890; and from him to Lyman G. Holley of Chicago since 1872.

Mr. Holley acquired his early education in public and private schools and for four years was a pupil in an Episcopal parish school at Pierrepont Manor under the principalship of Rev. William Paret, now bishop of Maryland. Later on he attended Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Belleville Academy, Fort Plain Seminary and Cazenovia Seminary. He entered the engineering department of Union University in September, 1863, and was graduated with the degree of C.E. in 1866.

After graduation he went at once to Minnesota with the purpose to practice his profession, but on arriving there was offered and accepted a desirable position in J. C. Eaton's private bank. In 1868 he went to Chicago and in partnership with Mr. Eaton engaged in the flour and grain commission business. In later years Mr. Holley was associated in the same business with other partners until 1887 and then became manager in Chicago for the Pillsbury-Washburn Flour Mills Company, as previously mentioned, and so continued until 1903.

On the 14th of August, 1872, Mr. Holley married Minnie Lyon.

WILLIAM B. CAMPBELL, M.D.

William B. Campbell, a successful practitioner of medicine at Edmeston, New York, a member of the Otsego County Medical Society, was born at Bovina, Delaware county, New York, on the 23d of November, 1858, a son of James M. Campbell and Eliza M. Bailey, his wife, and is of Scotch-Irish descent.

He was educated at Cortland State Normal School and Albany Medical College, and was graduated from the latter with the degree of M.D. in March, 1886. For seven years previous to taking up the study of medicine he taught common schools. His professional career was begun in 1886 at Garrattsville, New York, and he practiced there until 1901, when he removed to Edmeston. On the 12th of January, 1881, Dr. Campbell married Nancie H. Reynolds, by whom he has one daughter—Mary Theresa Campbell, now a student at Cornell University.

CHARLES COOKE LESTER, A.B., A.M.

Charles Cooke Lester, lawyer, Saratoga Springs, New York, was born at Milford, Otsego county, New York, June 27, 1850, son of Charles Smith Lester and Lucy Louise Cooke, his wife.

Mr. Lester's father was born at Worcester, Massachusetts, March 15, 1824, was brought up and educated by his uncle, the late John Willard, late vice-chancellor of the Fourth Circuit and one of the justices of the Supreme Court, was admitted as solicitor in chancery on his twenty-first birthday by the late Chancellor Walworth and resided and practiced law at Saratoga Springs until his death, which occurred November 17, 1905. He was elected county judge of Saratoga county in 1870 and served as such for six years.

Mr. Lester is a lineal descendant of soldiers of the Revolution and of the second war with Great Britain. He received his early education in private schools at Saratoga Springs and graduated from Union College in 1870 with the A.B. degree. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He was one of the alumni trustees of Union College four years and has for many years been one of the trustees of the Albany Law School. He prosecuted his legal studies in his father's office and was admitted to the bar in 1873, and immediately formed a partnership with his father under the firm name of C. S. & C. C. Lester, which continued until his father's death.

He was elected a delegate to the New York constitutional convention of 1894 from his senatorial district and took an active part in its proceedings. In 1901 he was elected surrogate of Saratoga county, and in 1904 he drew and secured the passage of an amendment greatly simplifying the practice in proceedings for the sale of real estate of deceased persons for the payment of their debts, which has been warmly commended as a beneficent measure. In November, 1905, he was appointed miscellaneous reporter of the State of New York by Governor Higgins and upon assuming that office, which he still holds, resigned the office of surrogate. In connection with the work of editing the miscellaneous reports he continues the practice of his profession at Saratoga Springs.

In 1874 Mr. Lester married Catharine Perrin, daughter of the late Lavalette Perrin of Torrington, Connecticut, who died in 1886. In 1889 he married Mary Lane Tuck, daughter of the late George O. Tuck, formerly of Petersburg, Virginia. Of this union two sons have been born, Charles Tuck Lester and Bernadotte Perrin Lester.

His earlier literary education was acquired in Selleck's School in Norwalk, Connecticut (1873-1876) and Kimball Union Academy in Meriden, New Hampshire (1876-1879). He then entered Dartmouth College and was graduated from there A.B. 1883; A.M. in course, 1886. He read law in his father's office and later attended upon the courses of Albany Law School, from which he graduated in 1886 with the degree of LL.B. Since the year last mentioned he has engaged in general practice in New York city. In 1895 he represented his assembly district in the state legislature, the successful candidate of the Republican party, and was a member of the Judiciary committee, one of the most important committees of that body.

For many years Mr. Niles has been interested in taxpayers' associations in the Bronx, having been for five years president of the Bedford Park Taxpayers' Association and two years president of the Taxpayers' Alliance. Since its incorporation he has been interested in the affairs and progress of the New York Zoological Society, having passed the bill by which it was incorporated and having been a member of its board of directors and its executive committee since incorporation. He holds membership in the New York Bar Association, and the Calumet, Republican, Strollers and Ardsley clubs.

J. WILLIS WESTLAKE, A.B., A.M.

J. Willis Westlake, Lake Helen, Florida, an educator since 1857, who is at present (1906) engaged in orange culture, is a native of England, born in Devonshire in 1830, son of Robert and Mary (Willis) Westlake. In 1832 he came with his parents to the United States, locating near Honesdale, Pennsylvania. Obtaining his early education mainly in the public schools, he prepared for college in the Wyoming Seminary at Kingston, Pennsylvania, and in 1855 entered the junior class of Union College, graduating from that institution in 1857, after completing the scientific course, with the degree of A.B., A. M., 1858, and reciting an original poem at the commencement exercises.

From the time of his graduation from Union until 1886 Mr. Westlake was almost continuously engaged in educational work. His pedagogical duties began in the Lancaster (Pennsylvania) Normal School as professor of ancient and modern languages, where he remained during the years 1857-1858. He was one of the founders of the Indiana (Pennsylvania) Seminary and Normal School, and from 1858 to 1860 was principal of the Indiana (Pennsylvania) public schools, resigning this position to engage in journalistic work as editor of the Indiana "Messenger." In 1862 he served for a time as sergeant-major of the Twenty-third Pennsylvania Volunteer Militia, in what was known as the "Emergency Corps." The corps having been mustered out, he was appointed, in 1863, to a position in the quartermaster general's office, Washington, D. C., where he remained until after the end of the war.

In 1866 Professor Westlake was appointed to the chair of English language and literature in the Baltimore City College, Baltimore, Maryland, and served in that capacity until 1869, when he accepted the chair of English literature in the Pennsylvania State Normal School at Millersville, where he taught continuously until 1886, with the exception of part of the year 1883, which he spent in foreign travel. In 1886, owing to impaired health, he was obliged to relinquish his position and remove to Florida, where he has since been engaged, chiefly in orange culture. He has also given some attention, however, to public and educational matters, having served for several years as chairman of the Board of Public Instruction of Volusia county, and filled several other minor offices.

Mr. Westlake is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity of Union College, the National Geographic Society, several Masonic orders, and other social organizations. In politics he is a Democrat, but never has been an active participant in political affairs.

The literary efforts of Professor Westlake have been mainly along educational lines. He is the author of an advanced speller entitled "3,000 Practice Words," published by Hinds, Noble & Eldredge, New York and Philadelphia; of "How to Write Letters" and "Common School Literature," published by Christopher Sower Co., Philadelphia. These works have had a large sale, and "How to Write Letters" has been reprinted with adaptations, in London. He also has written numerous poems, essays and addresses, which have not been published in book form.

In 1859 Professor Westlake married Ada A. Brown of Mermaid, Delaware, who died in 1869. In 1872 he married (second) Eliza G. Smith, a teacher of reading and elocution in the Pennsylvania State Normal School at Millersville. Of these marriage unions he has had six children born to him—three sons and three daughters, of whom two only are living, Evelyn, now Mrs. S. G. Wilmer, and Gertrude Westlake.

GEORGE ALPHEUS SMITH, M.D.

George Alpheus Smith, physician in practice at Troy, New York, was born in Lansingburg, New York, July 9, 1877, son of Alpheus Baker Smith and Esther Brown, his wife. Dr. Smith attended public schools in his native place and the Lansingburg Academy, then took up the study of medicine at the Albany Medical College, whence he was graduated with the M. D. degree in 1901. He immediately opened for practice in Troy, where he has since continued. He is a Mason and a member of Nu Sigma Nu fraternity. Politically he is a Republican.

WILLIAM HENRY SHANKLAND, A.B.

William Henry Shankland, Albany, New York, clerk of the Court of Appeals of the State of New York, was born in Cortland, New York, February 27, 1842, son of William Henry Shankland and Lucia Emeline Clarke, his wife, and a grandson of William Shankland, who was the immigrant ancestor of this branch of the Shankland family in America. He was of Scottish blood and ancestry, but came to this country from the Isle of Wight and settled in Delphi, Onondaga county, New York, where he was a wheelwright by trade. On the maternal side Mr. Shankland is of English blood, his ancestor having been among the early settlers in Connecticut, where he was numbered with the Puritans.

Mr. Shankland acquired his elementary education in the Cortland district and public schools, and his secondary education in the once famous Walnut Hill School in Geneva, New York, where he fitted for college. He then entered Union College, academic course, and came to his degree there in 1862. After graduating he took up the study of law and in 1868 was admitted to the Cortland county bar. He then practiced law fifteen years, but gave up professional work upon his appointment to the deputy clerkship of the Court of Appeals; his appointment as clerk of the court dates from November 23, 1897.

Mr. Shankland is a member of the Kappa Alpha Greek letter society and of the Fort Orange Club of Albany; and in politics he is a Republican. On July 26, 1868, he married Mary Grayson Webb of Cortland.

HENRY DOTY MERCHANT, A.B.

Henry Doty Merchant, New York city, lawyer, is a native of Schodack, Rensselaer county, New York, born July 16, 1870, son of Abel Merchant and Clara Louise Doty, his wife. Mr. Merchant graduated from the Nassau Academy, Nassau, New York, and from Union College, with the degree A.B., in 1893, and was awarded the Warner prize; two years later he took up the study of the law in the Albany Law School, whence he was graduated in 1896. He was admitted to the bar at Albany in that same year, and in April, 1897, opened for practice in New York. He is a member of the American Bar Association, the New York State Bar Association and of the Phi Beta Kappa college society. In politics he is an independent Republican.

George Ledyard Johnson, physician and surgeon, Lansingburg, New York, is a native of Albany county, New York, born at Wolf Hill, November 19, 1860, son of Philander Noble Johnson and Emma White, his wife.

Dr. Johnson's literary education was acquired in the public schools, Professor Allen's Academy at Clarks-ville, New York, Claverack College and the Hudson River Institute at Claverack, New York. He studied medicine at the Albany Medical College, whence he was graduated in 1883, and then opened practice at Brainard Station, in Rensselaer county, New York, where he remained for eleven years. He then retired from active practice and resumed study, taking a post-graduate course in the Post-Graduate College, New York city, thence going abroad and studying during two years at the University of Berlin, where he took special courses in the following subjects; gynecology, with Professor Martin; genito-urinary diseases, Professor Wadislo; obstetrics, under Professor Olshausen; surgery under Professor Von Bergman; gynecology at the Chaile Hospital. He then became a student at the University of Vienna and studied physical diagnosis and surgery. He also studied bacteriology under Günther, returning to the United States after touring the European countries. In 1898 he again opened practice, this time in Lansingburg, surgery and general medical practice, and has since continued there.

Dr. Johnson is a thirty-second degree Mason and a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Politically he is a supporter of the Republican party. In April, 1883, he was united in marriage with Frances Jane Goldthwaite, daughter of Richard B. Goldthwaite of Albany. One child has been born to them, George Clarence Johnson.

HENRY RAVENEL DWIGHT, B.S.

Henry Ravenel Dwight, of Pinopolis, Berkeley county, South Carolina, cotton planter, was born at Pleasant Green, Missouri, July 21, 1873, son of Dr. Richard Y. Dwight and Rowena Elizabeth Ravenel, his wife. On the paternal side he comes of the old Dwight family of New England. Through his mother he is a descendant of the Huguenot family of Ravenel that settled in South Carolina after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes, and also of the Huguenot families of Porcher, Marion, Du Bose, Mazyck, St. Julien, Le Noble, Le Serurier and from Sir Nathaniel Johnson and Thomas Broughton, old-time governors of South Carolina.

Mr. Dwight graduated from Porter Academy, Charleston, South Carolina, in 1891, and from Union College, scientific course, June 26, 1895, with the degree of B.S. From 1899 to 1902 he attended the textile department of Clemson College of South Carolina. He began cotton planting in 1897, started a commission business in 1899, and during a part of that and the following year he was engaged in teaching; was connected with the Tucapan Cotton Mills in 1902 and 1903 and in the latter year again became a planter. He is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, St. John's Hunting Club, Kappa Alpha fraternity, and in politics is a Democrat. On December 22, 1903, he married Elizabeth Macbeth Cain, and has one child, Mary Macbeth Dwight.

GEORGE SHERMAN HASWELL, M.D.

George Sherman Haswell, physician, in practice at Watervliet, Albany county, New York, was born in Watervliet, June 2, 1868, son of Isaac Mark Haswell and Hannah Victoria Sherman, his wife, and is of English extraction on the paternal side and of Holland Dutch on the maternal side. He attended the public and high schools of Troy, and acquired his professional education in the Albany Medical College, from which he was graduated with the degree of M.D. in 1892, and he supplemented that training with a one year's course in the New York Post-Graduate Hospital, New York City.

Dr. Haswell has been a general practitioner in Watervliet since 1893, and in 1893-94 served as health officer of that town. He also served two terms, six years, as coroner of Albany county. He is a member of the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society, the Shenandoah Yacht Club, a Mason, past master of Evening Star Lodge, No. 72, F. & A. M.; a Noble of the Mystic Shrine, member of the Hudson Chapter, No. 262; Bloss Council, No. 13; Apollo Commandery, No. 15; Oriental Temple, Delta Lodge of Perfection and of the Scottish Rites. He also is past commander of the Knights of Malta, and member of the Royal Arcanum and Knights of the Maccabees.

Dr. Haswell is medical examiner for the New York Mutual, the Metropolitan, the Ordinary Department of the John Hancock, the Mutual Reserve and the Connecticut General Life Insurance companies. He married, in 1894, Alice Wiswall, daughter of Edward H. Wiswall, of Watervliet, New York. They have two daughters—Mildred and Laura Haswell.

LOUIS M. KING, A.B.

Louis M. King, Schenectady, New York, lawyer, was born November 21, 1865, at Canajoharie, New York, son of Emanuel King and Therese Cohn, his wife. Both parents were born in Austria and emigrated to America about 1861, locating in the valley of the Mohawk river.

The public schools and Union Classical Institute of Schenectady furnished the earlier education of Mr. King, and his literary education was acquired at Union College, where he came to the degree of A.B. in 1888.

Upon graduation he took up the study of the law in the offices of Yates & Whitmyer, and after two years, in the month of September, 1890, received admission to the bar at the general term in Saratoga. He was admitted to practice in the United States circuit courts in the year 1893. He has established a valuable surrogate's practice and is actively engaged in the administration of numerous private estates in various parts of the state, and is a director in numerous corporations. He has established a valuable clientele in New York city, which takes him to that city about three days in the week.

Politically Mr. King is an ardent Democrat; he has been a member of the Democratic city committee, for two years city clerk of Schenectady, judge of the police court during the summers of 1898-1901, and has taken prominent part in local conventions. He also has done considerable journalistic work, and something in reform work in the political field of his city, and was active in the apprehension of the perpetrator of the bogus consul swindling operations unearthed at one of the foreign ports.

He is a Mason, a past master of New Hope Lodge, No. 730; past chancellor commander of Schenectady City Lodge, K. of P.; past commander of the Knights of St. John of Malta, a member of the Cantoque Tribe of Red Men, an Elk, and a member of the Schenectady Club, the Adelphi Literary Society of Union College, the New York State and the Schenectady County Bar associations, and of other religious and charitable organizations.

In September, 1891, Mr. King was united in marriage with Miss Rebecca Davidson, of Schenectady. They have two children, Marvin L. and MacDonald King.

JOHN CRAMER SHILAND, M.D.

John Cramer Shiland, physician, in practice at Water-vliet, New York, since 1878, was born in Waterford, New York, December 16, 1865, son of Alexander Shiland, a prominent physician of West Troy, until his death in 1886, and Catherine Cramer, his wife. His father, who was a graduate of Union College (1849) and of Albany Medical College (1853), was well known throughout the county for his professional standing and was health officer many years. Dr. John C. Shiland is of Scotch blood on the paternal and of Holland Dutch on the maternal side.

He was educated in the public and high schools of Troy, and after leaving the same was engaged for several years in various commercial pursuits. He then began the study of medicine under the preceptorship of his father, and in 1875 entered Albany Medical College, from which he was graduated with the M.D. degree in 1878. During his attendance at the medical college he continued his studies with his father.

In the fall of 1878 Dr. Shiland began practice in Water-vliet, where he still continues, and, although he made a special study of diseases of the eye and ear, his practice is not limited in that respect. He served as health officer of Watervliet one year (1880), and enjoys a successful practice. He is a member of the Rensselaer County Medical Society, the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society, the Psi Upsilon college fraternity, and of the Masonic order. In politics he is a Republican.

On September 15, 1883, Dr. Shiland married Helen Mosher, daughter of George B. Mosher, of Watervliet, and they have one child, Helen Agnes Shiland.

JAMES HAMPDEN SMALL, JR., B.E.

James Hampden Small, Jr., civil engineer, New York city, is a native of Charleston, South Carolina, born

November 14, 1880, son of James Hampden Small and Charlotte Whaley, his wife. His early education was acquired in public and private schools in Charleston and his secondary education at Porter Military Academy in the same city, where he prepared for college. He then entered Union College, where he took the course in engineering, and graduated in 1902 with the degree of B.E.

Since he came to his degree Mr. Small has been actively engaged in professional work, first as civil engineer in the service of the New York Rapid Transit Company, remaining in that employ about fourteen months, and then became connected in the same capacity with the Ryan-Parker Construction Company on Riverside Drive Extension, Section No. 2, where he is still engaged.

Mr. Small is a member of the Kappa Alpha Society, the American Society of Civil Engineers, and in politics is a Democrat. He married, January 18, 1905, Mary Linn, of Schenectady.

THOMAS HENRY MANN, M. D.

Thomas Henry Mann, Norwich, Connecticut, engaged in general medical practice, is a native of Massachusetts, born at Wrentham, April 8, 1843, son of Levi Mann and Lydia Lurana Ware, his wife. He is a descendant in the seventh generation from the Reverend Samuel Mann, the first settled minister of the town of Wrentham, a graduate of Harvard, and son of William Mann, who was one of the first trustees of Harvard.

Thomas Mann graduated from the high school at Walpole and passed the required examinations for entrance to Harvard, but instead of four years at college he spent the time with the Army of the Potomac, serving throughout the war, except for ten months when he was a prisoner at Andersonville. In a few years after the close of the war he entered upon the study of medicine at the Albany Medical College and in 1870 was graduated from that institution. He then took a post-graduate course of one year at the Bellevue Medical School in New York city.

The first two years of his practice were spent in Willimantic, Connecticut, after which he located on Block Island, Rhode Island, where for four years he was the only resident physician. He next settled in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, and there practiced his profession for a period of twenty years, or until 1896, when he removed to Fitchburg, Massachusetts, and for four years filled the office of postmaster. For two years Dr. Mann was assistant surgeon on the staff of Governor Littlefield, of Rhode Island.

Dr. Mann is a member of the American Institute of Homœopathy, the Rhode Island Homœopathic Medical Society, the Connecticut Homœopathic Medical Association, and the Grand Army of the Republic, belonging to Sedwich Post of Norwich. He also is a Mason. Politically he is affiliated with no particular party, holding independent views. He married Julia Backus and has four children—Mary Isadore Mann, Josephine Caroline Mann, Henry Levi Mann and Philip James Mann.

ORLANDO JACOB HALLENBECK, M.D.

Orlando Jacob Hallenbeck, general medical practitioner of Canandaigua, New York, was born in Esperance, Schoharie county, New York, February 23, 1853, son of Charles Hallenbeck and Mary Jane Hallenbeck, his wife, and is of Holland Dutch descent.

Dr. Hallenbeck attended the public schools of his native place and the State Normal School at Geneseo, from which he was graduated in 1872, after which he taught school two years. He commenced the study of medicine under the preceptorship of Dr. Samuel B. Ward and later entered Albany Medical College, graduating therefrom, in 1879, with the degree of M.D. He served as interne at Albany Hospital six months, and then located for general practice in Canandaigua, where he has since continued to reside.

Dr. Hallenbeck is a member of the board of directors and one of the medical staff of Frederick Ferris Thompson Memorial Hospital and a director and member of the staff of Canandaigua Physicians and Surgeons' Hospital. He is a member of the board of education, health officer of Canandaigua, trustee and elder of the Presbyterian Church and trustee of Woodlawn Cemetery; a member of the American Medical Association, the New York State Medical Society, the Central and Western New York Medical Society, the Ontario County Medical Society, and of the Society of Physicians of the Village of Canandaigua.

In his political affiliation Dr. Hallenbeck is a Republican. He is medical examiner for the Equitable, Massachusetts Mutual, Phoenix, Hartford and North Western Mutual Life Insurance companies.

On June 9, 1880, Dr. Hallenbeck married Lida Pauline Ewer, of Mendon Center, Monroe county, New York. They have four children, Lois M., Clive E., Claude O. and Charles Edwin Hallenbeck.

MELVILLE DAY DICKINSON, M.D.

Melville Day Dickinson, a physician and surgeon of Troy, New York, was born in Seward, Schoharie county, New York, March 24, 1868, son of Dr. Charles Dickinson, a graduate of Albany Medical College, class of 1860, now practicing in Seward, and Celia France, his wife. He is of English descent on the paternal side, the American ancestor of this branch of the Dickinson family having come from England and settled in New England in 1660. His maternal ancestor came from Germany about the year 1700 and settled in the Mohawk Valley.

Melville Dickinson was educated in the public and high schools of Cobleskill, New York, from which he graduated, and after a two years' preparatory course at Cornell University entered Albany Medical College, graduating therefrom in 1890. After leaving the medical college he continued his studies with Dr. Vander Veer, of Albany, and during that time also served as house physician for St. Peter's Hospital. In the fall of 1890 he came to Troy, where he has since practiced.

In 1902 Dr. Dickinson went abroad and did post-graduate work in the East London Medical College and Hospital, making a special study of orthopedic surgery. He was city physician of Troy four years, and now is deputy health officer. He also is the orthopedic surgeon at Troy Hospital, physician and surgeon to St. Vincent's Female Orphan Asylum, surgeon to St. Joseph's Infants' Home, and physician to St. Mary's School and Seaton House.

Dr. Dickinson is a member of the New York State Medical Association, New York State Medical Society, member and ex-president of the Rensselaer County Medical Society, and a member of the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society, an Elk and a Mason of high degree, member of Apollo Lodge, Apollo Chapter, Bloss Council, Apollo Commandery, Oriental Temple, and a noble of the Mystic Shrine. He is also a first lieutenant of the Twelfth Separate Company, New York National Guard, and at one time was assistant surgeon to that company. Politically he is a Democrat.

On January 30, 1889, Dr. Dickinson married Emma G. Cole, of Brunswick, New York, by whom he had two children: Celia Dickinson and Melville D. Dickinson, Jr.

FRED NEWMAN GUYER, M.D.

Fred Newman Guyer, physician, engaged in general practice in Albany, New York, was born April 29, 1871, in Albany, a son of Hugh Peoples Guyer and Sarah Clarkson, his wife. On the maternal side he is of English stock, his mother having been born in Nottingham, England. Her parents came to this country when she was thirteen years old and settled in Albany. On his paternal side his father, who was born in Stillwater, Saratoga county, came to Albany over fifty years ago and for a long time owned a large sash, door and blind factory in that city. Some of his ancestors came over with the "Pilgrim Fathers." These were the Dickinsons, Palmers, Seymours and Patricks, and during the Revolutionary war six of his ancestors took part in gaining independence for America. Colonel Dickinson gave up his home of twenty rooms for a hospital, while William Patrick turned his home into a fort. William Seymour took part in the battle of Fort Griswold, Connecticut, in which he lost a leg, and by special act of congress received a pension. These people were prominent in pioneer life, and in state and national politics.

Dr. Guyer attended the public schools of Albany, graduating from the high school in 1892. He then decided upon a medical career and entered Albany Medical College, from which institution he was graduated in 1897,

M.D., an honor man of his class. For one year after graduation he served as interne in St. Peter's Hospital, Albany, then opened for general practice in that city, where he has since continued. He also received an honor certificate from the state board of medical examiners.

From 1899 to 1900 he served as third district physician of the city; has been inspector of contagious diseases for the department of health since 1900, is medical examiner for several life insurance companies, and examining physician for the Royal Arcanum, Modern Woodmen of America, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Life Association of America.

In his social relations Dr. Guyer is a Mason, having taken the degrees of the "Blue Lodge" through chapter, council, commandery and shrine; he belongs to the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Royal Arcanum, Woodmen of America and the Sons of the American Revolution. Politically he is a Republican, and in his religious life is a member of the Third Presbyterian Church of Albany.

In October, 1898, Dr. Guyer married Elizabeth Denison, daughter of John Denison, of Picton, Canada. One child has been born to them—Donald Clarkson Guyer.

ELIAS JOHN FOOTE, A.B., A.M.

Elias John Foote, of Trenton, New Jersey, clergyman, the period of whose active life in the ministry has extended over more than forty years and is not yet fully ended, but is continued in supply work and religious teaching, was born in Olean, Cattaraugus county, New York, June 22, 1824. His parents were John Foote and Sophia Porter Rogers, and he is of English and American descent.

His earlier education was gained in public schools, the academy at Mendon and Lima Seminary, and his higher education at Madison (now Colgate) University, where he was a student three years, and Union College, from which he was graduated in 1849 with the degree of A.B. His honorary degree of A.M. was received from Rochester University. After leaving college he took up the study of law at Mt. Morris, New York, continued it one year and then spent seven years in the mining regions of California; but under a conviction that had followed him for many years he determined to enter the ministry and preach the gospel. To this end he studied two years in Rochester Theological Seminary and was graduated from there in 1860.

Mr. Foote's first pastorate was that of the Third Baptist Church of St. Louis, Missouri, beginning in 1861, but on account of the disturbed conditions in that state by reason of the civil war, he served that church only two years. He then became pastor of the Central Baptist Church of Syracuse, New York, where he remained four years, then was pastor of Penfield Baptist Church, near Rochester, New York, five years, and after leaving there was called to the Baptist Church of Red Bank and Middletown, New Jersey, where he preached twelve years. He then removed to Trenton, New Jersey, where he served a final pastorate of seven years. Since his withdrawal from the active ministry he has lived at Trenton, preaching occasionally notwithstanding his advanced age and also devoting considerable time to religious teaching.

When during the period of the Civil war Mr. Foote was under necessity to discontinue his relation with the church in St. Louis, he preached to the soldiers in prison in that city under appointment of the Christian Commission of the army. He also worked among the Union troops before Petersburg, Virginia, was present at the siege and battle and the awful mine explosion. On that occasion he worked two whole days among the wounded and dying in the field hospital where nearly a thousand brave men were laid.

Mr. Foote has been a member of the Masonic order since 1857 and for many years has served as a chaplain of Ashler Lodge of Trenton. He also is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon college society. In 1861 he married Eliza A. Spink, who died May 5, 1885, and was buried beside her parents and child who had preceded her in the graveyard at Trumansburg, New York. Of this marriage four children were born: George T. S. Foote, a banker of Albion, New York; Anna C. Foote, deceased; Edward M. Foote, a physician, of New York city, and Ethelwynne R. Foote, a student at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Massachusetts.

CHARLES WEBSTER HAMM, M.D.

Charles Webster Hamm, practicing physician, of Troy, New York, coroner of Rensselaer county and health officer of the town of North Greenbush, is a native of the town last mentioned, born April 19, 1869, son of Henry V. Hamm and Mary A. Miller, his wife, grandson of John Hamm and Hannah Johnson, his wife, and great-grandson of Conrad Hamm, who came to Rensselaer county from Dutchess county and was one of the pioneers of the town of Greenbush. Henry Hamm, father of the doctor, began business life as a mechanic and after a few years turned his attention to farming, market gardening and poultry raising. His wife, Mary A. Miller, was a daughter of Timothy Miller, of Oxford, England.

Dr. Hamm is the youngest of ten children of Henry and Mary Hamm. His early education was acquired in the public schools and in the Troy and Lansingburg academies. He was educated in medicine in Albany Medical College, the medical department of Union University, from whence he graduated in 1893 with the degree of M.D. After graduation he practiced for a time in Troy, thence removed to Poestenkill, New York, remained there eight years and then took up his permanent residence in Troy. He is a member of the Rensselaer County Medical Society and of the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society. On June 6, 1904, Dr. Hamm married Ella L. DeFreest, by whom he has one son, Herbert DeFreest Hamm.

DANIEL JAMES HOYT, A. B., M.D.

Daniel James Hoyt, Poughkeepsie, New York, is a native of Galway, New York, born January 29, 1872, son of Abel Hoyt and Olive Grinnell, his wife. His grandfather, Daniel Judd Hoyt, was a farmer and a native of the state of Connecticut. He is a direct descendant of the Hoyt, Haight and Hight families; the first of these families to emigrate from England to America was one Simon Hoyt, who came to Salem about 1628-29 and was on the first list of "such as took the Oath of Freemen."

Dr. Hoyt was educated in the public schools of his native town; in the Rochester High School; a private school in Rochester, under the preceptorship of Professor Edick; in Princeton, where he studied one year; in Lafayette College, where he was also a student one year, and in Union College, where he came to the degree of A.B. in 1899. Just previous to his matriculation at Union College he taught school one year in New York state. His first three years' study in medicine was acquired at Albany Medical College, but he completed his professional course of one year in the University of Vermont, where he came to his M. D. degree in 1902. He began private practice in Poughkeepsie the same year, where he has since continued. In 1905 he was appointed examiner in lunacy by Judge Phillips.

Dr. Hoyt is a member of the Dutchess County Medical Society, the Medical Society of the State of New York, the American Medical Association, the Phi Delta Theta fraternity of Union College, the Phi Chi fraternity of the medical department of the University of Vermont and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. In politics he is a Republican. On June 17, 1903, he married Ida Smith Mitchell, of Albany, New York.

John Burtman Neary, physician, engaged in general practice at Troy, New York, was born September 6, 1879, at Watervliet, New York, a son of John Neary and Sarah C. Mullen, his wife. After attendance at the public schools of Watervliet and the Watervliet Academy, from which institution he was graduated with the class of 1897, our subject entered the Albany Medical College, September, 1897, and graduated M.D. in 1901. From 1901 to 1902 he served as interne at the Troy City Hospital. He then became associated in practice with Dr. A. R. Thompson, of Troy, and continued with him for one year, until the time of his death, since when Dr. Neary has practiced alone. He is also medical examiner for the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia and for the United States Life Insurance Company.

He is an active member of the Rensselaer County Medical Society, the Medical Society of Troy and Vicinity, the Medico-Chirurgical Society, and the fraternal society of the Elks.

JOHN FRANKLIN GENUNG, A.B., PH.D., DD.

John Franklin Genung, Amherst, Massachusetts, professor of rhetoric in Amherst College, clergyman, author, is a native of Wilseyville, Tioga county, New York, born January 27, 1850, son of Abram C. Genung and Martha Dye, his wife. On the paternal side he is of French Huguenot descent, the original known ancestor, Jean Guenon, having come from Leyden (originally from near La Rochelle, France) in 1657 to New Amsterdam, New York, and having in 1662 married Margaret Sneden, of Harlem, New York (originally from Amsterdam). It is uncertain whether the Dyes were of English or Dutch ancestry; but by intermarriage there was a strain of English and of Huguenot ancestry also on this side.

Professor Genung acquired his elementary and secondary education in the district school at Wilseyville, afterward in the district school of Owego, New York

(1864-1866), and the Owego Academy (1866-1868), and his higher education at Union College, which he entered direct from Owego Academy at the beginning of the junior year, and was graduated in 1870, with the degree of A.B. He then taught two years (1870-1872) in Mechanicsville Academy, after which for three years he was a student in Rochester Theological Seminary, where he was graduated in 1875; then served three years (1875-1878) as pastor of the Baptist Church, Baldwinsville, New York, and for the next three years (1878-1881) was a student in the University of Leipsic, where he received the degree of Ph.D. in 1881. His degree of D.D. was conferred by Yale University in 1905.

Returning to America Professor Genung devoted part of the years 1881 and 1882 to supplying the Baptist Church in Westport, New York, and in 1882 began his faculty work at Amherst College, first as instructor and later as professor of rhetoric.

Although for nearly twenty-five years the incumbent of a pedagogical chair, Professor Genung has not entirely relinquished ministerial labors; and in connection with his professional career his leisure has been devoted somewhat to literary employments, his published works treating generally of subjects in harmony with his life as teacher and clergyman. His "Tennyson's 'In Memoriam,' A Study," was published in 1883; "Practical Elements of Rhetoric," 1886; "The Study of Rhetoric in the College Course," 1887; "Handbook of Rhetorical Analysis," 1888; "The Epic of the Inner Life, being the Book of Job," 1891; "Outlines of Rhetoric," 1893; "What a Carpenter Did with His Bible," 1898; "The Passing of Self," 1899; "The Working Principles of Rhetoric," 1901; "Stevenson's Attitude to Life," 1901; "Ecclesiastes and Omar Khayyám," 1901; "Words of Kobleth, being the Book of Ecclesiastes," 1904.

Professor Genung is a member of the Society of Bible Literature and Exegesis, the Authors' Club of New York, and of the Phi Beta Kappa college society. He married May 15, 1880, Florence Mabel Sprague, of Owego, New York, and has children: Martha Genung, born March 18, 1886, now Mrs. Foster W. Stearns; Elinor Sprague Genung, born July 23, 1892; and John Franklin Genung, Jr., born December 12, 1894.

GEORGE FREDERICK GENUNG, A.B., DD.

George Frederick Genung, Brooklyn, Connecticut, pastor of the Baptist Church of that city, was born in Wilseyville, town of Candor, Tioga county, New York, son of Abram C. Genung and Martha Dye, his wife, and is of Huguenot ancestry, the first of the family in America having been Jean Guenon, who settled on Long Island.

Dr. Genung's literary education was begun in district schools at Candor, New York, and continued through the public grammar school in Owego, New York, and Owego Academy, where he attended during the years 1866-68, and was completed in Union College, where he graduated in 1870, with the degree of A.B., and the merit degree Phi Beta Keppa. In 1895 he received the degree of D.D. from this institution. His training in theology was acquired in the Theological Seminary at Rochester, New York (Baptist), whence he was graduated in 1875.

Since graduation he has held pastorates and pedagogical positions in various places, including: Pastor in Cammillus, New York, 1875-1878; Baldwinville, New York, 1878-1880; Amherst, Massachusetts, 1881-1884; New London, Connecticut, 1885-1887; teacher in Benedict Institute, Columbia, South Carolina, 1887-1889; pastor in Suffield, Connecticut, 1890-1898; professor in Richmond Theological Seminary, 1898-1901; chaplain, Connecticut State Prison, Wethersfield, 1902-1903; pastor, Brooklyn, Connecticut, 1905.

In addition to various contributions to the "Andover Review," the "New World" and the "Sunday School Times," Dr. Genung is the author of "The Fourfold Story," published in Boston in 1891; "The Magna Charta of the Kingdom of God," Philadelphia, 1900; "Commentary on Leviticus and Numbers," Philadelphia, 1905. In 1875 he was united in marriage with Harriet Elizabeth Bronson. Their only surviving child is Sarah Elizabeth Genung, now Mrs. Charles F. Minott, born in 1877.

RAYMOND GOULDEN EDMANS, M.D.

Raymond Goulden Edmans, physician and surgeon of Troy, New York, was born in that city July 16, 1871, son of Albert Gurney Edmans and Elizabeth Goulden, his wife. His father was born in Deal, England, and came to America about the year 1858; he died in March, 1900. On the maternal side he also is of English extraction; his mother, who is still living, is a native of Troy.

Dr. Edmans was educated in the public schools of his native city and under a private tutor. His medical education was acquired in Albany Medical College, where he came to his degree in 1898. From June, 1898, to June, 1899, he served as house physician at the Marshall Infirmary in Troy, and he now is assistant surgeon at Troy Hospital. He is a member of the Rensselaer County Medical Society, the Troy and Vicinity Medical Society and the Medico-Chirurgical Society, and in politics a Republican.

LELAND WESLEY IRISH, B.E.

Leland Wesley Irish, attache of the state engineer's office, Albany, New York, is a native of Lake George, New York, born January 3, 1882, son of Edward D. and Mary Whitcomb Irish, both of whose ancestors came from Wales several years before the Revolutionary war.

His education was begun in the Lake George public schools and continued through the Lake George Union

School, whence he was graduated in 1900, and Union College, where he came to the degree of B.E. in 1904. (As one professor said, he easily stood first in his class, being elected to the society of Sigma Xi and receiving the Holleran engineering prize).

During his junior year at college Mr. Irish became connected with the state engineer's office and upon graduation he was offered and accepted a position in that office, which he still holds. He is a member of Troop B, N. G. N. Y., and at college was a member of the Delta Phi fraternity. Politically he is a Republican.

JOHN HENDRY REID, M.D.

John Hendry Reid, physician, a graduate of the Albany Medical College, was born at Troy, New York, October 6, 1880, a son of John Alexander and Julia E. (Kittle) Reid. On the maternal side his ancestry has been American for several generations, and on the paternal side he is of Scotch descent.

After graduating from the high school of Troy he entered Albany Medical College, from which institution he received the degree of M.D. in 1904. Since graduation he has been engaged as interne in the Troy City Hospital. In his social relations Dr. Reid is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and of a Masonic order.

His medical education was begun at Burlington Medical College, the medical department of the University of Vermont at Burlington in that state, and was continued at Albany Medical College, from which he graduated with the degree of M.D., in 1874. In 1884 and 1885, after ten years of practice, Dr. Smith took special post-graduate studies in the great medical universities of London, Berlin and Vienna.

His professional career was begun at South Egremont, where he practiced during the years 1874 and 1875, and then removed to Sheffield, Massachusetts, where he lived and practiced until 1884. In 1886 he settled permanently at Hudson in Columbia county, New York, where his greatest success in life has been attained, and where he is recognized as one of the leading physicians in that county. His practice is general, and in-so-far as specialized inclines to cases in ophthalmology, otology, rhinology and laryngology. He has been a member of the staff of the Hudson City Hospital since it was founded.

Dr. Smith is a member of the Massachusetts State Medical Society, a Free and Accepted and Royal Arch Mason, and in politics is a Republican. He married, May 18, 1875, Jane Luella Dowd.

HENRY PARSONS, A.B., A.M.

Henry Parsons, attorney and counselor at law, New York city, was born at Sharon Springs, Schoharie county, New York, November 21, 1835, son of James Parsons and Hannah Moyer, his wife, and comes of old New England colonial stock, his paternal ancestor having settled in Connecticut in the first half of the seventeenth century. His grandfather, Elijah Parsons, was born in Wilbraham, Massachusetts, and was a pioneer of the town of Sharon, Schoharie county, New York, in which town his son James was born. On the maternal side Christopher Moyer and Sylvanus Cook, great-grandfathers of Henry Parsons, were soldiers of the Revolution.

Mr. Parsons acquired his elementary education in the public schools of Sharon Springs, his secondary education in Fort Plain Seminary, New York, and in Williston Seminary at Easthampton, Massachusetts, and his higher education in Union College, classical course, from which he was graduated in 1861, A.B., holding the Nott prize scholarship during his course, and was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa society; he took his A.M. degree in course in 1864. After leaving college he read law one year with S. L. Magoun, of Hudson, New York, and in September, 1862, left his studies and enlisted in Company G, One Hundred and Thirty-fourth New York Volunteer Infantry; was commissioned first lieutenant and served as such until January, 1863, when he was promoted captain. In June following he resigned, returned to New York and in December of the same year was admitted to practice in the New York state courts. Since that time he has been actively identified with the professional life of the city of New York.

He is a member of the Loyal Legion, the college society Delta Kappa Epsilon, and in politics is a Republican. For several years he was an elder of the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian Church and afterward of the Rye Presbyterian Church, Westchester county, New York.

Mr. Parsons married, first, in July, 1867, Agnes Turnbull, of New York city, who was the principal of the primary department of the Thirteenth Street Boys' School, and by whom he had one daughter—Agnes Parsons, now the wife of Rev. W. S. Morgan, Ph.D., of Derby, Connecticut. His wife having died in March, 1869, Mr. Parsons married, second, March 6, 1873, Fanny Griscom, a daughter of Dr. John H. Griscom, of New York city, and a granddaughter on her maternal side of Rembrandt Peale. Mr. Parsons has six children by his second marriage: Henry Griscom, Henrietta Grace, Bertha (now Mrs. Harold H. Bayliss), Howard Crosby, John and Maude Parsons. Mrs. Parsons for several years has been active in educational matters in New York city as a member of a local school board and organized and conducted the first children's school farm in De Witt Clinton Park on the west side of the city.

LAWRENCE K. DUGAN, M.D.

Lawrence K. Dugan, physician, in practice at Schenectady, New York, was born in Schoharie, New York, August 14, 1874, son of James and Jane (Lowry) Dugan. He is of Irish descent, his ancestors having settled from Ireland in Schoharie about 1858.

His literary education was begun in the public schools of his native place and continued through the high school and the Normal School at Oneonta, New York. His medical education was acquired at the Albany Medical College, where he was graduated with the class of 1900. After graduation he served in the Troy City Hospital for one year, then took post-graduate studies at St. Mary's Hospital, Brooklyn, at Bellevue Hospital and at the Lying-in Hospital, New York city.

Dr. Dugan then opened general practice in Schenectady, where he has since continued. He is a member of the Schenectady County Medical Society, the Knights of Columbus, the Young Men's Catholic Club and of the Modern Woodmen of America. Politically he is a Democrat.

LAURENS PERSEUS HICKOK, D.D., LL.D. He was born at Danbury, Conn., Dec. 29, 1798; was graduated at Union College, 1820; was ordained pastor at Kent, Conn., in 1824; installed at Litchfield, Conn., in 1829; was Professor of Theology in Western Reserve University, 1836-44, and in Auburn Theol. Seminary, 1844-52. In 1852 he became Professor of Mental and Moral Science and Vice-President of Union College. He was elected Acting President of Union College in 1861 and President and Trustee in 1866. He resigned in 1868 and removed to Amherst, Mass., where he died May 7, 1888. He received the degree of D. D. from Western Reserve University, 1838, and Hamilton College, 1843; LL.D., from Amherst College, 1866. He was the author of "Rational Psychology;" "Moral Philosophy;" "Empirical Psychology;" "Rational Cosmology;" "Creator and Creation;" "Human Immortality;" and "Rational Logic."

HON. IRA HARRIS, LL. D. He was born at Charleston, N. Y., May 31, 1802. He was graduated at Union College with honors in 1824; began legal practice in 1827 at Albany, N. Y.; was twice elected Member of Assembly, 1844 and 1845, and in 1846 was made one of the Convention appointed to revise the Constitution of New York; in the same year he became State Senator. In 1847 he was elected a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State and in 1851 was re-elected; in 1861 he became United States Senator and in 1867 was a delegate to the State Constitutional Convention. In 1848 he became a Trustee of Union College, was elected President of the Board of Trustees and in 1868 Acting President of the College, resigning this office at Commencement of the following year. He filled, with intervals, a Lectureship in the Albany Law School, from its organization in 1850; and on withdrawing from political life he occupied until his decease the Department of Equity Jurisprudence and Practice. He was also President of the Board of Trustees of Vassar College, President of the Albany Medical College and a Governor of Union University; one of the founders of the Rochester University and its only Chancellor; also President of the American Baptist Missionary Union. He died at Albany, Dec. 2, 1875.

REV. CHARLES AUGUSTUS AIKEN, D.D., Ph.D. He was born at Manchester, Vt., Oct. 20, 1827; was graduated at Dartmouth College, 1846, and studied theology at Andover Theological Seminary, 1849-50; University of Berlin, Halle, and Leipsic, 1850-52; Andover Theological Seminary, 1852-53; was ordained at Yarmouth, Me., Oct. 19, 1854, and remained as pastor until 1859, when he became Professor of Latin Language and Literature at Dartmouth. In 1866 he accepted the same professorship in the College of New Jersey, where he remained three years. In 1869 he was elected President of Union College and Trustee in 1870, resigning in 1871, when he accepted the Archibald Alexander Professorship of Christian Ethics and Apologetics at Princeton Theological Seminary and that of Oriental and Old Testament Literature and Christian Ethics, 1882-1892. He received the degree of Ph. D. from Princeton, 1866, and D. D., 1870. He died at Princeton, N. J., Jan. 14, 1892. He translated Lange's "Commentary on Proverbs."

ELIPHALET NOTT POTTER, D.D., LL.D. He was born at Schenectady, September 20, 1836; was graduated at Union College in 1861 and at Berkeley Divinity School in 1862; was rector of the Church of the Nativity in South Bethlehem, Pa., 1862-69; Secretary and first Professor of Ethics at Lehigh University, 1866-71; associate rector of St. Paul's Church, Troy, N. Y., 1869-71. He was elected President of Union College in 1871 and Trustee in 1872; and became President of Union University in 1873. Resigning the Presidency of Union College in 1884, he was made Bishop-Elect of Nebraska, but accepted a then pending call to the Presidency of Hobart College. This office he resigned in 1897 and accepted soon after the direction for a year of the Cosmopolitan University. He was Professor of Philosophy and Sociology at St. Stephen's College for several terms; and was in charge ad interim of Christ Church, Poughkeepsie, 1900. He died at Mexico City, Mexico, Feb. 6, 1901.

HON. JUDSON STUART LANDON, LL.D. He was born at Salisbury, Conn., December 16, 1832; was graduated at the Yale Law School in 1855 and began practice in Schenectady, N. Y. He was elected District Attorney in 1856, retaining the office until 1863; and held the position of County Judge from 1865 to 1870. He was a member of the Constitutional Convention of 1867; and in 1873 was elected Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, and in 1901 was re-elected for a second term. He was City Attorney of Schenectady, 1872-73. He became a Trustee of Union College in 1878 and President ad interim in 1884, resigning the Presidency in 1888. He was a Lecturer on Constitutional History at the Albany Law School, 1890-1905. In 1884 he was designated as Associate Judge in the Second Division of the Court of Appeals and in 1895 was assigned to the Appellate Division of the Third Department of the Supreme Court. He became an Associate Judge of the Court of Appeals in 1899. He was a member of the Committee of Fifteen to report to the Legislature concerning the statutes and laws of the State in 1902 and in 1904 was made a member of the Board of Statutory Consolidation. He was the author of a "Constitutional History and Government of the United States." He received the degree of A. M. from Union College in 1855; LL. D., Rutgers College, 1885. He died at Schenectady, Sept. 7, 1905.

HARRISON EDWIN WEBSTER, M. D., LL. D. He was born at Angelica, N. Y., Sept. 8, 1841. He entered the Sophomore class of Union College in 1859, but left his class on the breaking out of the Civil War and enlisted as a private. He returned in September, 1866, and graduated in 1868. Studied medicine at the University Medical College of New York City. He was Professor of Natural History, Union College, 1873-83; Professor of Geology and Natural History, Rochester University, 1883-88; President of Union College, 1888-94. He received the degree of M. D. (honorary) from the Albany Medical College, and LL. D. from Rochester University, 1889. He died at Rochester, N. Y., June 16, 1906.

ANDREW VAN VRANKEN RAYMOND, D. D., LL. D. He was born at Vischer's Ferry, Saratoga county, N. Y., August 8, 1854. He was ordained and installed as pastor of the First Reformed Church of Paterson, N. J., 1878 and remained until 1881, when he accepted a call to the Trinity Reformed Church of Plainfield, N. J. In 1887 he became pastor of the Fourth Presbyterian Church of Albany, N. Y. He was elected President of Union College in January, 1894. He received the degree of A. M. from Union College 1878; D. D., 1887; LL. D., from Williams College, 1894, and South Carolina College, 1905.
